PENSIONS FOR THE AGED.

Socialist Congressman Wants All Over Sixty Years Old to Get Four Dollars a Week.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A pension of $4 a week for every man and woman more than sixty years old is provided in a bill introduced today by Representative Victor L. Berger. The Representative included in his bill a clause that none of the courts of the country, not even the Supreme Court of the United States, should pass upon its vality.

"The old working men and women are entitled to a living outside of the poorhouses and without aid of private charity," said Mr. Berger in discussing his bill.

"If political parties and the Supreme Court do not realise that fact, they will be wiped out of existence, together with the old Constitution."

Mr. Berger also introduced a bill providing for a "Commission composed of members of the three parties in Congress" to compile data on the subject of old age pensions.

HOUSE IN A TURMOIL.

And All Because a Couple of Ohio Statesmen Engage in Repartee and Call Each Other Sneaks.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The House was thrown into a turmoil today when Representative C. C. Anderson, of Ohio, denounced as false a publication in which Representative Sherwood of Ohio and others were quoted as charging Mr. Anderson with having "sneaked" in his pension bill because he could not offer it in the regular way.

Anderson sarcastically declared that he might have "sneaked" in his bill, but at least he did not "sneak" into the corridors and fail to vote when the bill was called up.

Unable to produce the newspaper article, Anderson was ruled out of order, as was Representative Sherwood of Ohio who arose to demand his "dollar a day pension bill."

NAVAL ECONOMIES.

EMPLOYEES MAY PROTEST.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 31.—In the interest of economy Secretary Meyer is contemplating the adoption of a policy regarding the procurement of many articles required in the equipment of a ship which will further curtail the work done in the government navy yards. It has been found that many articles such as ship fittings, dead lights, hammocks, flags, paints, small boats, anchor chains, rope and furniture, can be advantageously purchased from private manufacturers. A naval board is now looking into the matter. Another formidable protest from navy yard workers who are thus threatened with loss of their places is expected to follow if an affirmative decision is rendered.

NORTH POLE DATA.

IN NAVAL PROMOTIONS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 31. — The Judge Advocate-General of the navy has decided against civil engineers who were promoted as the result of the retirement of Civil Engineer Peary in their contention that their promotions should date from April 6, 1909, when Peary discovered the north pole, and became, by act of Congress, a rear-admiral. He holds that their commissions in their advanced grades became effective March 3, 1911, when Peary was retired.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—[By A. P. The amendment would have added about $140,000 to the appropriation. Despite the old custom the Democratic caucus early this session decided to abolish the "extra pay" for economic reasons.

HERODOTUS, CAESAR, PLATO RATED AS BEER DRINKERS.

Witnesses Before Federal Board Bent on Answering the Question of What Beverage Really Contains Testify in Washington—Object of Inquiry Is to Place the Brew Within Scope of Pure Food and Drugs Act.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Entering the illustrious names of Herodotus, Caesar, Plato and other ancients as earnest drinkers of beer, barley growers and brewers from throughout the country today began testimony before the Board of Food and Drug Inspection to determine the long disputed question "what is beer?"

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist, who heads that board shared honors with the ancient convivialists by announcing early that his chief complaint was that too little beer was found in the ordinary glass of commerce sold to the thirsty.

"I'm tired of buying foam," said the pure food expert hotly. "There should be a line on glasses indicating where solid beer ends."

Dr. Wiley looked thirstily on the pitcher that adorned the speaker's table. It contained only water.

MAUFF'S STATEMENT.

John R. Mauff, representing the National Consumers' League and the Wisconsin Board of the American Society of Equity, argued that most people were under the impression that all beer was made of barley malt, hops and water, when in reality it is inferior grades in which "chemist preservatives" were substituted. He asserted that the brewers could lose nothing by labeling their product, and that the consumer soon would indicate his preference for the various kinds of beer manufactured.

Mr. Mauff told the board that Egypt holds the record for continuous beer drinking, having quaffed the liquor for 5000 years.

He exploited the merits of beer, but charged that the public did not get enough for its money. He referred to the fact that the consumers when sold a "pint" or a "quart," in reality was given what was known in brewers' invoices as a "small" or a "large" and that since the Spanish-American War the "five quarts to a gallon measure" had never been changed.

EARS OPENED.

Both Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture and Dr. Wiley listened carefully to the answer of brewers to the question:—"What is beer?"

The United States Brewers' Association, represented by Louis B. Schramm of New York, offered a long statement in reply to the set of questions propounded by the department as to what ingredients were contained in beer. It is claimed that the process and ingredients used in making beer were substantially the same now as before the pure food law was passed.

In giving detailed information as to their methods, the brewers declared their willingness to co-operate with the department in investigating the manufacture of malt liquors. The brewers declared, however, that the government eye supervises the manufacture of beer through the United States internal revenue act. Furthermore, they suggested that inasmuch as the principal difference in beer was in the "destinies before and after fermentation, there would be no reason for compulsory adoption of specific labeling."

USED BY MOTHERS.

Mr. Mauff read a statement charging that "since nursing mothers and invalids use beer for tonic properties," labels should designate the ingredients so that users may know whether they are getting grain extracts or "chemical preservatives." That any "chemical preservatives" were used in the making of beer was quickly denied by the brewers.

The object of the board's inquiry is to bring malt liquors within the scope of the pure food and drug act, and to determine just what shall and what shall not be contained in liquids sold under the labels "lager beer," "bock beer," ale, porter, stout and malt extract.

SHONTS GREETS WHOLE FAMILY.

WIFE AND DAUGHTERS RETURN FROM EUROPE.

He Declines to Dignify With Discussion the Reports that a Divorce Suit Was Under Contemplation in Paris—Spouse Will Remain, but Duchess Will Go Back.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That Mrs. Theodore P. Shonts will never return to Europe, but will remain in this country, in constant companionship with her husband, was the substance of her statement, made this evening to an intimate woman friend. Mrs. Shonts, with her two daughters, the Duchess De Chaulnes, and Miss Marguerite, and her grandson, the Duc De Chaulnes, arrived today from Paris on the liner Rotterdam and were met by Mr. Shonts, who went down on the revenue cutter with his brother-in-law, Frank E. Drake.

Before he met his family, Mr. Shonts refused to discuss the reports that have been circulated during the past month that his wife contemplated divorce proceedings, simply saying:

"I refuse to dignify such rumors by discussing them."

As soon as he had boarded the ship at quarantine he hurried to the suite of upper-deck staterooms occupied by his wife and daughters. All the way to the pier Mr. Shonts was engaged in serious conversation with the Duchess, who stood between him and her mother in a comparatively isolated spot on the forward deck. Mrs. Shonts did not once address a word directly to her husband, but seemed to be acquiescing in what their daughter had to say. Mr. Shonts, when he came down the gang plank, his grandson perched on his shoulder, smiled happily and declared to the waiting newspaper men that he was indeed glad to welcome home his "entire family" and emphasized the qualifying word. Then the party boarded a waiting automobile and went to the Plaza.

Later in the day it was announced that Mrs. Shonts will make her permanent home in the Shonts apartment at the Plaza, although she will put in the rest of the summer traveling about and visiting friends. The Duchess, it is said, will return with her child to Paris in the fall.

St. Louis Minister in Boston Tells Why Marriage Did Not Follow Engagement to Wed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. Guy E. Shipler, former assistant rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church of St. Louis, today for the first time broke his long silence in regard to the breaking of his engagement with Miss Marguerite Strong of Chicago.

The statement of Mr. Shipler follows:

"I have been asked to make a statement, a request with which I gladly comply, not as an attempt to defend either myself or Miss Strong, who needs no defense, but because I feel that it is a public duty.

"The facts are these, in so far as they in no way violate the fundamental human right of privacy: The wedding of Miss Strong and myself, which was to take place at Bishopstead, Wilmington, the house of Bishop Kinsman, was postponed owing to the serious illness of Bishop Kinsman, who was ordered to Maine for the summer by his physicians. Shortly after the postponement, Miss Strong and I agreed that, for several reasons, who no one but ourselves could understand and which involve no ill feeling between us, it was best to break the engagement.

"The statement that Bishop Kinsman had refused to allow me to take St. Phillips Church, Laurel, Del., and was due to a 'scandal,' is a willful falsehood. There is no scandal attached to the case."

UNITED STATES WINS.

Contest With Kansas City Company on the Subject of the Assessment of Ore Shipments.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—A controversy between the government and the Kansas City Smelting and Refining Company has just been decided in favor of the United States by the board of general appraisers here. The protests involve the assessment on ore shipments, all of which were assessed with both zinc and lead duties under the tariff act of 1909.

The importers declared that it was improper to levy duty on the goods under two paragraphs of the law. It was alleged that the duty should not have been assessed on the lead, or on the zinc contained in such shipments as the case might be. The court holds that the protest must be overruled.

NEW BOOM FOR GOLDFIELD, NEV.

BIG SYNDICATE ORGANIZES WITH TEN MILLION CAPITAL.

Dawn of New Property Is Belief of Citizens of District, Who Are Feverish With Excitement—New Company Takes Over Old Merger Mines for $250,000.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As the result of the filing of articles of incorporation today for the Goldfield Deep Mines Company, with a capitalization of $10,000,000, by prominent financiers, and the taking over of the four compartment shaft, sunk to a level of 2000 feet on the Moonshine claim for $250,000, the district is again feverish with excitement. Not since the boom days of a few years ago has the enthusiasm been so intense.

The organization of the new company, backed by a syndicate headed by J. Ross Clark, and composed of his railroad associates, is the only topic of conversation here tonight. It is taken as the dawn of a new prosperity for the district.

The company is under the laws of Washington, and it is understood will engage only in mining at deep levels. Stock in the new company is being exchanged, share for share, for stock in the old Merger Mines.

The officers are: J. Ross Clark, president and director; C. O. Whittemore, vice-president and director; Claude M. Smith, secretary and director, and John Erickson and C. E. Redman, directors. With the exception of Erickson and Smith, the officials of the new company are also officers of the Clark railroads.

Pasadena Relative of Cincinnati Woman Short in Her Accounts Goes to Her Rescue.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI, July 31.—The discrepancy in the books of Mrs. Dora C. Gallagher as treasurer of the Home of Incurables of this city was announced today to be $29,317 after directors of the home and representatives of Mrs. Gallagher had reached a settlement.

The basis of the settlement was: Andrew D. Cadwallader of Pasadena, brother of Mrs. Gallagher, pays $7000 in cash; the Home of Incurables is given an equity in certain stocks and bonds in Mrs. Gallagher's possession; all Mrs. Gallagher's rights in her real estate, her home on McMillan street, as well as other lots, are turned over to the home.

Her property is valued at between $16,000 and $17,000. It is mortgaged to the extent of $6000.

Dr. J. C. Cadwallader, another brother of Mrs. Gallagher, was appointed her guardian by the Probate Court today. Mrs. Gallagher is now in Long View Asylum.

BUT A TRAVELER.

LITTLE GIRL IS NOW ON WAY TO LOS ANGELES ALONE.

Kansas Mother Details Some of the Journeys Made by Her Daughter and Says She Does Not Know With Whom the Child Will Stay While in California.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After being buffetted about from one town to another the last two years, sent here and there on visits, Lourine Blake, 5-year-old daughter of R. H. Blake, is on the way to Los Angeles, alone. The little girl was taken from her mother, Mrs. Mabel Blake Allshire, at No. 5434 East Eleventh street of this city, in 1909 when Blake took the child to Hannibal, Mo. That was only the beginning of her adventures, and since then she has traveled many miles.

The mother does not know with whom the little girl will be in California and is unable to get possession of her. At her home today, Mrs. Allshire told of the various adventures of her little daughter.

"I did not know until two months after our marriage that I was Mr. Blake's second wife," she said. "In September, 1907, he went to his home in Hannibal. He returned two years later to see Lourine, and when he was ready to return to Hannibal, he said he was going to take Lourine with him. I protested, and the next day he returned with an officer and took the child away."

HEAD NEARLY SEVERED.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Her head nearly severed from her body, Mrs. Rose Spinole, 80 years old, was found murdered early this morning in her bedroom in a third-floor apartment on Second avenue. Beside the body was a large jack knife with which the crime apparently had been committed. A number of bloody finger prints on the knife handle furnished the only clue to the slayer who gained entrance by means of the fire escape. Mrs. Spinole was a widow and lived with her daughter. The daughter was away from home when the murder occurred.

FRESNO VALLEY

ALFALFA LAND
Heavy Producer

I say "alfalfa land," but this twenty acres is equally adapted for a productive orchard, or for general farming. Located south of Fresno, reached from that city over good oiled wagon roads and with stations on two railways close by. The soil here is rich and deep. Loamy soil, highly productive. Abundant ditch water at 75c per acre per year. Pump water is furnished at actual cost, and the "lift" is only 14 feet. Plenty of improved properties adjoining show what can be done under similar conditions. This twenty acres, planted to alfalfa, would prove a regular little mint. It would soon pay for itself. Four years' time to complete your payments. Plenty of neighbors here, with good town close by, providing schools, stores, telephones, free rural delivery, etc. Come in and get full description. It's a snap at $100 per acre.

escorting Col. John P. Wisser, mmanding the United States Coast rtillery district of San Francisco, d his adjutant, Capt. L. S. Chap- lear.

Weighty reasons are shown why government should, at once, un- rtake the expenditure of the $3,- ,000 that would be required to nish adequate protection to the rt of Los Angeles. Primarily, there the world race for supremacy on Pacific Ocean, recognized as the ing great highway of commerce; not improbable intention of Japan wage war against the United States, last, but by no means least, the gnized principle that the way to id war is to be prepared to go war.

he visit of Col. Wisser was un- ial, but none the less important reason of the fact that he is likely e a member of the board having rge of the work of fortifying the bor. It is this fact, perhaps, that ed him to study the plans closely to give ready acceptance to the tation extended to him to stop off on his way to inspect target tice at San Diego and make a onal tour of the harbor as the t of the Chamber of Commerce. l. Wisser and Capt. Chappelear met upon arrival at the Arcade ion yesterday by a Reception Com- ee consisting of Capt. H. Z. Os- s, acting president of the Cham- of Commerce, Frank Wiggins, tary; A. P. Fleming, secretary of Harbor Commission; W. S. enspeck, former department mander of the G.A.R.; Col. F. C. ott, Carl E. McStay, Walter Ray- d and Henry Krohn. An hour the party boarded the steam h Imp at Wilmington for the about the harbor.

...ference to the big guns and the garrison provided for in the programme for the defense of the harbor.

There were questions and answers by the score. The 104 acres provided for coast defense on Point Firmin was pointed out and the forty acres for the same purpose south of the South Coast Yacht Club was indicated, and then designated on the blue print.

"Wouldn't that be a good place for the big mortar guns," suggested Col. Wisser, to which Capt. Leeds assented. These guns differ from the flat trajectory fire guns that send a projectile in a comparatively straight course in as much as they fire an explosive projectile high in the air which dropping on the deck of an i- coming warship blows it into kingdom come, whereas the big fourteen-inch guns that it is proposed to mount in Point Firmin and on Deadman's island might have trouble in piercing the armor plate on the sides of the modern warships especially at the extreme range of this tremendous gun, which is seven miles. There are no fourteen-inch guns in United States territory except in the Philippines, the biggest in use now being a twelve-inch gun. The proposed complement for the harbor also includes a number of rapid fire guns.

"You can't adequately furnish protection here unless there are some guns mounted at Long Beach," said Col. Wisser, which was confirmed by Capt. Leeds. "That harbor must be protected by all means," said Leeds. "There is a valuable dry dock there, the only one on the Pacific Coast south of San Francisco, and it would be necessary to protect it as well as to protect against any attack by a fleet of warships. Guns mounted here would furnish no protection to Long Beach Harbor.

The Times has already told of tentative plans for protecting the harbor here, which only needs approval by Congress, and an appropriation of, say $3,000,000, to complete the work."

"When could it be done?" was a question asked.

"If work was begun at once the fortifications could be completed before the Panama Canal is completed. But the $3,000,000 does not provide for mounting any guns at Long Beach nor is there any provision for a site for fortifications there. That would be a separate proposition and would take in the neighborhood of $500,000."

"The harbor at Long Beach and the one at San Pedro should be under one control," said Secretary Fleming. "It will practically be one har-

Steamships

...nautical member of the party. "I don't want to pose as an alarmist, but if there is war with Japan, it will be before the Panama Canal is completed. I can't help but recall conversations we had with army officers two or three years previous to the Japanese-Russian War. Japanese officials said that war with Russia was coming, that Japan was preparing for it and so was Russia, but that the former country was making more rapid progress than the latter, and was better prepared. A striking similarity in the situation is revealed in the statement then made that Japan would postpone the struggle as long as it could be done without permitting Russia to complete the Trans-Siberia Railroad. Now the situation here is similar. The completion of the Panama Canal would force Japan to not only conquer our Pacific fleet but also the Atlantic fleet before they could invade the country. Even with the rapid strides Japan is making that would be a difficult proposition and one that I don't think that any country would want to undertake."

"The problem is a grave one," said Col. Wisser. "Japan must expand. This country has many friends there but there is the natural feeling that follows when one country wins in a war with another. There is an element in Japan that still feels 'cocky' because of their victory over Russia and would like to try conclusions with this country. Japan knows our strength. We should be prepared. The best way to avert a war is to be ready to go to war. The control of the Pacific Ocean—the coming great highway of commerce—is a prize any nation would like to have and it behooves this country to be ready for any emergency for it is impossible to forecast the future. The Pacific Coast defense should be expanded. We have four points now well protected. Puget Sound, the Columbia and Washington Rivers, San Francisco and San Diego."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE.

With forty years in the artillery service of the regular army, twelve years of which was spent as instructor at West Point, affording an opportunity for travel in Germany, every part of which he has traveled on foot, have given Col. Wisser exceptional opportunities for observation. This is enhanced by the fact that he has recently returned from three years service as military attache at Berlin.

"I came from Missouri, and have to be shown, and I have been shown," said Col. Wisser. "I have had un-

...much such cure but there is no good reason why we should not exercise the same preparedness for war as Germany. Our chances for conflict are good, inasmuch as the eyes of the world are on the expanding commerce of the Pacific. When Columbus started on his justly famous tour it was for the purpose of developing trade in the East and the nations of the world have been at it ever since. Germany can put twenty-eight army corps, or 1,500,000 men, in the field in forty-eight hours notice. This is exclusive of the fortification troops, which number half a million or more. The reserves or citizen soldiery each and every one have uniforms and equipment, and supplies ready at an appointed center where they must report for field duty upon call. There is a complete field ambulance and hospital service organized for an army of this size and every other department is in the same state of readiness. Germany surpasses the United States in many particulars.

"They have developed a field searchlight which is invaluable, and have perfected the use of motor trucks for transporting supplies. Owners of motor trucks in the country and manufacturing districts receive a subsidy from the government which requires them to place the motor cars at the service of the government in case of war. There is an automobile club subject to the same conditions. These cars participate in army maneuvers annually and are kept as much ready for instant use as a fire department is in this country.

"Germany has far eclipsed other countries in the use of dirigible balloons and aeroplanes, invaluable in case of war, furnishing the first adequate means of comprehensive observation that the world has known. While Emperor William is regarded as the 'war lord' he is essentially a man of peace. He has a surprising knowledge of details, especially features of the armies of other countries. He maintains a tremendous war fleet in the north sea to cope with England, and is competent to take personal command of army or navy at any time. He knows the power of a big army to preserve peace.

"There is much that this country can learn from Germany. We have no reserve force and it would take weeks to create an effective fighting army. There is on paper plans for land defense, forces and reserve troops but we have not reached the efficient system of Germany, France and other countries. There will be

Following the return to Los Angeles the party was supplemented by Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee and T. E. Gibbon for a luncheon at the Jonathan Club, after which Col. Wisser and Capt. Chappelear became the guests of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis for the over-night stay in Los Angeles. They will leave this morning for San Diego.

A feature that has an important bearing on the situation is that Col. Wisser is a class mate and warm friend of Maj.-Gen. Murray, who is soon to succeed to the command of the army division which includes California. Gen. Murray has visited San Pedro Harbor, and, of course, as an artillery officer, takes an intense interest in coast fortifications.

LINDSAY IS ALL PUFFED UP.

Figures of Board of Equalization Show That It Has More Wealth Per Capita Than Neighbors.

LINDSAY, July 31.—This city feels a considerable amount of pardonable pride in hearing the results of the labors of the Board of Equalization, just concluded. The report gives the following figures, showing Lindsay to possess the largest amount of wealth per capita of any city in Tulare county: Tulare, $448; Visalia, $544; Porterville, $419; Dinuba, $293; Lindsay, $598, and Exeter, $434.

The assessed valuation of Lindsay is this year $1,088,420, as against last year's figure, $924,140, an increase of $161,290. The population of Lindsay is now 1814.

The tax rate for Lindsay this year will be: City tax, 75 cents; county tax, 81 cents; school tax, 70 cents, or an aggregate of $24,756.72.

It is understood that though some necessary improvements in the city will be made, there will be a curtailment of expenses until such time as the citizens are better able to afford more of the luxuries of civic life.

COUNTY WILL BE PAID.

A representative of the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company applied to the Supervisors yesterday for a verification and relinquishment by the county of a claim for $107.40 against E. C. Pullman, whose auto truck damaged a county automobile to that amount in a recent collision. The county machine was occupied at the time of the accident by Chief Engineer Joyner, who states that the blame rests entirely with the driver of the truck. The insurance company will pay the county's claim, but needed authorization before it could bring action against Pullman.

HEIRS TO M'GURCK FORTUNE CALLED BOGUS.

Ohio Claimants for Share in the Estate of San Diegan Allege the Supposed Brother and Sister in the Case Are Not Such—Defendants Swear to Their Rights.

The fight for the $350,000 estate left by Edward McGurck began in earnest yesterday when those to whom it has been distributed filed affidavits in the United States Circuit Court giving the lie to the charge that they were bogus heirs.

McGurck died in San Diego about four years ago. He left a will in which he directed that all of his property should go to his brother and sister, whom he did not call by name.

Michael and Elizabeth McGurck appeared and established themselves as brother and sister of the deceased to the satisfaction of the court. They were given equal shares and a certain portion was set aside for Attorneys Isidore B. Dockweiler and Eugene Daney, who represented the petitioners. The final distribution was made a year ago.

Recently Isabella Giffin, Anna Meyers, Mary France, Robert McConnaughy and John A. McConnaughy, all of Ohio, began suit in the Federal Court to set aside the action of the San Diego county Probate Court. They alleged that Edward and Elizabeth McGurck were not the deceased's relatives, but that they were the next of kin as they were grandnieces and grandnephews of Edward McGurck.

The case was called before Judge Wellborn yesterday. Demurrers were placed on file and affidavits denying the allegations of the complainants were served.

The judge asked the lawyers of the plaintiffs why they did not seek their remedy in the State courts. They insisted they had a right to seek the Federal jurisdiction as their clients were the residents of another commonwealth. The case will be taken up again next Monday.

HE REFUSES TO ANSWER.

Labor-Union Witness Cited for Contempt.

Would not Reply to Questions of Grand Jury.

Continuance Denied, Hearing Is Set for Today.

George Behm, who was brought from Portage, Wis., by the officials of labor unions to use his influence upon his nephew, Ortie E. McManigal, toward urging him to repudiate his charges against the McNamara brothers, was cited for contempt of court yesterday afternoon for failing to answer questions put to him in the grand jury chamber. Behm was arraigned before Judge Bordwell and his hearing was set for this morning at 10 o'clock. Bail was placed at $2000.

The subpoening of Behm before the grand jury yesterday was the initial move on the part of Dist.-Atty. Fredericks to put an end to alleged wholesale tampering with State witnesses by delegations and attorneys employed by labor unions in behalf of the alleged dynamiters. According to attaches of the District Attorney's office, no important witness for the State has been overlooked by the labor unions. In many cases, it is charged, they have attempted to openly bribe witnesses to prevent them from testifying at the ensuing trial.

According to Assistant District Attorney Ford, the influence that Behm sought to exert over McManigal was nothing short of criminal. It is charged that Behm urged, cajoled and threatened McManigal with dire things unless he repudiated his confession involving the McNamara brothers and become allied with the defense. It is understood that operatives of the Burns National Detective Agency caught him red-handed.

The evidence against Behm, it appears, has been gathered slowly by Burns men. Time and again he was warned to respect McManigal's position and not try to intimidate him by his requests or threats. Behm, however, became more persistent as the days went by. When Mrs. McManigal, alarmed at the determination of the District Attorney to arrest her for attempting to influence her husband, ended her calls at the County Jail, Behm took up the campaign. He was carefully schooled by Attorney Darrow as to how he must proceed in breaking down McManigal—the line of questions and threats to employ.

Finally McManigal wearied of these third-degree methods and asked Behm to discontinue his calls unless he could confine his conversation to matters outside the dynamiting case. Behm, it is asserted, then cursed him, and never called again.

Moved by the efforts of the labor-union detectives all over the country to break down witnesses for the State, Capt. Fredericks has determined to take the initiative. A subpoena served upon Behm resulted in that individual appearing before the grand jury.

The dragnet has also been extended to San Francisco. Subpoenas have been served upon F. A. Clancy, one of the labor-union solons of the northern city, and several more are ready for service. Clancy was due in Los Angeles yesterday, but wired the District Attorney that he was sick. He is to come as soon as possible.

According to Manager Mills of the Burns agency, the labor-union walking delegates have organized an "intimidation crew" in San Francisco whose business it is to bribe, and coerce State witnesses into repudiating their former testimony before the grand jury. In one instance they induced a man to leave California, where subpoena service would be impossible. The Burns operatives have every witness under surveillance, however, and to date have succeeded in frustrating the attempts of the unionites to defeat the ends of justice.

The arrest of Behm for failing to answer the jurors is strictly according to form. He was attended in court by Lecompte Davis of the labor-union legal staff. Davis made a strenuous demand for a lengthy continuance, but the court insisted the hearing be this morning. Davis, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Henry and the prisoner, then started on a still hunt for bail.

The questions asked Behm were of a nature that could not incriminate him in the subsequent action. They pertained to his address, time of leaving for Los Angeles, where he resided here, and whether or not he had attended a conference at McManigal's home in Chicago, together with Mrs. McManigal, Clarence Darrow and McManigal's father.

To almost every question Behm, under the coaching of his attorneys, answered: "That has nothing to do with the case." After frequent efforts to get intelligible answers from him, Assistant District Attorney Ford and Deputy District Attorney Hill determined to cite him for contempt.

QUESTION OF ARCHITECTS.

HOW CAN SCHOOL MONEY BE USED TO BEST ADVANTAGE?

Board of Education Considering the Formation of a Department of Architecture, or Creating Position of Supervising Architect—Contracts Awarded for Buildings.

Perhaps the most important question now before the Board of Education is that of expending the bond and other funds for the erection and equipment of school buildings, which in the next five years will amount to about $[illegible], so that the city will get the best possible results. Two plans have been considered, one having in view the employment of a supervising architect, after the plan followed by the United States government, and the other, the establishment of an architectural department of the Board of Education.

Last night a report from the Committee of the Whole was adopted, requesting Architects Glidden, Taylor, Allison & Allison, and Claud B. Faith, principal of the architectural department of the Polytechnic High School, to submit a tentative plan for the creation of a department. They are to give the probable cost of [illegible] such a department, its [illegible], number of employees, that will be required, and stipulated that the board is to be under no obligations to adopt the plan submitted, nor to professionally retain any of the architects named.

It is estimated that this plan will cost the city not less than about $30,000 a year, while a supervising architect might be employed for about $5000 a year, and with a couple of draughtsmen, could do all the work. The friends of this plan believe that several styles of buildings could be adopted, and all the schools built over them, according to the demands of the several localities, and that the best and most economical results can thus be obtained. This plan also has the indorsement of the Architects' Association.

The following contracts were awarded last night: For the construction of a sloyd bungalow at the Custer-avenue school, to the Eastern Building Company, for $824; for a domestic science building at the Castelar-street school, to the J. D. Knoon Contracting Company, for $2150; for the construction of an addition to the Manual Arts High School for the housing of a cupola, to the Knoon company, for $2470; for cafeteria and oral hall at the Los Angeles High School, to the Knoon company, for $13,860.

The secretary was directed to advertise for bids for the installation of the foundry at the Manual Arts High School, and for the installation of the forge shop at the same school.

OBJECT TO HIGH RATES.

Residents of Belvedere and Laguna Tell Supervisors Proposed Water Schedule Is Exorbitant.

A delegation of residents of the Belvedere and Laguna districts yesterday protested to the Board of Supervisors that the proposed raise in water rates by the Janss Water Company would force them to pay an excessive amount, and that the contract of the Janss people with purchasers of land in the districts had been violated the moment the figures crept above those charged in this city.

The old rate has been $1 for the first 1000 cubic feet, with ten cents for each additional hundred cubic feet. The new rate is proposed at $1.25 per 800 cubic feet, with the figure for excess the same as before. The delegation claimed that the Janss company had agreed to furnish water at city prices, and they objected to a raise of forty-five per cent., which would bring prices ninety-three per cent. higher than those in Los Angeles, they stated.

Hartley Shaw appeared for the company, accompanied by its officials, prepared to show that any attempted lowering of rates by the Supervisors would be confiscatory, in that it would not permit the concern to earn six per cent. on its investment. The matter was taken under advisement, to be looked in to by Deputy District Attorney Hanna, while the protestants employ engineers to investigate the plant and to learn whether a raise is necessary to its prosperity.

Apparatus Circles Block in a Vain Search; Box No. 13, at 1:13 A. M., Keeps Up Its Reputation as 'Hoodoo'

Fire on Spring street in the center of the business district shortly after one o'clock this morning damaged the stock of the Los Angeles Rubber Stamp Company, the Lowman Clothing Company and the Lee & Gilmore jewelry store to the extent of about $25,000.

An explosion of gas in the upper floor of the two-story building just before the firemen entered the premises tore a hole through the roof, endangered lives of the firemen, and blew out the windows into Spring street. Flames shot skyward and out through the shattered windows, in a manner that threatened a serious fire.

Smoke and Water Damage

It was estimated that the loss on the second floor, to the rubber stamp company's stock, was about $10,000, while the remainder of the loss was caused mostly by smoke and water and was distributed among the three firms, the larger share falling on the lot of the clothing store.

The first alarm came in from box 13. A second and third alarm were turned in at once and additional apparatus hurried to the scene, and quick work was done to prevent the spread of the flames and to control the fire with all possible speed.

ORANGE LAND, WITH WATER,
LOW PRICE, EASY TERMS.

First payment only $5 per acre; then $5 per acre monthly; an easy purchase, but the land has unusual merit; the water goes with it. It's frostless orange land, lying well protected by surrounding foothills; deep, disintegrated granite soil; fruit matures early and perfectly; the location, south of Riverside, is ideal for orange groves, and for comfortable living; a prosperous little city close by; these lands sell at only $200 an acre; at that price and on my easy terms, almost any one can have an orange grove home; come in and get my interesting illustrated booklet; I will set out your grove for you and care for it until it comes into bearing, if you so desire. Such land is scarce; it is the most valuable part of a fine estate which I secured only after long negotiation; free excursions so that you can see Orange Vista for yourself.

SAYS MADERO WILL WIN.

American From Mexico Thinks Revolutionary Leader is Doing Well and Will be Elected.

Disappointed office seekers and a few dissatisfied officials in various States of Mexico, are the chief opponents of Madero and are his principal political obstructionists, according to W. L. Vail, manager of the land department of the United States and Mexico Trust Company of Mexico City, who has been at the Alexandria for several days and who was joined yesterday by S. W. Rider, manager and vice-president of the company.

"There was never a real cause for a revolution, never the slightest visible signs of graft in Mexico City and most of the Americans were for Diaz," he stated. "On the other hand, since Madero has come into power, we have all come to acknowledge him as a man of keen perception, intuitive government and occasionally hasty in his decisions.

"A few of the slight mistakes which he has made in the past months have been due also to the fact that he is not actually holding the reigns of government. With him in the place of De la Barra, there will be a change.

"We are not expecting any extreme changes in government affairs. Madero is surrounded by a group of able men, most of them graduates of American universities, who have studied government in other nations and are competent to succeed in the places they are to occupy."

Of the election of Madero, Vail seemed to have not the slightest doubt. "He was the victor in the contest. He has the armed forces back of him. He has shown himself capable and with these things in his favor there is little doubt that he will take the office of President, no matter who else may enter into the field.

"As soon as the election is over we all look forward to more prosperous times than Mexico has ever seen before."

FOR RIVER CONTROL.

Mass Meeting at Downey Tomorrow Evening to Discuss the Curbing of the San Gabriel.

In order to be primed for the mass meeting to be held at Downey tomorrow night, which will be attended by persons interested in the formation of a storm-water district to curb the San Gabriel River, T. F. Cogswell and Carl Raab, members of a committee working on the matter, went into consultation yesterday with Supervisors Manning and Neills.

They discussed the legal possibility of doing away with the small protection districts already formed, to merge them into the large district that is to embrace the entire course of the stream. These questions were referred to the District Attorney.

A petition was filed yesterday by the Board of Supervisors, asking that the district be organized under the act of 1909. The Supervisors mainly favor the act of 1895, which will give their body absolute control. They believe that centralized power is the only thing that will keep the residents in line and stop bickering among the sections already partially protected.

U.S.C. MAN IS JUSTICE.

Chosen from Field of Six to Fill Unexpired Term of Pasadena Jurist, Who Died Recently.

Frank C. Dunham, a graduate of the University of Southern California Law College, was yesterday appointed by the Supervisors to fill the unexpired term of Township Justice Klamroth of Pasadena, who was called recently by death from the bench. The nomination was made by Supervisor Manning, and the vote was unanimous.

Dunham is one of six candidates considered for the position. Manning took pains to inquire thorough into the record of the men, even searching through the East for their antecedents. Dunham took his first college degree at the University of Iowa, and his showing there was excellent.

PFISTER INQUEST TODAY.

The Coroner will hold an inquest today in the case of C. Pfister, the old man who committed suicide early Saturday morning in the City Jail, following his incarceration on a charge of having stolen a bottle of milk from the grocery of John Bell, West Seventh and Alvarado streets. Chief of Police Sebastian said yesterday that he will be present.

DOG POISONING NOT PROVED.

Justice Summerfield yesterday dismissed the charge of dog poisoning preferred against George Mosher by A. F. Spitters, who asserted that a quietus by the dope route had been administered to a valuable collie. The claim for damages of $299 was denied.

Big Success.

PRIZE PHOTOS ARE BEAUTIES.

Remaining Place Winners in Contest Presented.

Burr McIntosh Praises Work of Contestants.

Thais Magrane Refused to Pose for Artists.

The photographs which won the second, fourth, fifth and sixth prizes in the Thais Magrane snap shot contests are presented this morning to the readers of The Times Pink Sheet.

The first and third prize winners were presented yesterday morning.

In passing judgment upon this second installment, Burr McIntosh expressed his great pleasure and surprise in finding the work of the snap shooters to be of such a high order.

His most severe criticisms were against the posing and particularly against the back grounds of some of the pictures. To the credit of the camera artists, however, it should be stated that these faults were not of their making. Miss Magrane did not pose at all. She simply got in her Chalmers "30" at the Belasco and rode to the beach.

Most of the photographs were taken as she was emerging from the bath house and taking a rapid run into the surf. On the whole the success of the hit-or-miss pictures was remarkable.

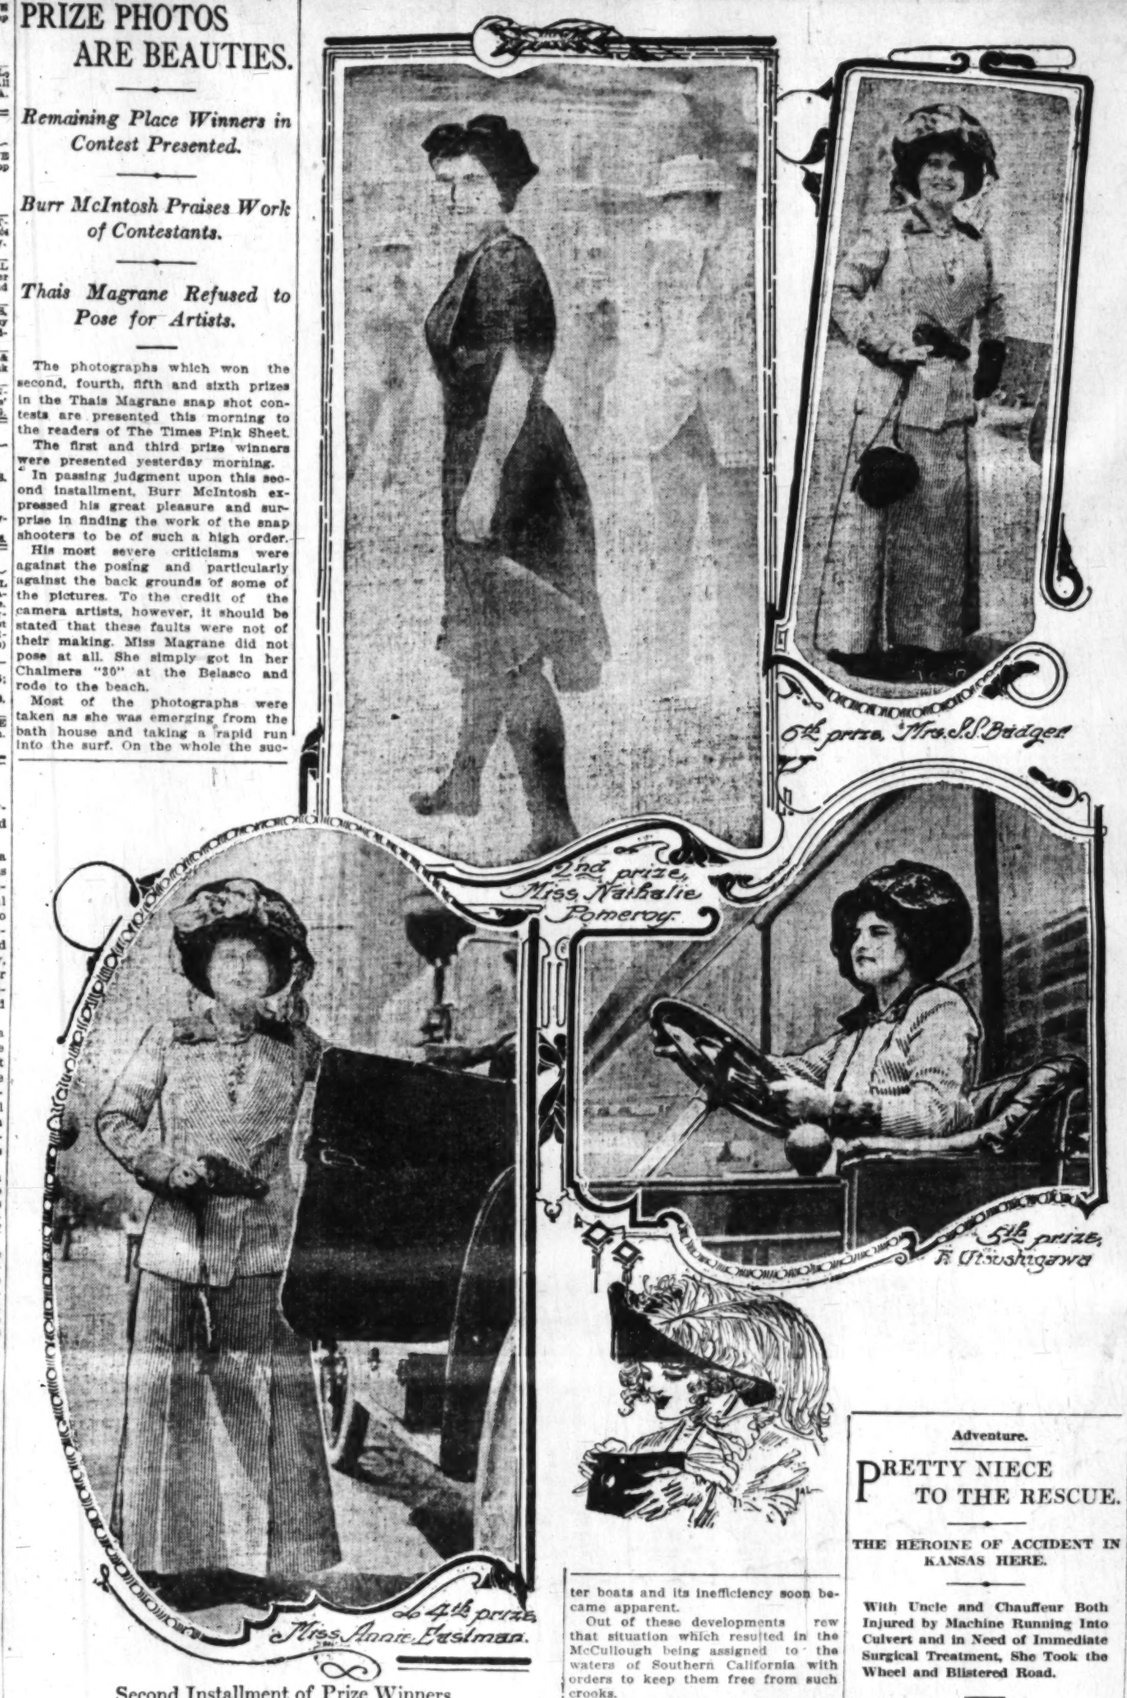
In passing upon the prize winners, Mr. McIntosh made the following comment on the winner of the second prize:

"This is particularly good," he said, "Because of the facial expression and the graceful contour of the figure. In fact, it is possibly the most gracefully taken of any picture in the whole contest. It is a typically and thoroughly good snap shot."

Of the fourth prize, Mr. McIntosh said, "This is an excellent picture considering all the conditions. Also considering the fact that it was evidently made by requesting a momentary pause on the part of the model. Altogether it is very charming."

Of the fifth prize winner, Mr. McIntosh said, "Although very contrasty and raw, it is so full of action and the expression is altogether so satisfactory that it well deserves its place among the prizes winners."

Of the sixth: "This is a typical snap shot. It was evidently made with a small and inexpensive camera but the picture shows a fine appreciation of character and the artist should be encouraged with her progress."



Second Installment of Prize Winners

In the Thais Magrane snapshot contest. The fourth, fifth and sixth prize-winners show Miss Magrane in the Chalmers 30, in which she rode to the fray.

PLENTY OF SPEED.

W. R. Nelson and E. S. Kenyon paid fines of $25 each yesterday in Justice Summerfield's court for speeding. Others fined upon complaint of Officers Blaylock and Cannon were E. A. Lord, $15, and Frank Toombs, $10. The fine of Harry Wright was suspended, the case of P. Jacobs was continued until Wednesday, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Ray Hart.

HIBERNIANS ENTERTAINED.

Under the auspices of the local division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians a "ceilidh," or Irish entertainment, was held in the Lincoln Hall of the Walker Theater building last night. The programme was opened with some selections of quaint Irish airs instrumentally contributed by Arthur Tynam and Miss Tynam. This was followed by an oration by Mr. Rosecrans of the Young Men's Institute. Recitations were contributed by Miss Mary J. Sullivan. Miss Maud Kearney sang. Walter Goldsmith rendered comic songs.

MAN O'WAR TO PATROL COAST.

UNCLE SAM AFTER SMUGGLERS WITH SHARP STICK.

July's Record for Contrabands in Men and Drugs Spurs Government to Placing a Warship in Southern Waters to Stop It—Ex-Cruiser McCullough Is Detailed.

The quest for smugglers and evaders of the customs laws has become so strenuous in the waters of Southern California that the government has seen fit to detail a real fighting ship to take part in the game.

The revenue cutter McCullough, formerly a cruiser, which established a fighting record in Manila Bay, will in the future patrol the seas from Santa Barbara to San Diego in the search for evil doers.

This step is taken just about a year after the time when Uncle Sam awoke to the importance of protecting his southwestern coast from the hordes of contrabands and smugglers of opium.

It comes also at the close of the banner month for the immigration department of the Southern California district. During July, thirty-two contraband Chinese were gathered up. This is the record for this territory.

The official net also picked up six smugglers of orientals. Three of them were Mexicans, two Chinese and one Japanese.

The customs department has found that it has a real fight to keep out the smugglers of opium, since it has become so scarce and demands such a high price.

Less than twelve months ago the waters were practically unguarded and the Chinese laborers were dumped on the shores at random. A small cutter, the Orient, with a few men was put in commission. Its appearance had a sedative effect but the smugglers fitted out faster and better boats and its inefficiency soon became apparent.

Out of these developments grew that situation which resulted in the McCullough being assigned to the waters of Southern California with orders to keep them free from such crooks.

Equipped with high power search lights, it is admirably adapted to running down the illicit craft which always seek safety under cover of darkness.

It is manned by seventy-five seamen, whose training has made them ever anxious for some excitement, the more troublesome the better. The ship has two good sized cutters which can be lowered at a moment's notice to pursue the smaller boats into the coves and through the shallow waters.

KNOWS ALL ABOUT RUBBER.

Grower from British Guiana Declares Plantations' Output Caused Decline in Prices During Past Year.

"Ten years will see practically all rubber grown in a wild state entirely off the markets of the world," declared Lindley Vinton of Georgetown, British Guiana, governing director of the Bartica Agricultural Estates, Ltd., one of the great English plantation companies operating in South America, who is visiting in this city.

"The sudden decline of rubber from $3.25 per pound to approximately $1.25 per pound in a period of less than a year is one of the proofs that the properly-managed rubber plantations will furnish the bulk of the supply, declared Vinton yesterday. "It was the rubber from the plantations greatly increasing the output that made possible the declines.

According to Vinton, the cost of production of rubber will never allow it to be sold for much less than 25 cents a pound.

Of the rubber trust Vinton said he knew little. "It will never prove a feasible trust as far as control of production goes, on account of the rapid disappearance of the crude supply and the control of the plantations in the Guianas and other South American countries by individual corporations of sufficient size to take care of themselves."

DEATH OF MRS. BROWNING.

Mrs. Harriet S. Browning died on Sunday morning at her home, No. 3320 Walton avenue, this city, aged 56 years. She had spent the past year at Riverside, in the hope of receiving benefit, but was brought back home on Wednesday, preceding her death, in a critical condition. She leaves four daughters, Misses Lydia, Lillian and Helena Browning of this city, and Mrs. E. D. Keil of Buffalo, N. Y.

Adventure.

PRETTY NIECE TO THE RESCUE.

THE HEROINE OF ACCIDENT IN KANSAS HERE.

With Uncle and Chauffeur Both Injured by Machine Running Into Culvert and in Need of Immediate Surgical Treatment, She Took the Wheel and Blistered Road.

Traveling with an uncle, who was incapacitated through a serious auto accident at Garden City, Kan., Miss Ethel K. Harrison arrived at the Alexandria Sunday night and registered from Wichita.

Her uncle is Alfred Harrison, an Englishman of wealth, who came to this country and accumulated much more through Kansas. He built himself a beautiful country residence, following the lines of an English estate, and to this he invited his niece to come and reside.

She traveled all the way from London and after a thorough education in the best schools of the country, she went as a ward of the man who was growing old. She was made his adopted child. About three weeks ago, Harrison decided that an auto tour to the Pacific Coast and then a voyage to the Orient would be a splendid vacation journey.

In a big touring car the party of three, including a chauffeur, left Wichita. The trip across Kansas was easily accomplished until they arrived at Garden City. Driving in the twilight, the chauffeur failed to notice an open culvert crossing a road and drove into it.

The jolt threw Harrison forward and cut a deep gash across his head which bled profusely. The right arm of the chauffeur was also seriously injured, so much so that he was unable to manage the machine.

The young woman, who had long previously learned to run a machine for her own amusement, perceiving the danger of her benefactor and the chauffeur and having nothing more than a few bruises, took charge of the wheel and managed to extricate the machine from the culvert.

Garden City had been passed by twenty miles and these miles she proceeded to destroy as fast as the high powered car would permit. She arrived in Garden City in less than three quarters of an hour and at once became a heroine for her adventure.

Upon the sufficient recovery of Harrison, who is probably about 75 years old, it was decided that the trip to California in an auto should be abandoned, but that travel would be the best possible thing to divert his mind from the affair and the journey here was completed by train.

Can Remedy It.

WANT TO PULL BLIND PIG OU

UNION LEAGUE IN TROUB OVER ITS LICENSE.

Because Everybody Forgot an Important Duty When the Institution Moved to Its New Quarters the "Home" of Several Mayoralty Candidates Is Under a Cloud.

Is the populous and popular Un League a "blind pig," a "speak eas or a malafactor?

An application for a social cl liquor permit filed with the Pol Commission last week, which w come before that body at its meeti tomorrow, indicates that the sw club in its splendid new home, o of the city's show buildings, at H and Second streets, has been selli liquor for several months without permit.

And its secretary is Councilma Gregory, candidate for Mayor, w voted for the new liquor ordinance!

And the president of the Pol Commission, Mayor Alexander, can date for renomination, who ought be enforcing the laws, is a memb and lunches there almost daily!

And Former Auditor Mushet, a candidate for Mayor, is a memb and a regular patron of the bree top-floor dining-room!

Think of it! Three candidates f Mayor in one club that is applyi six months late for a liquor-sell permit, though it doesn't sell much.

After all, it is not quite so bad that. It is all due to a mistak When the club was housed at No. 1 South Hill street it had a permit, re ular in form and validly issued the aforesaid Mayor Alexander a his Police Commission.

When the club moved to its n home, six months or so back, Sec tary Gregory and President Ga who also once ran for Mayor, a everybody in the club forgot to ge transfer. They just walked away w their bottles.

But every month Secretary Greg has seen that the club's check h been sent to the City Hall. And one there thought of the error, tho they are all friends of the Un League Club.

Neither did that argus-eyed of Secretary McKeag of the Police Co mission, detect the error. That he didn't until last week, when i happened to notice the address of Union League on his records at same old number on South Hill str A moment's study disclosed the m take everybody has been making, he notified Gregory.

And so it will be possible tomor for the Police Commission to rec its error and take the Union Lea Club out of the dangers of "blind pig" squad from the Chief Police's office.

WANT TO PULL BLIND PIG OUT.

UNION LEAGUE IN TROUBLE OVER ITS LICENSE.

Because Everybody Forgot an Important Duty When the Institution Moved to Its New Quarters the "Home" of Several Mayoralty Candidates Is Under a Cloud.

Is the populous and popular Union League a "blind pig," a "speak easy," or a malefactor?

An application for a social club liquor permit filed with the Police Commission last week, which will come before that body at its meeting tomorrow, indicates that the swell club in its splendid new home, one of the city's show buildings, at Hill and Second streets, has been selling liquor for several months without a permit.

And its secretary is Councilman Gregory, candidate for Mayor, who voted for the new liquor ordinance!

And the president of the Police Commission, Mayor Alexander, candidate for renomination, who ought to be enforcing the laws, is a member and lunches there almost daily!

And Former Auditor Mushet, also a candidate for Mayor, is a member and a regular patron of the breezy top-floor dining-room!

Think of it! Three candidates for Mayor in one club that is applying, six months late for a liquor-selling permit, though it doesn't sell much.

After all, it is not quite so bad as that. It is all due to a mistake. When the club was housed at No. 246 South Hill street it had a permit, regular in form and validly issued by the aforesaid Mayor Alexander and his Police Commission.

When the club moved to its new home, six months or so back, Secretary Gregory and President Gates, who also once ran for Mayor, as everybody in the club forgot to get a transfer. They just walked away with their bottles.

But every month Secretary Gregory has seen that the club's check has been sent to the City Hall. And not one there thought of the error, though they are all friends of the Union League Club.

Neither did that argus-eyed official Secretary McKeag of the Police Commission, detect the error. That is, he didn't until last week, when he happened to notice the address of the Union League on his records at the same old number on South Hill street. A moment's study disclosed the mistake everybody has been making, and he notified Gregory.

And so it will be possible tomorrow for the Police Commission to rectify its error and take the Union League Club out of the dangers of the "blind pig" squad from the Chief of Police's office.

DAILY RESULTS.

The opening day of the new schedule of daily prizes which closed at 12 o'clock yesterday, developed a number of heavy scores, and the winner of the first prize barely got it by 100 points.

The day's score was:

L. O. Lieber.....22,600
John Scott, Jr. 22,500
A. S. Burns 8,600

These three contestants are entitled to the three prizes of $6, $5 and $4, respectively, for the day ending.

Some larger scores came in after 12 o'clock which are credited in this morning's totals, and will be credited also for the prizes due at 12 o'clock today.

The story of the month of July in the Los Angeles Times Greater Contest, with returns incomplete as yet, is a remarkable narrative.

John Scott, Jr., the La Habra boy without question the star performer, not only in this contest; but his record as far as we know, exceeds in activity and accomplishment that of any other contest participant that we have any line on.

Entering the contest June 1, he has amassed a total of 506,391 points. He received at the beginning 1000 points for his nomination, as did all so that his total is almost a score and most of it represents new business for The Times.

His net score for the month of July ending at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was the amazing total of 257,650 points which exceeded his June figures a fraction.

A. S. Burns, the blind contestant, who was the leader until Scott succeeded to first place, and whose place has been near the head of the procession either in second or third position, now follows Scott in second rank. Were Scott's totals eliminated entirely, the score of Burns, which is 353,824 would stand out as an astonishing performance in any contest. His record for the month of July of 140,138 alone would be a very remarkable total for twice the length of time.

L. O. Lieber stands third in the total scores this morning with 278,080—70,900 of which were procured in the month of July.

Next in order in the men's division for July, is the score made by the Glendora contestant, E. Rietzke, who polled 63,500 during the month of July. His total score is now 85,862. to be small by contrast. But really And the difference between these twothey are not small. They are large

John Scott, Jr., of La Habra.

He has made a record of more than half a million subscription points in The Times Greater Contest.

The record women show as much progress as the men. It must be remembered that the ladies in this contest have not the facilities for getting around or devoting as much time to it as the men have, nor have they the business acquaintances to approach; but that does not seem to have handicapped them to any great extent.

We have several contestants ranging very high in the totals that are living out of Los Angeles, and as they doubtless worked up to the last minute yesterday evening, it was too late when they finished to get the business to this office in time for publication this morning. Therefore it is impossible for us to give any final figures.

However, at 6 o'clock in the evening Marie Rorick had to her credit a net subscription score for July of 91,650.

Mrs. Reed of Santa Monica occupied second place with 71,700 and Mrs. Carlin of Long Beach had a total of 51,450.

Mrs. Tout of Calexico with 30,000 to her credit has not been heard from, but something will doubtless materialize from both Long Beach and Calexico today.

According to these incomplete figures, the three highest scores of any kind for the month of July were those of John Scott, A. S. Burns and Marie Rorick.

Scott seems to have won the first prize for July, A. S. Burns the second and either Rietzke or Lieber the third.

This is also an uncertain proposition, as Lewis Black of Monrovia and F. M. Edgar of Maricopa and several others with large scores now have their final reports in the mail.

Among the contestants who have particularly distinguished themselves with excellent scores during the month are: Lillian Blood, Los Angeles; Lois Irene Benton, Azusa; Hester Jewell, San Dimas; Gertrude Linsenbard, Los Angeles; Minnie Litchner, Alhambra; Pearl O'Connor, Norwalk; Alys Sweet, Los Angeles; who barely missed being a prize winner; Ina Smith, Artesia; Jack Bussell, Los Angeles; H. F. Barton, Glendale; A. B. Eells, Ventura; F. M. Edgar, Maricopa; William Sherman Hall, San Fernando-Pasadena; Russell Kreichbaum, Los Angeles; Harry Miehle, Riverside; Leo Morinaga, the Japanese contestant; W. C. Woodworth of Covina.

All of these contestants rank well for the month and the business of any one of them was good business.

It must be remembered that the half dozen leading scores in this contest are so extraordinarily large that other scores must necessarily appear

DIAMOND ROBBER CAUGHT BY FOLLOWING WOMAN.

Victim Positively Identifies Photograph as Likeness of One of the Men Who Assaulted Him in Office in Grant Building—Will Be Returned from Chicago.

H. T. Reid, the diamond broker who was beaten and robbed in his office in the Grant building a few weeks ago, yesterday positively identified the picture of Randolph Churchill Higgins, under arrest in Chicago, as that of one of the men who attacked him.

Detective Jones will leave today for Chicago to bring Higgins back to Los Angeles for trial.

W. C. Rogers, who aided Higgins in robbing Reid, is now serving a life sentence.

Higgins was known to the local police as L. Pierson. Later they learned that he had traveled under the name of Jay Duryea and the Chicago police added the third name, which is believed to be his true one.

Capt. Flammer of the detective bureau believes that Higgins owes his arrest to fate as much as to the work of the police, for, after committing the crime here, and escaping capture in San Diego, he disappeared completely and remained out of sight until it chanced that a Chicago police officer, reading the description of Pierson sent out by the Los Angeles department, said he thought it was Higgins, whom he remembered as a man who about five years ago had been arrested in Milwaukee on a charge of having passed forged checks.

Reference to the identification files in the Chicago police station showed that Higgins had been photographed as a bad check man. The picture was sent to the local police to be shown to Reid. The latter gave a single glance at the picture and said: "He's the man."

When the Chicago police, upon comparison of the description telegraphed and the one printed in their records, decided there was sufficient cause to arrest Pierson, a detective was detailed to learn where he was hiding. It was discovered that Higgins spent the greater portion of his time in Chicago, and the names of several of his associates were learned. These were simmered down to a list of his intimates. Then it was learned he was infatuated with a certain woman. She was taken under surveillance and was known as the "woman with the black cat," because of her fondness for a pet, which she kept with her constantly. Finally the woman with the cat went to the depot. The detective followed. Higgins stepped from the train and was immediately placed under arrest.

TAKING TIME BY FORELOCK.

Giant Petition Now for the City Council.

Placed With City Clerk After Committee Meeting.

Report on Legal Phases to Be Ready Tomorrow.

John P. Steele filed the petition for the annexation of Mt. Washington Park, Glassell Park, North Highland Park, West Highland Park, Arroyo Seco, Hermon, Bairdstown and Belvedere with the City Clerk yesterday afternoon after delegates from those districts had discussed with the Mayor, Senator Hewitt and City Attorney Shenk questions of vital interest. It was announced at the meeting that the petition would be filed this morning, and Steele's movement anticipating the date came as a surprise. His action may have been influenced by the statement of Hewitt that the report of the committee appointed to pass on the legal questions would be made tomorrow.

The petition contained 14,500 names, many more than is necessary. Deputies in the City Clerk's office will verify the signatures with the voters' register, after which it will go to the Council. If the names are sufficient, the Council will call a special election which, according to an understanding, will not be for ninety days. This was at the request of the Hermon delegates who stated they desire an appropriation from the Good Roads Commission for a boulevard.

The delegates took up with the committee the water question and fire protection particularly. They wanted to know if more than one rate would be charged for water and were assured by Hewitt that the policy of the city has been to distribute water at an equal price. Hewitt also explained that the city could not undertake to supply water at a greater height than 735 feet. It was ascertained that there are 6000 acres in the district and that about 450 acres are above the 735 feet limit.

As certain sections are being supplied by private water companies, the delegates inquired as to the policy of the city in regard to these, and Hollywood was pointed out as an example. The rate there has been reduced, and the cost of fire plugs materially cut. The delegates were informed that they would have to stand their share of the bonded indebtedness, which they expressed a willingness to do. They wanted to be sure of an adequate water supply and ample fire protection. On these heads Hewitt explained that the committee is still at work, but he had every reason to believe that the report would be ready tomorrow.

A. Campbell Johnston wanted San Rafael taken out of the proposed district but was informed that the petition must go through as originally drawn up or a new petition prepared.

In order to supply these high points M. B. Johnson thought a reservoir could be built in San Fernando Valley which would supply sufficient pressure. He dwelt at some length on a gravity system as a solution of the problem. Hewitt replied that time alone will solve the problem. It was suggested, however, that special plants might be installed and special arrangements made to supply the heights with water. The aqueduct bureau is struggling with the problem of distributing water in outlying districts and districts which may be taken in and in time the problem will be met.

Miss Mary Foy, Mrs. O. C. Bryant and Mrs. A. S. Lobinger were present at the discussion and showed a lively interest.

COLORADO EXHIBITING WOMEN OFFICE-HOLDERS.

Imminent Votes-for-Women Election Spurring Adherents to Bring 'Em on from All Over, by Way of Showing California How Well It Works Where It Works.

Another woman politician from Colorado burst upon the unsuspecting Los Angeles horizon yesterday when Mrs. Alma V. Lafferty brought Mrs. John Arkins to the Votes For Women Club house-warming.

Mrs. Arkins was for many years part owner of the Rocky Mountain News and is now vice-president of the Women's State Democratic Club of Colorado and the woman member of the Board of Trustees of the Colorado Industrial Home for Girls. The Governor appointed her upon the nomination of Mrs. Lafferty.

A feature of chivalry and good will and one not devoid of irony was the speech of Capt. Frederick J. Cressy, made during the hours when the Daughters of the Confederacy of Southern California were the guests of honor. Capt. Cressy is a Grand Army man, while his hearers numbered the wives and daughters of some of the most prominent Confederate officers.

For the first time in many months the Board of Public Works has issued a permit for a street banner. The Votes For Women Club was yesterday given permission to float their banner across Broadway. The owners of the Merchants' Trust building also gave their consent to the display. The sign will simply direct the public to the Votes For Women Club headquarters. The concession is one that the women have long desired and they believe it will be of great benefit to them and their cause.

Mrs. Foltz is receiving some unique replies to her "Dear Brother" letter. One came yesterday from Chief Justice Beatty, of California, in which he stated that if he dared act for himself he had no doubt that he might oppose woman suffrage, but since he is under orders he will be obliged to lend the cause his support.

One man wrote that there are ten members in his family and he was enclosing a check for $10, as he wanted his children as well as himself enrolled as members of the club. He was not a particular man as to language and what he really said was, "Please enclosed find payment for the whole dam' family." Mrs. Foltz found his language shocking, but his money good.

The Assessor of San Luis Obispo county wrote that he has on his books $80,000,000 of property and that 60 per cent. of this is owned by women. For this reason he intends to vote for suffrage and asked to be made a member of their club.

The big garden party at Mrs. Hooker's home, at No. 326 West Adams street, this afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, promises to be one of great magnitude. The officers and members of sixty suffrage organizations have been invited and probably hundreds will attend. Mrs. Lobingier, Mrs. Tolhurst, Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Craig will speak.

EX-HUSBAND WOUNDED AFTER GRAPPLING WITH WOMAN.

Falls Through Window After a Struggle With the One Who Was Once His Wife and Proceeds to the Receiving Hospital—Promises not to Visit Her Again.

In attempting to disarm his former wife, who, he says, was trying to kill him with a revolver, Lee Miller, 38 years old, a stationary engineer, was severely cut on the right arm by falling through a window at the former's home on West Rose Hill drive late last night.

For several nights Miller is said to have visited the home of his late helpmeet for the purpose of effecting a reconciliation, but in each case his advances were spurned. About 9 o'clock last night Miller left his own apartments at No. 3042 Huntington drive and started again to meet the former Mrs. Miller, who is known at present as Miss Violet Matthews, but as he ascended the steps leading to the front porch he was sternly ordered away and told never to set his foot in the house again.

As Miller failed to act on the suggestion, he says he subsequently was greeted by four shots fired in swift succession by Miss Matthews, who appears to have been concealed behind the drapery of a front window.

Believing that his life was somewhat in danger, Miller is said to have dashed through the door and grappled with the infuriated woman, but in the struggle which followed, Miss Matthews displayed her prowess in the art of self-defense by hurling the visitor through a window. With the blood streaming from a number of wounds, Miller made his way to the Receiving Hospital for surgical assistance. In addition to two long lacerations on the forearm, he was considerably bruised about the chest, where he is thought to have landed after taking leave of his ex-spouse.

When interrogated by Detectives Browning and Ingram, the injured man refused to prosecute the woman, although he admitted having passed through a terrible ordeal. After promising to keep away from the house in future, Miller was allowed to depart.

As soon as the series of meetings, now held there each Sunday afternoon by the Young Men's Christian Association, is concluded, a series of meetings will be begun by the Young Women's Christian Association.

CITY BRIEFS.

A large Pasadena delegation of the Loyal Order of Moose will attend the meeting of the Supreme Lodge in Detroit, August 19. They will make the trip on the special train which is to leave Los Angeles August 14. The official delegates from this city are Dr. W. H. Ballard, B. C. Crandall, J. E. Leddy, Dr. A. D. S. McCoy and Fred Keene.

An "echo" meeting of the International Christian Endeavor convention, held recently at Atlantic City, will take place at the First Congregational Church tonight. Among those who will speak are J. O. Smith, former State president; A. J. Gatter of Los Angeles, who is secretary of the State organization, and H. H. Godber.

William Adams, who a short time ago appeared before Police Judge McDonald to answer to a charge of drunkenness, and who was sent by the judge to Los Angeles to take a cure for the drink habit, instead of being committed to jail, appeared in the judge's chambers yesterday and declared the kindness had been worth more than $10,000 to him. He says he intends immediately to communicate with his wife, from whom he has been separated for ten years. He is now looking for employment, and Judge McDonald is assisting him. Adams was at one time a school teacher in Pasadena.

John Doyle of No. 392 North Euclid avenue, accompanied by Grover Beal, left Pasadena yesterday for Sulphur Mountain Springs in a one-cylinder automobile of the 1901 "Hoot Nanny" make. The campers declare they will either make the trip or return in small pieces. The old-fashioned car was hung over with festoons of frying pans and bunches of fishing rods.

A number of Pasadena residents tonight will participate in the first dress rehearsal of the Santa Barbara Kirmess in that city.

After a two weeks' visit with her brother, Prof. R. W. Doane of Leland Stanford University, Mrs. J. G. Eliot returned to her home in Pasadena yesterday.

PAINT STORE IS GUTTED BY FIRE.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION IS THE THEORY OFFERED.

Man Captured at San Pedro for Passing Spurious Coin Is Transferred to Los Angeles Pending His Trial—Bogus Coins Were Found Near Scene of Arrest.

SAN PEDRO, July 31.—Fire, supposedly due to spontaneous combustion, destroyed the stock of the Norman S. Abbott Paint Company, in the Home Telephone Company's building on Beacon street shortly after 5 o'clock this morning. Abbott estimates his loss at $1300, with $1000 insurance. The building was damaged to the extent of $700 and the Clark market, next door, $150, both insured.

COST OF "CUSSING."

Vincente Vitslich and A. Petrich, the Slavonian fishermen arrested several days ago by H. I. Pritchard, deputy game warden, for refusing to pay their State license, were fined $10 and $25 respectively, this morning. When taken into custody Petrich delivered a string of Slavonian profanity at the officer, which action cost him $15 additional.

BAD COINS FOUND.

George W. Hazen, United States Secret Service agent, came down from Los Angeles today to take a look at T. V. Redmond, alias W. W. Walman, who was taken into custody late Saturday night by Officers Carr and Gregg, charged with passing counterfeit $10 gold pieces. Hazen was unable to recognize the man as a former offender, but took the prisoner to Los Angeles for further examination.

Redmond was arrested between San Pedro and Wilmington, but no sparious coincidence found on his person, although he was identified by two of the victims on whom he had "shoved" the money. Yesterday L. Rhodes, an employee of the Los Angeles Gas Engine Company, found ten of the counterfeit coins near where Redmond was arrested and today turned them over to the Sheriff's office in Los Angeles.

The counterfeit pieces are dated 1905 and are made of bronze and lead, from moulds and gilded. They are good imitations, but lighter than good coins.

MAMMOTH RAFT.

The steamer Francis H. Leggett, Capt. Hall, which arrived this morning from Astoria, carrying 1,400,000 feet of lumber for the National Lumber Company, towed a mammoth log raft containing 6,000,000 feet of lumber for the Hammond Lumber Company, from the Columbia River to San Francisco. On her last trip the Leggett lost a similar raft, shortly before arriving at San Francisco and by a strange coincidence, the lost raft was brought into San Francisco by the steamer Nehalem on last Saturday, the same day and about the same time that the Leggett arrived with her second tow.

MYSTERY SOLVED.

LONG BEACH, July 31.—The mystery of the black picture hat in custody of the police, and which was given to a boy Friday night on the beach, with instructions to say he found it, was solved today, when Miss Edna Marquis, a Kentucky tourist, rooming at the Savoy, fessed up and said she was persuaded to buy it at a store in Los Angeles, and after getting home was so disgusted that she slipped out of the hotel and gave it to the boy with instructions to drown it in the ocean. He disobeyed instructions and this neglect led to the thrilling theory of suicide and mystery.

Plans Prepared for Big Concrete Apartment-house.

Christian Endeavor Convention Raises Big Fund.

LONG BEACH, July 31.—When Max Hartvig, proprietor of a Pine-avenue dry goods store, opened up this morning, it took him but a few minutes to reach a telephone and explain to the police that the store had been looted some time since Saturday night of silk goods amounting to $500. Every bolt of silk in the house had been carefully unwrapped and the boards placed in a pile on the counter. In addition, several boxes containing silk handkerchiefs had been emptied and the boxes neatly stacked in one corner of the store.

EIGHT-STORY HOUSE.

Plans have been prepared and a permit is to be taken out within a few days by Henry B. Barbour for an eight-story reinforced concrete apartment-house, which is to be located near the foot of Lime avenue, extending from the cement walk on the Strand, back to the new concrete retaining wall on the south side of the bluff. The building will tower six stories above the bluff and two stories below. The lot is ninety feet wide, but the building will be seventy-eight feet wide. It will be T-shaped, the cross-bar of the T being across the bluff.

The structure will contain 185 apartments, nearly all en suite. Nine out of every ten of the apartments will have an ocean view. It will be modern in every way and in addition will have hot salt water tubs. A life line will be established in front of the apartments and a life guard maintained during the summer months. A feature of the new house is that it is being prepared for the future, containing many conveniences that will be a necessity in apartments a few years hence. The cost of the building will be $140,000.

BIG FUND RAISED.

Today was Southern California Day at the Christian convention and the hot weather did not lessen the interest of the 2000 delegates in the programme. The chief interest was the announcement that the subscriptions taken yesterday for mission work totaled over $5000. State Secretary F. W. Emerson, who has resigned to take the pastorate of the First Christian Church of San Francisco, made his annual report, which showed the total raised last year for missions was $12,114.30.

The indebtedness of the society had been reduced to $2285. The net gain in membership the past year is 963. Long Beach First Church gave the largest per capita for home missions and Covina the largest for foreign missions. Wilshire Boulevard Church has the largest property valuation and also the largest indebtedness. Values of church properties is $276,766.25.

The feature of the addresses was the one made by Mr. D. Clubb of Pomona, the new State secretary, who spoke on "Shirking Responsibility," and said, "Jesus laid to His people the imperative of love to impel to full fidelity the responsibility of evangelization." Other addresses were by the Rev. W. G. Conley of El Centro, W. H. Martin, chaplain of the Whittier Industrial School, J. W. Utter of Glendale, and Rev. Darsie of Hollywood. This afternoon an aid society conference was held, presided over by the Rev. A. C. Smither of Los Angeles.

Tomorrow a symposium of "Pathfinders" will open the session, followed by reports of committees and election and installation of officers. In the afternoon the convention will discuss pastoral problems on church debts, the danger of over-organization, and how to fill the Sunday evening vacuum. In the evening there will be an address by Bruce Brown of Fullerton.

SUBMARINE MODEL.

A model of the Cage submarine which is to be built by the Craig ship company is on exhibition in a local window. The boat itself is to be seventy-five feet long and seven and one-half feet in diameter. It will be of vanadium steel and will be divided into three watertight compartments. The central compartment will be for the crew and passengers. Tanks of oxygen will supply the fresh air needed, while steel tubes will admit the sea water for ballast and submergence. The engine will be locate din the forward compartment. The propellers of the boat are near the prow instead of the stern, thus pulling the boat instead of driving it. This will prevent the boat diving while running at high speed below the water. Working plans are completed and the ship plant only awaits the arrival of steel from the East to begin constructing the vessel.

SHORT NEWS STORIES.

H. C. Bright of Sioux Falls, S. D., was thrown last night as he alighted from an electric car in front of Hotel Virginia. He says the car started up without warning. Several of his teeth were loosened and his arm, elbow and knee, badly bruised. No bones were broken.

A. W. Stell, who made a sensational escape from the County Hospital three months ago while awaiting lunacy proceedings and who went to Mexico, came back yesterday and was recognized by relatives. Today he went in surf bathing and was taken into custody by Constable Hawkins as he left the water.

Pearson Chapman, a member of the United States Geological Survey, who disappeared from the Long Beach Sanitarium yesterday, was picked up by Capt. McCord last night on Redondo avenue and returned to his friends. Mr. Chapman is suffering from a nervous disorder, the result of overwork.

John Naksji and M. Tango, Jap fishermen, were arrested yesterday off the Santa Barbara Islands on complaint of C. B. Linton, who charged them with lobster fishing. They showed fight and it was necessary to bring them here in handcuffs. They were arraigned before Justice Underwood and their trial set for next Monday.

William Gage, the 10-year-old son of D. D. Gage, a Riverside orange grower, while skating down the Locust-avenue incline last night was given a playful push by a companion and fell, suffering a fracture of his right leg.

William Martin dived from the top of the plunge today, and going to the bottom struck his head on the cement floor, cutting his head severely and rendering him unconscious. Plunge guards rescued him and he was given attention in the bath-house emergency hospital.

Clarence Whetzel of Los Angeles was stricken with temporary blindness on the Pike today, due to a kidney trouble, and was taken to Los Angeles for treatment. He also complained of numbness in his limbs, indicating an attack of paralysis.

Postoffice receipts for July were $6205.40, an increase of $696 over the same month last year, or about 10 per cent.

Miss Fay Baumgartner,

Redondo Beach girl, who was the victim of an accident at sea recently and who died yesterday of peritonitis.

DIES A WEEK AFTER ACCIDENT.

Miss Fay Baumgartner Knocked From Launch Apparently Recovers But Succumbs to Peritonitis.

REDONDO BEACH, July 31.—Just a little over a week since her rescue by a friend from death by drowning, Miss Fay Baumgartner of this city died today at noon from peritonitis.

A pathetic feature of the death is the fact that today was the eighteenth anniversary of the birth of the young woman.

Friday, July 21, Miss Baumgartner, while sailing with L. J. Norman in his launch "White Flyer," was the victim of a peculiar accident. As the little boat passed under a hauser of the schooner Anne Campbell, lying at wharf No. 2, Miss Baumgartner's head was struck by the mooring line of the schooner and she was knocked into the water. In falling, she struck her shoulder and back against the stern of the launch.

Frank Palmer, who was on a surf board that was being towed by the launch, promptly swam to the girl, who was rendered unconscious by the fall, and carried her to the side of the launch. She was taken to wharf No. 1 and apparently recovered from the shock in a few minutes, although she complained of her back since the accident.

Wednesday she was taken ill from peritonitis from which death resulted. Although Dr. A. T. Hembree, the attending physician, states that death was not due to the accident, he says it is possible that the young woman was internally injured, although such injury could not be traced by him.

Miss Baumgartner was the only child of Mrs. Lyda Baumgartner, a widow, and lived with her mother in the Dorrington apartments on North Broadway. They came here from Denver, Colo., about eighteen months ago.

The mother is heartbroken over the death of her daughter, as are her many young companions here. Mrs. Baumgartner had scarcely recovered from the shock of witnessing the accident from the wharf when she thought her daughter was drowning. She is now prostrated.

The remains will probably be sent to Denver for burial.

METHODIST YOUNGSTERS.

Today will be long remembered by the youngsters of the Methodist mission at No. 455 East Fifth street, for this was the occasion of the annual picnic of the Mission Sunday-school. About 200 children ranging in age from 5 to 12 years in charge of Superintendent C. C. Street, deaconesses of the Methodist Episcopal Church and Sunday-school teachers came here this morning in a special Pacific Electric train and spent the day romping on the sand, bathing in the plunge and the surf, and having a good time, generally. A big dinner and a ride on the merry-go-round were important events of the day.

POSTAL BANK.

A postal saving department was established in the local postoffice today, in charge of Assistant Postmistress Mrs. S. D. Barkley. The First National Bank of this city will be the depository for the funds.

Owing to the increase of business in the office, which amounts to about $2000 over that of last year, an additional appropriation of $50 a month has been allowed Postmaster Barkley for another postal clerk. In addition to this, the salary of the postmaster has been increased $200 a year and that of the first clerk, Miss Rose Murray, has been increased $192 for the year. The business of the last year amounted to about $11,000.

AVALON.

AVALON, July 31.—Deputy District Attorney Richardson yesterday issued a complaint for the arrest of J. D. McLean of Avalon, who is charged by G. A. Mayland, president of the Freeholders' Improvement Association, with soliciting patronage for a restaurant within 100 feet of the wharf at which the Banning steamers land. A Catalina faction is trying to induce the Supervisors to repeal the county ordinance under which solicitors are forbidden to approach within 200 feet of a public wharf.

COVINA-LORDSBURG ROAD.

Bids in unit figures were received yesterday by the Supervisors for improvement of a section of the Covina-Lordsburg road from F. P. Prendergast, G. A. Rogers, A. C. St. John and P. A. & C. H. Howard. The contract calls for an expenditure of about $56,000. The matter was referred to the Highway Commission, who will report later on it.

Pleasures Felt.

BLIND NEWSIES CAMP GUESTS.

SIGHTLESS ONES ENJOY AN OUTING ON ISLAND.

Having Secured Sufficient Subscriptions They Enter With Zest on Their First Outing, of More than a Day, in Years—Man Engaged by "The Times" Accompanies Them.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

AVALON, July 31.—Among the chattering youngsters who swarmed into The Times' camp today and were enrolled as the eleventh division, were two tall, silent figures, which moved not quite so fast as the rest. They were older than the boys around them, and they differed also in that they looked neither to the right nor to the left. They were blind.

But their faces were as expectant as any in the jostling crowd, and determination to enjoy a care-free vacation was apparent in their active step.

These guests of The Times were Joe Stephens and Will Boller, who, though they never have seen The Times, sell it daily. They are well-known figures to frequenters of Spring street, one of them standing at Sixth and the other at Fifth street. Eager to enjoy the privileges of Catalina as offered by the paper, they secured sufficient subscriptions to obtain admission among the elect, and have entered with zest upon their first outing, of more than a day, in years.

That they might suffer no disadvantage, nor miss the pleasures of Avalon, The Times engaged a man to accompany them during their stay, his sole duty to be to conduct them wherever they wish to go. Stephens and Boller are enthusiastic salt-water bathers, and are as eager as any of the rest to don Mullen & Bluett swimming togs.

On the voyage over Boller entertained a large part of the ship's company with his piano playing. He is a clever pianist, and the camp is anticipating his performances on the Ellers piano in the music tent, "after the sun goes down."

The camp chef has ceased to call "Breakfast!" when that meal is ready. Instead, he calls a shorter, sweeter word, "Germea!" That's all. The boys do the rest. "Germea's ready," they shout to one another, and then the rush for mush is on. Some of the kids want breakfast served earlier, so that they won't have to wait so long to mix their Germea and Silver Cow milk. One meal of this delectable dish, and they all become the sure-enough "sunrise sons."

Another queer thing they say at the table now is "Pass the brad." "Pass the bread" has been converted into "pass the brad," not because a majority of the boys are Scots, or Swedes, or whatever sort of dialect that pronunciation may belong to, but because "Bradford's" has come to mean, for them, bread. "Bradford's Cream bread—delicious loaf colloquially known as 'brad,'" might be entered as a definition in The Times camp dictionary.

Today's arrivals, on hearing a detailed account of Mrs. Galloway's famous goat hunt, expressed an unanimous determination to secure a Catalina kid for camp mascot—and by the grim look on the boys' faces it is to be inferred that that particular kid, wherever in the wild island mountains he may have been bleating at the moment his sentence was pronounced in the Avalon Valley, became on the spot a convert to the theory of predestination. He is predestined to adorn The Times camp, and he must have felt it in his bones when they said so.

The boys of the eleventh division are: Ira O. Well, city; Homer Batson, Everett Hamilton, Norwalk; Walter Winter, Santa Ana; Foster Newton, Armandy Arnez, Solartico Cravello, Atheo Cravello, Fred Zeibig, Jesse Dodge, Uaurattе Foss, city; Glenn DeShields, Glenn Archer, Richard Webb, Ocean Park; Joseph Goss, Ivan Miller, Claude Bowman, Clark McGee, Frank Wall, Julian Lassalette, Richard Granton, James Brenton, city; Robert Reed, Clifford Reed, Wilfred Starnes, Ocean Park; Ben Benioff, city; Errol Wilson, Hollywood; Arthur Cocking, Colton; Myson Hooser, George Martin, Everett Colf, city; Lawrence McDonald, San Bernardino; Claude Peck, Van Nuys; Joe Trompadore, Joe Stephens, Will Boller, George Hall, city; Leo Wilson, Robert Jeffry, Santa Ana; Raymond Kelly, Richard Shulte, city; Charles Jackman, Santa Ana; B. DOING MUCH STREET WORK.

Pomona Citizens Thoroughly Alive to the Advantage of Well-Kept Thoroughfares—News Briefs.

POMONA, July 31.—More street improvement work is being done in this city than ever before. Contractor Ferrell is directing the paving work on Holt avenue, from Park to San Antonio avenues. The resolution of intention for the asphalt paving, which will be constructed from Second street to Orange Grove avenue has passed the City Council and the work will be started soon.

From Orange Grove to Garey avenues an oil macadam roadway will be built and sewer connections will be made on this thoroughfare. The residents and property owners along Holt avenue east from San Antonio avenue to the city limits are interested in securing a paved roadway eighteen feet wide in the middle of the road, to be paid for by themselves, the city to improve the side strips and this work will soon be commenced.

There is also a movement on foot for the paving of First street from Garey avenue to Park avenue, just south of the Salt Lake Railway tracks. At the present time a petition is being circulated among residents and property owners along Fifth avenue, a 100-foot wide thoroughfare, for the paving of this roadway from Garey to White avenue.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. F. B. Miller preached a farewell sermon at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday before a large audience. He will soon leave for Illinois.

John McArthur of this city has traded his house and lot on West Monterey street, this city, for eight and one-half acres of land at Ontario. A. A. Fiske made the deal.

Lester Overholtzer left today for Santa Barbara to accept employment with the Santa Barbara Gas and Electric Company. Overholtzer has been employed here by the Edison Company for some months.

The members of Southern California Commandery, Knights Templar, of this city, went in automobiles to Covina tonight and exemplified the work of conferring the Order of the Temple before Covina Commandery. A banquet and speaking followed the ceremonies.

MUNICIPAL WEDDING SOON.

Secretary of the South Pasadena Chamber of Commerce Says Sentiment Favoring It Is Growing.

SOUTH PASADENA, July 31.—"I expect to see South Pasadena annexed to Los Angeles within the next eighteen months," declared L. L. Washburn, secretary of the South Pasadena Chamber of Commerce.

"I am certain that the majority of South Pasadena would prefer to remain independent, for we will have to pay for our improvements whenever they come; but if we cannot get them alone, as seems to be the case, then we must consolidate. We have been given notice on authority that we would be enjoined from establishing another sewer farm such as Pasadena has. A system which will empty into the ocean is the ultimate solution of the problem. Pasadenans argue that Los Angeles will absorb all this territory in time. It seems to be the idea of many here that if Los Angeles is our ultimate goal, we would better take the short cut. The Los Angeles sentiment is growing, the defection occurring from the ranks of the independents."

A rumor has persistently been kept in circulation during the past few days to the effect that a big tourist hotel will be erected in this city in the near future. It is a well-known fact that a prominent Los Angeles hotel man has been in the city in connection with real estate men, with the intention of making a deal for a large tract of land for the hotel site, somewhere in the vicinity of the Arroyo Seco, which would overlook the entire city for miles. The building of a new Arroyo Seco bridge, which will be in direct connection with Los Angeles and Pasadena is said to have attracted the hotel man to this site, and with the surrounding natural beauty, the parking would be easy.

Ways' Pocket Smelter Company of this city made a shipment of portable smelter outfits to the North Bend Exploration Company, North Borneo. The company was informed by the customhouse officers at San Francisco that this was the first shipment from Southern California into that part of Borneo.

SUFFRAGETTE MAKES REPLY.

WOMAN AT SANTA BARBARA HURLS HER DEFIANCE.

Mrs. Caswell of Los Angeles Is Challenged to Engage in Wordy Combat but She Fails to Answer. Fate of Col. Slosson Seems to Be Settled Adversely.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Woman's Clubhouse was comfortably filled by suffrage enthusiasts this afternoon, when Mrs. Frank P. Deering of San Francisco took the platform to answer the charges made last week by Mrs. George A. Caswell, president of the Marlborough School in Los Angeles and president of the Anti-Suffrage Association of Southern California.

Mrs. Deering took issue with every statement made by Mrs. Caswell and her answers were frequently applauded.

Mrs. Caswell did not attend the meeting, notwithstanding that Mrs. Deering sent when she delivered her anti-discussion on Friday. Mrs. Deering at that challenged Mrs. Caswell for public debate and it was believed maybe the Los Angeles woman would it, but she has not given Mrs. Deering an answer.

Mrs. Deering spoke with emphasis, but was extremely courteous to her opponent. Following Mrs. Deering's address, a local suffrage organization was formed and preparations were made for a strong campaign during the next month.

The fate of Col. Willis M. Slosson, chief forester of the Santa Barbara Forest Reserve, will be settled tomorrow unless the powers above Chief Forester Graves, head of the Forestry Department at Washington, intervene. Graves has notified Slosson that he is to be discharged August 1. Slosson's fight has been taken up by all of the civic organizations in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties, but apparently without success.

Yesterday word was received that former Senator Frank P. Flint had been prevailed upon to take the matter up with both Graves and President Taft. The result is being eagerly awaited here, where Slosson has a legion of friends.

MARRIED THE GIRL.

J. E. McBride went free today from Justice Shoup's court on the charge of having docked a horse's tail. The evidence established that no one had been near enough to the horse to prove that the shortness of the appendage was due to a knife or a barb wire fence or to natural deformity and the horse not being in court, having run away.

The defendant celebrated his dismissal by hurrying to the Courthouse and securing a marriage license, being married a few hours later to Miss Margaret Venenzuella.

Charles T. Leeds, captain of the United States Corps of Engineers, with headquarters at Los Angeles, has notified Santa Barbara that her hopes for the government establishing a harbor and breakwater here are to be blasted unless the matter is otherwise decided by the authorities in Washington.

Capt. Leeds investigated the local conditions and the following is a part of his report:

The commerce is apparently not sufficient to warrant improvement by the United States. Records of the United States Life Saving Service do not seem to show any need of a harbor of refuge.

Applications for further information concerning the portions of the report bearing upon the question of worthiness should be made to this office.

COLTON.

COLTON, July 31.—Men are being sent from Colton to fight the fire in the San Bernardino mountains. Those who have families and friends camping in the mountains are much worried as to their safety, as it is stated all means of communication are cut off, as are all avenues of escape. The streets here are covered with ashes from the fire and excitement is at a high pitch. Devil Canyon, which has not as yet been threatened, was full of picnickers yesterday, although many were turned back.

LIGHHTNING HITS WOMAN.

Bolt from Clear Sky Ignites House Which Burns Near Bakersfield.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lightning from a clear sky struck the home of Joseph Valliers, four miles north of Buena Vista reservoir, rendered his wife unconscious and fired the house. Valliers was standing out at the barns at the time the bolt struck. Rushing to the house, he carried his wife outside to the well, where she was revived. In the meantime the fire had obtained a start in the house and the place was in ashes fifteen minutes later.

The phenomenon is said to have been experienced but two or three times before in the history of the county and Valliers is certain there was no cloud in the sky at the time of the flash.

"I was standing out by the barn and my wife was in the house," said Valliers, "when suddenly I saw a streak of flame come out of the sky and strike the house. The lightning was so blinding that I was dazed for a moment before I knew enough to start for the house and save my wife, whom I found unconscious on the floor."

PLAN CARNIVAL DURING AUGUST.

ANAHEIM KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS BEHIND THE AFFAIR.

Five Days of Festivity Are Officially Programmed and a Queen Will Be Chosen to Dominate the Situation—Walnut Crop Promises Greater Returns than Expected.

ANAHEIM, July 31.—Under the auspices of the Anaheim Company, uniform rank of Knights of Pythias, a street fair and carnival is to be held at Anaheim beginning Tuesday, August 15, and continuing throughout the week. The amusement attractions will be in charge of the California Carnival Company, which has just finished handling the attractions at the San Diego celebration.

A parade of exhibits by the merchants and industries of the city will be a special feature of one day and a monster parade of the Knights of Pythias on another day. In addition to this, each of the leading surrounding towns will have a special day devoted to it.

The five days' festivities will be presided over by a queen and her selection will be an interesting feature. Details regarding the choosing of a queen have not been completed, but it has been decided that any unmarried lady over the age of eighteen will be eligible to this honor. This carnival promises to be the largest affair ever held in the city of Anaheim.

BEET SLICING.

Slicing of beets at the new Anaheim Sugar Factory began today. Fourteen carloads of beets have already been received at the factory. The raw material is now coming in at a good rate, and Manager Hadsell says there will be an abundant supply.

The factory will be kept running day and night for the next two months. Two shifts of men have been employed to handle the Northern Orange county beet crop.

WALNUT CROP.

Within two months the walnut growers of Orange county will begin to harvest a crop which promises to be one of the best for many years, quantity, quality and price considered. The trees of Orange county orchards are loaded to the limit with nuts, and this crop is going to do its full share toward making this year a banner year in all lines of agriculture.

J. B. Neff, the prominent walnut grower, who is also connected with the State Agricultural Department as a lecturer and conductor of farmers' institutes, has just returned from a trip through the walnut sections of the State. Mr. Neff states as a result of his observations, that the crops throughout the State will be from 5 to 10 per cent. larger than last year, and of a greatly superior quality. As a usual thing he found trees and nuts in a fine condition.

RIVERSIDE MEN WILL INVEST.

The Rich Valley Surrounding Mecca Presents Attractive Possibilities to Men With Money and Energy.

MECCA, July 31.—There is considerable talk of a Riverside group of monied men buying one of the sandy sections northeast from Mecca and putting it all into a Malaga grape vineyard. The high prices received for the valley grapes, owing to their fine quality and earliness, makes a vineyard a most substantial investment.

The high mark of $2000 an acre net from some of the vineyards this year makes a sound dear to the heart of the big orange profit-taking Riverside crowd and it is expected that many others there will investigate the valley as to its possibilities in dates, oranges and cotton, as well as the grapes.

S. C. McPheeters, one of the onion kings of this year's crop, already has a well crew to work on his ranch in section 30 putting down a well. Walter Ransom, the new owner of the Oasis orange ranch, Cutler ranch and section 17, has purchased a rig outright, and will have some twenty new wells put down on his holdings. The cotton gin company in section 36, north of town, propose to put down a shallow well on each forty acres and utilize their gin engine to generate electricity, which latter will be used for pumping purposes.

The company will plant their entire holdings not taken up with dates to cotton next year. The date groves will have cotton planted between the rows. It is highly probable that Holt of Imperial Valley fame, who has bought and been operating the Coachella ice plant, will arrange for the generating of electric power to be sold to the surrounding ranches for pumping purposes this winter.

Mecca is to have a sixty-ton a day capacity ice plant. Plans and capital have already been arranged. Full particulars will be told at an early date.

They got away about 4 o'clock.

JAPANESE POOLROOM RAIDED.

Redlands Officers Take Gamblers in Tow and Confiscate Liquors Found in a Blind Pig.

REDLANDS, July 31.—Two Japanese poolrooms on Central avenue were raided last night by three officers, and six gamblers arrested, while at the Yamato Company's headquarters a blind pig was in full swing. Many quarts of wine were confiscated, and the manager arrested. The two proprietors, were forced to put up $25 bail each, while the gamblers put up $10 each, guaranteeing their appearance before Justice McIver tomorrow morning.

Garrick Symmes received word Saturday that he had been declared the winner of the gold medal, offered to the members of the freshman class of the University of Southern California Dental College, for the best work in "Prosthtic Technique." Mr. Symmes also received the highest percentage of all the students in his class.

YIELDS TO LEAGUE.

Methodist Camp Meeting at Huntington Beach Yesterday Morning Devoted to Epworth Programme.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 31.—The morning at the Methodist camp meeting was devoted to the Epworth League programme, which included a rally meeting of the young people directed by Rev. Charles Scott of Pasadena, a talk by Mrs. May Brown, formerly a missionary in China, who will later discuss foreign missions, and by Miss Lulu McMillan of San Francisco, who is to tell of home missions, in the programme for the week.

Rev. Oren B. Waite of Los Angeles sopke if Sunday-school methods. Representatives from nearly every city in Southern California were present at the morning session. Rev. F. G. H. Stevens of Pasadena will be in charge of the Epworth League work.

Rev. Dr. Marcus D. Buell of Boston lectured this afternoon to a large audience on the epistles. Later, sports of all kinds, including tennis, baseball and swimming in the surf served to add interest to the day's programme. A launch ride to Balboa is programmed for Saturday afternoon.

The choir has been increased to 100 persons and is led by Evangelist C. P. Curry.

BULLET IN BACK PROVES FATAL.

SANTA ANA MAN SUCCUMBS TO MURDEROUS ATTACK.

Slayer Is at Large and Officers Have no Clew to His Whereabouts. Girl Drying Her Hair Falls Out of Window and Sustains Serious Injuries.

SANTA ANA, July 31.—By the death of Jesus Cortez at a local hospital this morning, Cruz Trejo, a fugitive, became a murderer. On July 2 Trejo fired a bullet into Cortez's back. Trejo escaped, probably to Mexico. Cortez was taken to the hospital, where it was found that the bullet had struck the backbone. Gangrene set in in the leg and back, and this morning Cortez died.

Cortez made a dying statement in which he declared that Trejo's enmity toward him grew out of the fact that Cortez would not give Trejo the last drink there was in a brandy bottle. That was two weeks before the shooting. Trejo tried to stab Cortez at that time.

On the afternoon of July 2 the two men met at a handball court. Cortez is said to have thrown a rock at Trejo, and had turned away to leave when he was shot in the back. Trejo's brother, Mariano, escaped with him, but not before Cortez's brother, Miguel, had struck Trejo over the head with a beer bottle.

GIRL FELL OUT.

Miss Hattie Simmons, office girl in the office of Dr. J. I. Clark, city health officer, is in the Santa Ana Hospital suffering from a score of cuts and bruises received in a fall from a window of the Rutgers lodging-house. The girl had washed her hair and was sitting in the window drying it when she fell over backward. She went through the glass of a skylight into the implement room of William F. Lutz & Co., where she landed upon the blades of a disc plow. The screams of the girl and the crash of the skylight brought instant help. The little finger of the girl's left hand had to be amputated. Her right hand was slashed and a deep cut across the chin were among the cuts inflicted. The girl's hair was a partial protection to her head and face.

DAMAGE SUITS.

In the Superior Court today began one of the six damage suits broughtt by local ranchers against the Pacific Electric as a result of the overflowing of the Santa Ana River at the Pacific Electric bridge west of here on January 1, 1909. The plaintiff in the case on trial today is E. L. House, who asks judgment for $6825. Other ranchers ask judgment aggregating $30,000. The contention in each case is the same. The rancher declares that the bridge caught and held debris, which the railway company in spite of warnings did not take any steps to keep cleared. Sand piled against the debris, and soon there was a bank in front of the bridge, and the river was turned out of its banks, both to the east and to the west, thus reaching lands not ordinarily subject to overflow. House asks $3825 damages to celery, alfalfa, trees and berries and $3000 damages to land.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Jose Modena, a Mexican burglar, today was sentenced to five years San Quentin, after pleading guilty to robbing a room at the Chamness House on June 8. Modena was a member of a gang of Mexican thieves who operated here and in Los Angeles. Constable Jackson has a large amount of plunder recovered at Modena's room.

A burglar entered an open window at the residence of J. H. Edwards, No. 715 Spurgeon street, last night and stole $12 and a pair of opera glasses.

Lloyd Perry, a brick mason, was injured by a Huntington Beach car last night. Perry was attempting to board it when he was thrown against the car, cutting a gash over his eye while one foot was thrown beneath a wheel, which cut off three of the man's toes.

Theodore B. Simmons, aged 72, almost deaf, a Colegrove farmer, and Augusta Krantz, aged 71, were married here today by Justice Cox, and then spent two hours in a vain effort to get courthouse officials and newspaper reporters to keep the marriage from the public for thirty days. The woman gave Los Angeles as her residence. It was her third marriage, and she became Simmons' second wife. In the negotiations seeking secrecy, Mrs. Simmons did the talking. The courthouse officials informed her that the records were public, and could be seen by anyone who wished to see them.

Marriage licenses: Herbert B. Stedman, 28, of San Francisco, and L. Margarett Cottrell, 22, of Los Angeles; Frederick J. Growther, 24, and Bertha E. Hays 24, both of Los Angeles; Joseph H. BURNED ONLY A FEW POLES.

Fire Started by a Couple of Careless Boys in San Antonio Canyon Easily Quelled.

UPLAND, July 31.—Shortly after noon yesterday an alarm of fire was sounded in this city, and it was found to be a call for men to go to the mouth of San Antonio Canyon, to assist in fighting a stiff blaze, which is supposed to have been started by a couple of careless boys, either with firecrackers or matches.

Out of fifteen members of the Upland Volunteer Fire Department, twelve of the men went to the scene of the fire, and assisted by others, perhaps a hundred in all, succeeded in controlling the flames, which did not get beyond the first range of hills.

There was a dense pall of smoke, and under this the red blaze of the fire could be plainly seen from this city. The only damage resulting from the fire, so far as reported here, this morning, was the burning of a few poles of the Sierra Power Company, and these were soon replaced.

That the fire was so easily controlled was very fortunate, for there was quite a stiff breeze from the southwest, at the time, and had the flames succeeded in going over the first range of hills, they might have had easy access to San Antonio Canyon proper. Many people are located at Camp Baldy, and first reports here caused some to fear for the safety of friends at the resort.

Scrutiny.

GRAND JURY FIRE HITS COUNTY CLERKS' FEES.

IN A partial report covering the investigation of the various county offices made yesterday the grand jury take sa shot at incumbent County Clerk Harry Lelande and former County Clerk Charles G. Keyes for retaining naturalization fees when a grave doubt exists in the mind of the District Attorney as to the legality of doing so. The conduct of the office of the District Attorney receives warm commendation of the jurors.

In the introduction to its report the grand jury says: "It is sufficient, however, for this grand jury to say that the county offices of Los Angeles county are found to be in splendid shape; that there is no hint of irregularities to be found outside of what is mentioned in the detailed reports, and that these county officers are doing their very best to serve the public honestly and at the height of efficiency. This cannot be put too strongly. The county offices for the past year, shown in all reports and business done, have been subjected to painstaking scrutiny. The grand jury has some suggestions to offer, but nothing but commendation for the spirit of the officers and the esprit-de-corps of the subordinates throughout the county building."

COUNTY CLERK UNDER FIRE.

In a section which bears particularly on the office of the County Clerk the report says:

"The grand jury had also made a thorough investigation of all fees paid county officials over and above their regular salary. We found that there is a grave doubt as to the legality of county clerks retaining a portion of the naturalization fees for their own use. This question is now in the court of last resort, and we have deemed it wise that, until this matter is finally adjudicated, these fees should be kept separate from all other funds.

"Upon our advice the fees so collected for naturalization therefor since the induction into office of County Clerk H. J. Lelande, amounting at the time of making this report to $333, have been placed with the County Treasurer, to remain as an undisturbed fund. A like procedure has been taken by the former County Clerk, Mr. Keyes, and through our negotiations and investigations the sum of $2549.15 has been placed in escrew by Mr. Keyes at the Farmers' & Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles. All fees accruing from this source collected by the present County Clerk will be held by the County Treasurer, pending the decision of the courts on this question."

The report recites that the chairman of the Finance Committee of the grand jury addressed a letter to former County Clerk Keyes, asking him to pay into the county treasury the fees in question. The report quotes a letter received from Keyes in response. The letter says: "I held these fees on the theory that they belong to the Clerk and not to the county, and am awaiting a final decision of this question in the case of S. F. City and County vs. Muriserevy, County Clerk, now on appeal to the Supreme Court." The letter presents a statement of the collections and says:

"I now hold subject to the final ruling of the Supreme Court on this question $2549.15. As evidence of the fact that I do not intend to force the county to bring suit to compel me to account for this money, I have deposited this amount as a special deposit with the Farmers' & Merchants' National Bank, this city, with instructions to hold the same until the determination by the Supreme Court of the question, and if such decision is adverse to the clerk, to pay the same out only upon check, payable to the County Treasurer of Los Angeles county. I do this simply as an evidence of good faith, calling your attention to the fact that I have a first-class surety company bond for $25,000 on file, covering all my official acts done and collections made by me during my term as County Clerk and collectable for three and a half years yet.

"Referring to your quotation from opinion of District Attorney, I would say that such opinion is not conclusive, but simply advisory, and may be good and may not, which will be determined by the court of last resort."

"Mr. Lelande, the present County Clerk," the report says, "has deposited with the County Treasurer his check for $333.30 (retained by him on account of naturalization fees) to be held subject to the Supreme Court decision in the case mentioned."

"Although working under a handicap of 30 per cent. increase in the amount of business transacted during the past two years," says the report, "the former County Clerk conducted the office in a satisfactory manner. The amount of collections, $85,000.50, properly accounted for, and the money held by him as custodian, $8,832.68, was turned over to his successor January 3, 1911."

NEED OF SECRECY.

Speaking of the District Attorney's office the report says:

"There are some suggestions which might be made at this time concerning county procedure in relation to the District Attorney's office, and one vital matter is that of keeping strict secrecy from every source of the movements of the District Attorney's secret service men. The office reports that in former years it has been hampered by the publicity which accompanies the paying of demands for services rendered by these men. It is therefore suggested that the secret service men be allowed to accept salary and expense demands on the county through a system of numbers; that every man be known only by number and not by name. This system has been in an experimental stage for a year, and the District Attorney declares that it is thoroughly practicable, and increases the efficiency of the man."

"The excellent condition of the County Jail," says the report, speaking of the Sheriff, "the general air of neatness and cleanliness apparent, and the feeding of the prisoners, all show the careful scrutiny of detail given this department by the present incumbent. The affairs of the Sheriff's office proper receive the same careful attention and the accounts are kept in a painstaking and creditable manner."

AUDITOR'S BUSINESS GROWS.

"The Legislature at its last session allowed the County Auditor an increase in his official staff and he now has an auditing department that will be of signal service to the county; the intention being to audit the books of the county offices monthly, work that owing to lack of clerical help was not attempted previously.

"This office being practically the clearinghouse, as well as the bookkeeping department of the county, furnishes the best means of showing the increase in the business of the county. The number of warrants issued during 1909 was 71,885; while in 1910 they numbered 99,018; increase, 27,133."

BURDEN OF REMITTANCES.

The report gives statistics of the office of the County Tax and License Collector, and, with respect to that office, also says:

"Although taxes are supposed to be paid at the office there were received 42,501 letters containing remittances, in addition to 26,517 letters requesting information or bills, an increase of 25 per cent. over the previous year. This work, while a great convenience to the public, requires the employment of a clerical force largely in excess of what would otherwise be needed. The several departments are under the immediate supervision of the Tax Collector himself, whose experience during twelve years' service in this office makes him familiar with all the details."

UNNERVED BY SUDDEN FLASH, MURDERER COLLAPSES.

Declares to Court He Killed Wine Merchant, then Fled in Terror, Haunted by Deed—Third Man Admits Part in Plot, but Fourth Denies Any Connection.

The subtleness of twilight and the sudden weird blaze of a gas jet were more effective yesterday afternoon in bringing out the confessions of a murderer than the questioning and cross-examination of the police in several days.

Joseph Nelski, charged with the killing of J. A. Pressman, was on the witness stand in Police Judge Williams's court. Questions had been asked and answered and Deputy District Attorney Shannon was just about to permit Nelski to leave the chair when the bailiff realized that court would not adjourn until after dark, and that light would be needed.

He applied a match to a jet near the witness stand. As the rays fell across Nelski's face he shuddered. The unsteady light sent flickering shadows about the courtroom, causing the faces of the court and the prosecutor to appear uncanny.

"My God!" exclaimed Nelski. "It was like that!" A tremor passed over his body. Then throwing his hand to his forehead to shield the light from his eyes he exclaimed: "Yes, I killed him! I killed him!"

Nelski fell limply back in his chair and gazed first at Judge Williams and then at Attorney Shannon.

STORY OF SHOOTING.

Neither made a sign for they could see Nelski had broken down. The accused man told the story of the murder without being urged.

DEATH STAYS LAW'S COURSE.

ABSCONDER WANTED HERE DIES IN ACAPULCO.

Debonair Bank Teller and Clubman Who Took Other People's Money With Him When He Went on a Vacation Is Reported to Have Passed Away.

Wilson B. Evans, a teller in the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, who absconded last September with about $20,000 of the institution's funds, and who was later captured by detectives seeking the dynamiters of the Times Building, died in Acapulco, Friday, according to dispatches which reached the city yesterday. No details were given and there is doubt in some quarters as to the authenticity of the report.

Evans left the city ostensibly to take his annual vacation September 17. He was to be given two weeks. The first intimation the officials of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank had that something was wrong with his accounts was when he failed to return to his work.

A cursory examination of his books showed him to be a few hundred dollars short. A more careful examination showed that amounts ranging from $100 to $500 were short in some of the accounts. Then expert accountants were set at work. The result was the large figure finally charged against him.

Before leaving, Wilson said that he was going to San Francisco and would join an expedition to hunt big game in the Sierras. The detectives at once telegraphed to San Francisco, but found that he had not been seen there by any person who knew him.

South America was deemed the next retreat which he would probably hasten to and the pursuit tourned southward. Then came the Times Building disaster and for a time Evans was lost sight of. A schooner scudding south along the Pacific Coast attracted attention and word was telegraphed along the coast to intercept her wherever possible and search for the dynamiters.

At Acapulco the craft was boarded by Mexican officers. Evans, the debonair clubman, was found dressed in sailor's togs loafing about the deck. He was closely questioned and told a tale of having worked about Pacific wharves for three years. His effects were searched and beneath the assumed initials of "A. D. B." could be faintly read "W. B. E."

In a valise was found $10,920 of the bank's money. A sailor, giving the name of Harry Ham, claimed the money, saying he had won it on the Jeffries-Johnson fight.

Evans was placed in a Mexican Federal jail pending extradition, and preparations were made to bring him back when the report of his death came.

English Visitor in Los Angeles Says Styles Here Are Much Like Those in Great Britain.

W. A. Charles of London registered late yesterday evening at the Angelus. When called upon, he was just about ready to retire, but with unusual good fellowship for an Englishman, offered to allow an interview. Charles is sales manager for one of the extensive shoe, or rather as he put it "boot" factories of England.

Everything in the shoe line is "boots" with him. "Our company is just invading the American market with ladies' boots," he stated "Despite the tariff, the cost of shipping and maintenance of American offices, we are able to put a superior quality of boots into this country to much of the American make. Your people are following English styles very closely at present and for that reason we find a ready demand for our products."

Tariff Troubles Cut Cost of Tailoring

President of Large Los Angeles Firm Wires Startling Instructions to His Local Manager from the Great Metropolis.

Walter de Groot, manager of Eisner & Company's establishment at 407-9-11 S. Spring st., yesterday reported the following important telegram from Mr. I. Eisner, president of the company, who is now in New York.
"Make room for the largest purchase of woolens Eisner establishment ever made. Big Eastern mills unloading on account of pending tariff legislation and depressed business conditions caused thereby. Am getting the best snaps ever offered in America. Prepare to receive these goods by closing out everything you possibly can at reduced prices."
Acting on Mr. Eisner's instructions, the entire line of splendid materials for men's suits embracing all the newest novelties in grays, tans and brown mixtures, rich, plain blues and blacks, and all the staple weaves in all grades and weights, will be on sale tomorrow at $24.75 and $29.75—the former price includes all suits regularly sold at $35, $32.50 and $30, while at $29.75 everything at $40, $43.50, $45 and $50 will be included. Only the best linings and trimmings will be used, and the workmanship will be of the highest possible character.
For the benefit of non-patrons, we will say that the Eisner Company makes clothing of the very highest class. There is not a cheap piece of cloth in the Eisner store, and whether you pay $24.75 or $29.75 for a suit to order, you will get a genuine bargain. Eisner & Company announces that these fabrics at reduced prices will be on sale today at 407-9-11 South Spring street. See them in the windows.

WEAR SKIRTS, PANTIES, TOO.

Beach Law Hits Naughty Men Bathers.

"Nothingness" Costumes Are Barred, Also Hugs.

Legs Must Be Veiled, So the Council Ordains.

Not to be outdone by any of the other beach resorts, picturesque, progressive Santa Monica has arisen in her wrath and determined to swat the pesky bather who has taken advantage of her inattention and lolled about the long stretches of white sand in a covering that would make the suit of Eve made for Adam appear cumbersome and heavy.

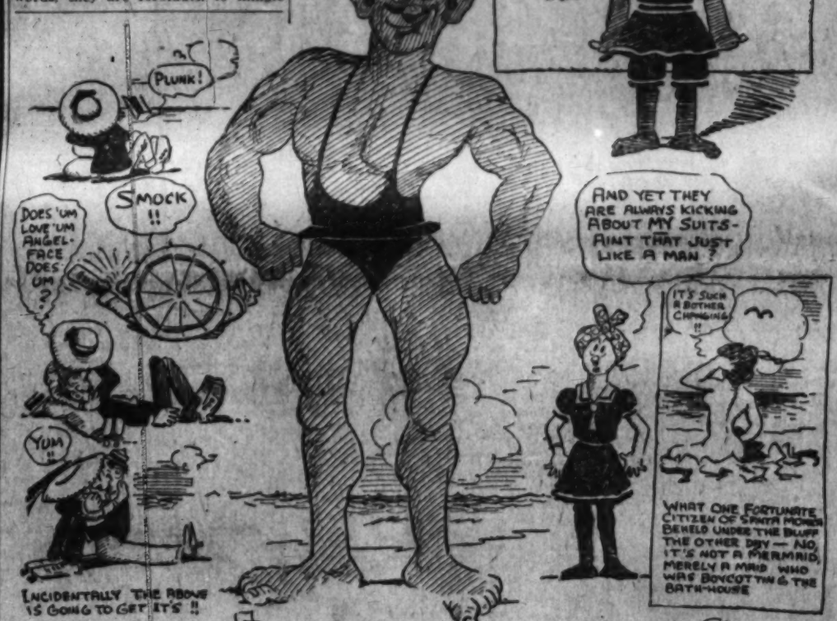
The official fiat went forth last night that hereafter men bathers must wear skirts. That is, the bathing suit they wear must have a skirt to it. And it must also have panties that reach to the knee, and it must have shoulders to it that cover the shoulders. Furthermore the bathers must not go to the beach from their homes or from the bath-house without wearing a covering from shoulder to heel.

This is bad enough for the young Apollos who pose about the beach—it is even worse than that. They shall also never spoon on the beach, and they shall never playfully seize their fellow bathers and roll, hug, wrestle, or disport themselves in an unseemly manner not pertinently connected with bathing. In plain words, they are forbidden to mingle the bath dress, and there is little opposition to the present garments.

Santa Monica beach, which is one of the most attractive on the South Coast, has been rather secluded owing to the high palisades and this is given as the reason for the freedom from convention observed by the bathers, and also as a cause why many of the young so-called sports make it their bathing headquarters, knowing the lack of attention paid by the better element of Santa Monica to their actions.

Mayor Dudley, who is also president of the bath-house, said that a patrolman stationed on the beach could do a great deal toward breaking up practices which are objectionable. Rev. Mr. Wentworth was of the opinion that such is the case, and urged that action be taken. The Councilmen complained of the lack of funds.

Rev. Mr. Wentworth stated that he had received a total of sixty letters from Santa Monica residents complaining against the bathing suits worn by the men. He told of an instance where a big, husky fellow with a mere nothing of a bathing suit covering his hairy limbs, had come into the little park at North Beach and accosted a girl he did not know. A stranger passing by saw him and interfered, forcing the hairy, almost-naked rascal to run down the steps to the beach and into the surf.



Santa Monica Will Have No More of This.

Some reasons why the seaside City Council passed an ordinance last night requiring male bathers to wear more than Adam needed in his day. Gee-string bathing suits and beach spooning are officially taboo.

familiarly with each other while loi- ing on the warm sands.

Yesterday an ordinance was presented to a committee-of-the-whole meeting of the City Council of Santa Monica in which the foregoing conditions were set forth and especially stipulated and last night the Council passed it. The ordinance is the result of a mass meeting of the good folk of Santa Monica held at the Methodist Church, immediately adjoining the City Hall. Rev. Charles Wentworth, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting. He also presented the new ordinance at yesterday's meeting of the Council.

He has been the leader in the earnest protest made by the good folk of Santa Monica against the habits both of a personal nature and of a cloth nature of the bathers.

H. J. Haynes of Santa Monica has also taken an active part in the crusade against the bathers' garb—or lack of garb—and was at the meeting as a strong backer of Rev. Mr. Wentworth. The two men recited their experiences when gathering specific data on the subject to present to the Council.

SHOCKS—AND MORE.

Yesterday morning, Haynes stated, he saw a young woman walk up the beach past his home, and noting that she was carrying a small bundle, he watched her curiously. She selected a secluded spot, but still within the range of vision of Haynes. She carefully deposited her small bundle on the sand and then deliberately disrobed down to the "altogether." She shook herself pleasantly in the brisk sea breeze and then opening her bundle, removed her bathing suit, which she donned and hied herself to the surf.

Haynes also stated that he had emerged from his front door getting ready to sprinkle his lawn when he saw a young man and a young woman lying locked in each other's arms and oblivious to the world. Haynes hurriedly connected his hose with the faucet and turned the stream full upon them broke up the party.

Stories were told of how young men don suits that consist of practically nothing but a gauzy bandage about the groin and a cloth pair of suspenders from the waist over the shoulders and then promenade about among the young ladies who are picnicking on the beach.

The costumes of the women bathers have withstood the test of the backers of the movement for an alteration in Sea Front Battle.

GOING TO SUE FOR PORT FILL.

City to Lay Claim to the Miner Concession.

Adversaries in the Litigation View Big Work.

Many Kinks Prospective in Coming Contest.

Adversaries in a legal battle for a prize worth $1,000,000 journeyed as companions to Los Angeles Harbor yesterday to make an inspection of the boon that both seek. One is the city of Los Angeles, represented officially, and the other is the Outer Harbor Dock and Storage Company, known better as the Miner concession, also represented officially. The Outer Harbor company is a subsidiary of the gigantic Union Oil Company.

That litigation is coming between these powerful parties became certain when the Harbor Committee of the Council met yesterday afternoon and adopted a recommendation that the City Attorney at once institute suit to forfeit the franchise of the dock company for all the area known in harbor geography and hydrography as the "Miner fill." This recommendation will be presented to the Council today and is expected to be adopted.

City Attorney Shenk and Leslie R. Hewitt, special harbor counsel, are prepared to file the complaint probably within a week or two. It will hold that the granting of two-thirds of the valuable concession is invalid because at the time the city of San Pedro, since consolidated with Los Angeles, had no valid jurisdiction.

The Outer Harbor company will defend its title, officers of the company say, and they feel confident that the city cannot maintain its contention.

The visit of the adversaries as companions to the scene yesterday was an informal preliminary of the suit. The company has built jetties of stone and sheet piling and they must be protected with rip-rap or the value of this work may be lost while litigation is pending. At its meeting yesterday the Harbor Committee decided that the city officials should ignore this phase of the controversy until after suit has been begun, the Outer Harbor company presents its request for a stipulation in the regular way. And therein hangs one of the big hinges of the case.

WANTS STIPULATION.

The company has been at work two years and has spent, according to some of its officers, about $500,000 in dredging and building the 1600 feet of dock that is now ready for ocean commerce—and is handling some of it. If suit is filed next week it may, in a proceeding in equity, [illegible] and compensation for all its improvements if the city should win. [illegible] all amounts expended after [illegible] it may expect nothing. It is desired to have a stipulation [illegible] the rip-rapping necessary to [illegible] work half done from going [illegible] The city can consent to [illegible] other continuance of work [illegible] prejudice to the claims for [illegible] tion.

that the franchise being illegal, the company is a trespasser and its improvements are forfeited, but the officials do not assert that the purpose is to win the suit and get the costly improvements to boot, gratis. They say the area of submerged land to be recovered is of such value that its worth ten years from now, after the Panama canal traffic is making the port, will be many millions. The improvements, they say, are the least important part of the suit.

The city's victory is regarded by its officials as a strategic necessity for the Miner fill is the most important portion of the outer harbor. It is parallel with and four hundred feet distant from the Huntington concession, now forfeited to the city and in its undisputed possession, and which is along the west bank of the harbor channel. The Miner fill is 1400 feet wide and to its west is the 146 acres now owned by the city and the reserved area of the United States government of forty-six acres. All these areas when improved will fill the outer harbor in the shelter of the government breakwater with safe anchorage or moorage in at least thirty feet of water. They are right inside the Gateway of the Pacific and its traffic curve and may be used without pilots' services.

CITY OFFICIALS' THEORY.

It is the theory of the city officials that, even if compensation must be paid for the improvements, the city should acquire the Miner fill and its improvements, which are nearing completion, and which will at once put the city in possession of ample municipal provisions for commerce for the next three years. By that time the improvements on the Huntington concession may be carried to completion. The two will furnish about seven miles of docks for the commerce of the world.

And that means a lot. It means that forty-one Olympics—the largest and longest steamship—could ride to their moorings without pilot in Los Angeles harbor. It means that eighty battleships, such as Admiral Evans brought around the Horn three years ago to San Pedro, could do the same. And it means that there, only a sea step from the ocean highways, more than 200 crafts of the different sizes of trade, could lie at their docks, receiving and discharging cargoes. It means scores of big, busy warehouses, scores of moving electric and steam trains to and from the wharves and the transformation of San Pedro into a city of tens of thousands. If the municipality controls all these outer harbor facilities it means immense revenues to maintain and enlarge the harbor.

Although the Miner fill docks have been open to commerce only eight weeks the receipts from wharfage and dockage and storage have paid two monthly pay rolls of the company in continuing its work full blast. Its pay rolls average $3500 each month.

Those who made up the party of adversaries were Councilmen Betkouski, Stewart and Andrews, of the Harbor Committee, City Attorney Shenk and Senator Hewitt, City Engineer Hamlin and Harbor Engineer Vincent, representing the city, and Robert Watchorn, vice-president, L. M. Andrews, counsel and Gervaise Purcell, engineer of the Outer Harbor Company and W. L. Soleau, representing the Union Oil Company.

Capt. Randolph H. Miner, president of the company, is now abroad.

LOOKS IMMENSE.

The party was taken from the traction terminal at San Pedro to the work in the company's power boat and the whole nature of the improvements and their construction explained. The achievements of the company are impressive. Its dock is sixty feet wide and is supported by four rows of solid concrete piles, fifty feet long, each reinforced with eight internal half-inch steel rods. These piles are driven ten feet in the bottom and stand in thirty feet of water at low tide. The finished portion is 1600 feet long, facing the east channel, and is supported on the west by rock filling. This dock for its whole length is equipped with railway and it also has a railway on the west below its grade so that loading may be done in cars over horizontal gangways. Warehouses are finished and in them are nitrates and bone meal, enough for several cargoes, in storage pending sale and shipment. All this wharfage is to be duplicated on the west and the warehouses are so constructed that they now represent halves only.

North of this dock and wharf, between it and the mainland, the dredges have recovered about fifty acres by filling and it is a part of the area that will be occupied in a few years by warehouses and hum with industry. It was originally intended that the whole concession, which expends into the bay 3000 feet and is 1400 feet wide, should be so filled, but since Robert Watchorn became officially connected with the work this has been changed. He deems such a land area too great for the amount of water frontage it would have so he suggested that slips be cut in from the west side—cut is a misnomer because to "cut in" the filling must not be done—to increase the dockage capacity. By thus reducing the filled area Watchorn gained 4800 feet of dock room, nearly a mile, increasing the useful frontage from 9200 to 14,000 feet. This also possesses economy, for it will cost less to do this than it would to fill the area. Because of the value of this suggestion the company has named the two slips "Watchorn Basin."

The improvements so far are mostly in the middle section of the concession. The 1600-foot dock is to be carried 1200 feet further out at about 300 feet width and will supply dockage on both sides, thus bringing freight handling within the 150-foot distance which is regarded as the economic standard.

ALL TEREDO PROOF.

All this dockage is teredo proof. In the Pacific the teredo is the enemy of the wooden pile and makes its life short and replacement expensive. The concrete pile is impervious to this dreaded boring insect. But the concrete is not resilient like the wood and it has been protected with a wooden buffer, eighteen inches from the dock line, which is to absorb all the shock of the contact with big vessels. Triple steel springs every eight feet, between the buffer and the dock are to be the secret of success in this buffer scheme. But the whole construction is neither novel nor experimental. It is of the same character that has been thoroughly tested in Atlantic ports, where the fear is not of the teredo, for it is unknown there, but of the chemical action of the waters, an action not possessed by the Pacific. Concrete is solving both problems. The ships that have tried the Miner shock absorber have vindicated the expectations placed on it.

GRAND JURY CALLS EARL.

Investigation to Be Made of His Alleged Threats Against Councilmen.

E. T. Earl, owner of Home Telephone stock, and publisher of the "Wall," who is alleged to have attempted to intimidate Councilmen, by threats and otherwise, to stand out for higher rates for the Home service, will have the pleasure of telling the grand jury about it. That body appears to take a lively interest and wants all the information it can get on the subject.

According to the District Attorney's officers, scores of letters, all voicing the public opinion that Earl's part, or attempted part, in the telephone-rate fixing needs investigation, have reached the grand jury, and action was decided upon yesterday. Earl was subpoened to appear on Thursday morning, when the jury will reconvene, and Councilmen O'Brien, Andrews and Gregory were called for the same time.

It is the expressed opinion of the District Attorney's deputies that Earl's efforts to influence Councilmen require special scrutiny, and that his threats carried an odor of finality that is criminal. The investigation, under Deputies Horton and Keetch, is to be pressed to the limit to get at the plain facts. It is believed some of the Councilmen, called as witnesses, will make interesting statements.

EARL VIOLATES THE PENAL CODE, TRYING TO GET OUT OF PILLORY.

In trying to wiggle from the public pillory in which he has been painfully placed by the exposure of his transactions with the City Council as to the Home Telephone Company's rates, Publisher E. T. Earl yesterday perpetrated through his agents a penal offense, for which the criminal code of California provides a five years' term in the penitentiary.

The crime is commonly known as "wire-tapping" and many a man has been sent to prison for it. This case cannot escape the attention of the courts.

Earl published in his newspapers yesterday copies of telegrams passing between the manager and managing editor of the Herald, which he boasted had been taken in passage by those having no right to do so and disposed of to him (Earl.) It is a crime to take others' messages from telegraph or telephone or to make use of them if taken by any person. The law of California is very explicit. We quote from the code:

Sec. 619. DISCLOSING CONTENTS OF TELEGRAPHIC OR TELEPHONIC MESSAGES. Every person who willfully discloses the contents of a telegraphic or telephonic message, or any part thereof, addressed to another person, without the permission of such person, unless directed so to do by the lawful order of a court, is punishable by imprisonment in the State prison not exceeding five years, or in the County Jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 640. CLANDESTINELY LEARNING CONTENTS OF TELEGRAPHIC OR TELEPHONIC MESSAGES. Every person who, by means of any machine, instrument or contrivance, or in any other manner, willfully and fraudulently reads, or attempts to read, any message, or to learn the contents thereof, whilst the same is being sent over any telegraph or telephone line, or willfully and fraudulently, or clandestinely, learns or attempts to learn, the contents or meaning of any message, while the same is in any telegraph or telephone office, or is being received thereat or sent therefrom, or who uses or attempts to use, or communicate to others, any information so obtained, is punishable as provided in Section Six Hundred and Thirty-nine.

Sec. 639. EMPLOYEE USING INFORMATION CONTAINED IN TELEGRAPHIC OR TELEPHONIC MESSAGES. Every agent, operator, or employee of any telegraph or telephone office, who in any way uses or appropriates any information derived by him from any private message passing through his hands, and addressed to any other person, or in any other manner acquired by him by reason of his trust as such agent, operator, or employee, or trades or speculates upon any such information so obtained, or in any manner turns, or attempts to turn, the same to his own account, profit or advantage, is punishable by imprisonment in the State prison not exceeding five years, or by imprisonment in the County Jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The man who applies his ear to a crack in the door to listen to a conversation is an eavesdropper, who is held in contempt by honorable men. The man who opens and reads a letter addressed to another is guilty of a crime. The man who takes down the telephone receiver on a three-party line when the bell rings for his neighbor, and listens to that which was not intended for his ears, is justly accounted a sneak.

If a wireless telegraph is a telegraph line (and it is,) then it looks as if the alleged Ormiston in stealing the message sent from Managing Editor Webb in Los Angeles to Manager Peard in Avalon, and communicating it to Tobias Earl, and Earl in using it by printing it in the Wail, have both been guilty of a penitentiary offense, the moral turpitude of which is not lessened by describing it in flamboyant rhetoric as "the hand of detection reaching out into the spaces of the night" and "snatching" other people's property "from the viewless pathways of the vibrant air."

The suggestion of Gen. Otis to the manager of the Herald that he republish the exposure of certain doubtful doings of Earl which was contained in a recent issue in the Examiner, is just such a suggestion as any citizen might make who had in view the protection of the public from the lies of an unscrupulous proprietor of a pair of unscrupulous journals. The message was sent, the suggestion made, because Gen. Otis had a right to make it, though there was nothing dictatorial in the act, any more than there is in the suggestion that The Times now makes to the proprietor of the Distress and of the Wail, that he buy a copy of the Penal Code and study it, or retain a lawyer to advise him to travel in paths that do not lead in the direction of San Quentin.

The messages stolen from the telegraph and printed by Earl with the boast that he procured it in the illegal manner described, related to reprinting in the Herald an article in the Examiner roasting Earl for his rascalities. There was no attempt at secrecy in the dispatching of this correspondence by the Herald men, but Earl tries to make a sensation out of two ordinary and inconsequential telegrams with the vain hope of distracting public attention from his misdeeds and his degradation. Another instance of his silly dust-throwing! That the Herald and The Times reprinted interesting articles from the Examiner is known to all newspaper readers. The reprinted articles have "exposed" themselves, as full credit was given to the Examiner. And is it any news or any "exposure" that The Times, the Examiner and the Herald are all fighting Earl, the would-be monopolist, to a finish?

day to start work on the new park. Commissioner Silent reported yesterday at the meeting of the commission that the Budget Committee had agreed to provide $2500 for the improvement of the park. Landscape Architect Cox has prepared plans for the grounds, which extend along the bluff 1800 feet. The design is simple, broad walks, flowers and trees being the features, with a concrete overlook station and concrete steps leading down the bluff.

The Southern Pacific will be asked to co-operate with the Park Department in making this one of the prettiest parks in the city. It will be the most unique, as it overlooks the Pacific, and will be provided with seats for the public on the broad esplanade.

The commission has provided twenty drinking fountains, similar to those in Central Park. These will take the places of the unsanitary fountains in the other parks. They were made by Charles Brittain, the foreman of masonry, at a considerable saving over their cost if bought in the market. Fifty additional seats have been provided for Central Park.

MONUMENTS FOR PARKS.

The Federation of States and Provinces obtained yesterday from the Park Commission a permit to hold its great picnic on Admission Day, the park to be selected. It was stated that the Federation has a membership of 255,000, and this great organization gave Commissioner Lippincott an idea.

He suggested tentatively that the organization could become a great public benefactor by erecting monuments in the various parks, either to well-known California men or men from other States. Also that it might provide fountains and works of art for the benefit of the public.

Secretary C. H. Parsons, who represented a delegation, readily accepted the suggestion, and will put it in execution. The idea is that a small assessment on the members will provide a [illegible] out of which these monuments and fountains can be purchased.

HARBOR DREDGING.

MAY USE SINKING FUND.

A supplementary message by the Mayor to the Council on the power and harbor financing will be read with the one he sent last week advising the unimpairment of the aqueduct sinking fund until after February 1, 1912, in order to protect the city on the after project during next year. In his supplementary message the Mayor makes it clear that he has no objection to using sinking fund money as far as it will be possible to prevent delay in harbor and power [illegible] ing contract at Wilmington should be financed from the sinking fund.

This contract will require about $250,000. The Board of Public Works yesterday notified the Council that it could not make an award because the money had not been provided but did not state how much will be needed.

If the Council permits the dredging at Wilmington to be financed by the sale of harbor bonds to the sinking fund the work may be commenced in September, as the harbor bonds will be engraved then. If the Council gives this assurance it is possible the contract will be awarded to the Standard American Dredging Company at once at a price of 21 1-2 cents per cubic yard, the work to be finished in eight months.

CUT OUT WORK.

Inspector Humphreys of the Board of Public Works and Assistant City Attorney Young returned Sunday afternoon from the Owens Valley. They camped in the mountains near Haiwee and put in the time fishing, although Humphreys admits he did not catch many fish. It was a ten days' vacation for both hard-worked officials, and they returned brown and snappy.

OFF TO HONOLULU.

Park Commissioner Lippincott leaves this evening for Honolulu as consulting engineer in a project. He will be absent a month, and during that time will keep his eyes open for park ideas.

Park Trolleys.

In order to give the public easy access to Griffith and Elysian Parks, Commissioner Silent has applied to H. E. Huntington to extend the trolley system to these great pleasure grounds on a 5-cent fare. The Park Commission believes that if lines are run to these parks they will become favorite places for the public. Griffith Park is practically isolated except for those who own automobiles.

Witnesses at Trial.

At a special meeting of the Police Commission yesterday a request was made on the authorities of San Diego to have Chief of Police Keno Wilson and Officers Meyers and Wisler appear before the commission Wednesday, the 2d inst., at 9 a.m., in the trial of Detective McNamara of the local department, who is charged with taking money from an alleged pickpocket arrested in San Diego and subsequently released.

SHE WAS MISTAKEN.

THOUGHT DIVORCED, IS NOT.

Believing she was legally separated from her husband five years ago, Mrs. Carrie McLachlan was informed yesterday in Judge Wilbur's court that she was still married to Charles McLachlan.

The 13-year-old son of the couple was in an indirect way the cause of the revelation. Young McLachlan had been haled before the Juvenile Court for playing ball on the streets. During the proceedings, Mrs. McLachlan, who for the past five years has assumed the name of Carrie Wersner, was questioned concerning her married life. She informed the court that she had received a divorce in 1906, according to the statements of her attorney.

An investigation was made, and the discovery followed that the divorce had never been granted.

ALL TO HIS FAMILY.

LAWYER'S WILL PROBATED.

The will of the late John D. Bicknell, was admitted to probate yesterday in Judge Rives's court. The estate is valued at over $500,000, and is left in trust to the widow, Mrs. Nannie Bicknell. Half of the property is given to her as her share of the community property, and the other half is to be divided equally between her two children, Mrs. Marie E. Cates and Mrs. Edna Bicknell Bagg.

The estate includes the residence on Seventh street between Bixel and Lucas streets, which is left to the wife, sixty feet on Broadway between Second and Third streets, one-fourth interest in the Titus Ranch, 500 acres known as the Repetto Ranch, and two lots in Santa Monica.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

SOCIOLOGICAL PROBLEMS. Robert H. Williams, professor of sociology in Pomona College, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, where he will remain during the coming month to study the methods of Probation Officer Dodds in handling cases of delinquents and dependant children. The material he gathers will be used by Prof. Williams in a series of lectures at Pomona.

CHANGES NAME. Permission was granted the Licensed Motor Distributors Alliance of Los Angeles yesterday to change its name to the Motor Car Dealers Association of Los Angeles.

EXTRA JUDGES. Because sixty extra cases were set for trial by Presiding Judge Hutton, two extra judges have been assigned here for October to relieve the stress of work. They are Judges E. P. McDaniel of Yuba and George S. Jones of Nevada City.

TO FOLSOM. One year's confinement in Folsom is sentence given Charles Drummond, an ex-sailor on the U.S.S. California, who pleaded guilty to a cahrge of burglary yesterday. Drummond entered the tent-house of Thomas Bishop, who lives in the Arroyo Seco.

JUDGE'S POSER. After decreeing that Telford E. Theller should pay his wife $25 a month and also pay $25 to her attorneys pending a divorce action which Theller has brought, Judge Church was given a hard question when Theller asked where he is going to raise the money. Judge Church told him to go out and "rustle."

OUT WITH THE BOYS. That her husband, Frank C. Patton, was "out with the boys" enjoying himself while his wife, Pearl, lay sick in bed unable to move, was the evidence which won the woman an interlocutory decree of divorce yesterday in Judge Church's Court.

HELD FOR CONTEMPT. Jesse W. Kent, who was sentenced to one day's confinement in the County Jail by Justice Cassady in Watts, July 18, was before Judge Conrey yesterday with habeas corpus proceedings seeking to avoid serving the sentence. He was given five days in which to file a brief.

ON PROBATION. F. O. Tosch, who has been held on a charge of burglary, entered a plea of guilty yesterday morning before Judge Bartlett, and was placed on probation for three years. Tosch confessed that he purloined goods from N. Glazier of Norwalk, June 30.

COMPETENT. Harry O. Burrill, a wealthy Englishman, who had been adjudged incompetent and sent to an asylum, was recently declared competent. W. R. Hervy, vice-president of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, which was appointed guardian of the man's estate, yesterday submitted the final accounting in Judge Rives's Court. Burrill will return to London.

The Oil Industry.

WELL STARTED NEAR EL TORO.

South Fullerton Company Is Drilling for Oil.

El Moulton Ranch Is Scene of Operations.

General News of Interest from Oil Fields.

The South Fullerton Oil Company, controlled by Fullerton interests, began drilling Friday afternoon on the Moulton ranch, near El Toro, and the stockholders of the company are enthusiastic over the outlook. The occasion was one of unusual interest in the El Toro section, and a number of people from Santa Ana, San Diego and elsewhere were present when the drilling was formally started.

There was a dramatic touch to the affair when, after a brief talk by T. D. Robinson of San Diego, who is in charge of the field operations, a lever was pulled by Mrs. T. F. Moulton which opened the engine and started the big drill in a sixteen-inch hole.

The South Fullerton Company will now designate 500 acres as the first lease, and in the event that oil is found it may select another 500 acres. All over the hills on this property there are outcroppings of formation similar to that found in the Fullerton and Olinda sections. It is expected that oil will be found between 2500 and 3000 feet. Some years ago a well was started, but only a few hundred feet were drilled when the venture was abandoned. Howard C. Culp of San Diego, engineer and geologist, is on the ground to make comparisons with the Fullerton field.

The Moulton ranch consists of 2200 acres. The South Fullerton Oil Company has secured the services of Russell C. Annin, for many years with the Olinda Land Oil Company, a thoroughly experienced driller. Officials of the company and many other prominent persons were present at the beginning of operations

NEW WORK IS STOPPED.
KERN RIVER OIL FIELDS.

The announcement was made in Bakersfield the other day that between forty and fifty employees of the Kern River Oilfields, Ltd., have been laid off and the work on eight new wells stopped, upon orders received by cable from London, the headquarters of the corporation. It is supposed this action grows out of the breach in the ranks of the foreign stockholders, which has been added and abetted by the London Financial Times.

The order to stop work was received by Assistant Manager O'Dea from the main American office in San Francisco. When the English company took over the Keith and Mack properties, the Imperial and Thirty-three Oil Companies, the actual management was retained by the original owners. W. S. Boggs was continued as manager of the properties. Boggs is now in San Francisco.

It is understood that there will be no effort to reduce production, but that the expenses of new development will be cut off. The company was running eight strings of tools.

COALINGA OIL FIELD.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)

COALINGA, July 30.—Fresh reports received from the Lost Hills are to the effect that the district has recently assumed a very busy aspect. The Universal Oil Company is doing considerable development and is arranging for new work. The Universal has three strings of tools running on section 32, 26-21, three more on 18, 26-20 and one on 5, 26-21. Material and rig irons are on the ground for eight new rigs that will be erected without delay. A 55,000 barrel steel tank is nearing completion. The building of the camp has practically been completed. Frank Hamlin, formerly of Coalinga, is in charge of the offices of the Universal Oil Company in the Hills.

The Associated Oil Company has a string of tools going on section 3, another on 13 and a third on 14, 25-20. The Associated is also taking steps towards laying a pipe line to the hills from the pump station near Junction and has a crew of surveyors in the field.

M. J. Corey, who is drilling by contract for the Esperanza Oil Company, has the company's well on section 4, 26-21 down 600 feet in ten-inch casing. There is also quite a large number of portable rigs operating in the field and the townsite is growing rapidly. The telephone company is laying lines into the district and the system is expected to be ready for communication today.

The derrick on well No. 23, section 30, of the American Petroleum, was pulled in yesterday afternoon when an attempt was being made to pull the six-inch casing. No one was hurt by the falling timbers. The derrick will be rebuilt immediately.

Well No. 8a on section 31 of the Coalinga Syndicate Oil Company is drilling at 1300 feet in twelve and one-half-inch casing. No. 5a is down 825 feet in the same sized casing.

The Coalinga Eight Oil Company No. 3 has been cemented off at 2700 feet in eight and one-fourth-inch casing. The well has been drilled with a rotary. The other wells on this property were also drilled with a rotary bit to the depth of 2000 feet and the holes were straight. At this depth all were changed to standard tools with which the first two were completed. The formation on this property seems suitable for the rotary. Wells Nos. 1 and 2 are making a nice production and no trouble has been had with water.

Well No. 4 of the Coalinga Mohawk is down 4035 feet and has gone about 100 feet into the oil sand. The hole will be drilled about 100 feet deeper before tested out. The casing used is six and one-fourth. No. 1, which was originally a gusher, is being cleaned out and will be on the producing list in a short time.

The Blair Oil Company well No. 2 is down 3236 feet in six-inch casing and the bit is now in a sandy shale after passing through a sticky blue formation. The formation on this well is running very similar to the logs of the wells on section 30, 20-15.

The sale of the Blue Moon personal property that has been attached by [illegible] Lyon Company and other [illegible] has been postponed [illegible] court.

[illegible] section 8, [illegible] feet in [illegible] or is [illegible] shut off in about 300 feet and the well will be finished at about 2820. No. 1 well has been doing about 175 barrels a day, but sanded up last week and the liner is being pulled for placing another plug in the bottom. The No. 1 gave considerable sand trouble prior to the use of the liner, and the present trouble was caused by the plug breaking out.

Well No. 3 of the Coalinga Eight Oil Company was cemented off last week, but upon being tested it was found that water was coming in. It is believed that there is a hole in the eight-inch casing, and it is now being pulled. Nos. 1 and 2 are producing.

The No. 8 well of the W. K. Oil Company, 2, 20-15, was finished and put on the pump last night, but before it showed what it would do it sanded up. Manager Daubenspeck started cleaning it out today and hopes to have it again on the pump in a few days. It was finished at 2961 feet in six-inch casing.

Turner No. 3 is down 1470 feet in twelve and one-half-inch casing.

The S. W. & B., section 6, 20-15, will start active operations on the first of August, and all of the wells will again be put on the pump after a shut-down of the entire property since the first of May. Conditions have improved somewhat since the Associated took its contract oil for this month from the Agency, and the company will provide storage for its surplus not taken by the Agency. A concrete reservoir of a capacity of 30,000 barrels is to be built immediately, and will be located in a gulch so that excavation will be made easily. The company has six producing wells, and a production of about 9000 barrels per month when the wells are on the pump.

Two of the Mohawk wells, 12, 20-15, are being drilled into the sands and a production is expected in a short time. No. 1, which gushed a splendid stream of oil for nearly a year, sanded up after being cleaned out, and had to be redrilled. It is again drilling in the sands now. No. 4 is also being drilled into the sands and will be brought in in a few days. No. 2 is shut down waiting for casing, and No. 3 will be cemented off in a few days.

GUARANTY COMPANY.
MAKING GOOD PROGRESS.

Superintendent C. H. Burdick of the Guaranty Oil Company arrived in the city yesterday from the field and reports steady progress on the Midway properties. On section 6 a perfect cementing job has been completed at 1261 feet and the drillers are ready to go on [illegible] oil sands with the hole. The well on the Lucky Boy is now 1760 feet deep and the drillers are making good progress. Another boiler has been set for a circulptor, the operation of which will insure the pipe from freezing.

The Guaranty Pipe Line crews are clearing the way and setting stakes every 100 feet. The crew under Engineer Barton is now eight miles out from Maricopa and has so far a perfectly straight line with the exception of one 10 degree bend. At the other

THE INITIATIVE IN OREGON.

In the State of Oregon, under the operations of the initiative, two laws were passed at the same election regulating salmon fishing on the Columbia and Sandy Rivers. These laws were prepared in the interest of business rivals in fishing and canning salmon, each designing to drive the other out of business. In the immediate territory controlled by each the voters cast their ballots for the law that would "cinch" the other company. There were many voters in the State who were indifferent and who voted for both bills. The result was that there are two laws in Oregon, passed at the same time, that are hopelessly conflicting. The muddle must remain until untangled by legislation. In the meantime the salmon fisheries and packing-houses will probably be transferred to the north bank of the Columbia River, within the jurisdiction of the State of Washington, and Oregon will have lost one of her prominent industries.

At the same election the electors of the entire State voted on a law regulating the price of meals to prisoners in the Multnomah County Jail. The price of meals would necessarily depend to some extent on the character of the bill of fare, and the voter in Malhan county, 500 miles from Portland, could aid to bestow the benefaction of a roast beef and plum pudding dinner upon an inmate of the Portland jail, or he could help to limit the unfortunate man to corn meal mush, and the mastication of mutton that before its demise was well stricken in years.

Another law that was enacted in Oregon, through the initiative method was the "Corrupt Practices" act. It consists of fifty-five sections and over 9000 words, or twenty pages of closely-printed matter. Its taking title and the purpose for which it was designed naturally secured for it the support of honest and patriotic citizens. But probably not one in fifty of those who voted for it attempted to analyze it, or even read it. The law is highly penal. It contains many wise provisions regulating elections, and some that are both unjust and ridiculous. A candidate who pays a person for distributing cards, or carrying banners, or furnishing vehicles, or who wears a political badge, or button on election day, or in whose behalf similar expenditures are made by his descendant, ascendant, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, wife, partner, employer, employee, or fellow-official, or fellow-employee is subject to have his nomination or election set aside, to be declared ineligible to hold office for a period of time, and, where he commits an act the punishment for which is not specially provided, he may be fined $5000 and sent to jail for a year.

A provision that spellbinders whose harangues exceed an hour in length shall be imprisoned for life is not inserted in the law, and the friends and divorced wives and mothers-in-law of candidates are not specifically prohibited from aiding to defray their legitimate election expenses.

At the last State election in Oregon ten constitutional amendments and nine other subjects of legislation were voted upon under the operations of the initiative. These measures, with the accompanying printed arguments, were, as the law required, published by the Secretary of State in pamphlet form and made a pamphlet of 124 pages of closely-printed matter. The expense of preparing and printing these pamphlets and sending one to each voter in the State must have nearly equalled the cost of a short session of the State Legislature.

Do the voters of California desire to overturn representative government and substitute the complicated and costly system of legislation by means of the initiative? And to what good end? Can those who favor this revolutionary change point to a single section of the codes that ought to be repealed? Can they refer to any wise and necessary measure that a California Legislature has refused to enact?

THE BYSTANDER'S ATTITUDE.

Perhaps the biggest stumbling block to universal peace is not so much the ambition of nations, the desire for increased territory or the expectancy of material gain, as the inborn love of conflict, inherited through the centuries by every normal human being from ape-like ancestors whose very existence depended on a ceaseless struggle against natural and indefatigable enemies. "The keen joy that warriors feel in foemen worthy of their steel" will probably never die out among the children of men; indeed, the fighting spirit is necessary for the preservation of the race. Only, this love of contest, as our wisest men are clearly seeing, must be directed from the destruction of human life, through the legalized slaughter of warfare, to the destruction of the foes of human life, by a peaceful combination of the nations.

We are still, it must be confessed, a long way from this desirable goal, when we see the three leading nations of Europe pulling off their coats and rolling up their sleeves, like schoolboys spoiling for a fight. All three contestants must know that, whichever one wins, all must eventually be losers. Yet so strong is the inherited fighting spirit that no consideration of right or wrong, of gain or loss, will restrain the leaders or the people themselves, when the danger point—the question of honor—has once been passed.

There is a fire in that small word of three letters, W-A-R, that seems to set men ablaze, even those not concerned at all in the combatants or who have only a hazy idea as to the bone of contention. But, if in any city in the world a newspaper appears with that exciting word blazoned on the front sheet in letters two inches long and a quarter of an inch thick, copies will be bought up as fast as they come from the press by a news-hungry public, though they are thousands of miles from the seat of the conflict and entirely unconnected with either of the combatants. The corner grocery store, under these circumstances, will be crowded with people burning to know the facts of this fight, in an unknown country, for some undiscoverable advantage.

In the present European crisis the attitude of the bystander has to be reckoned with, as surely as the word of the great German war lord, the French President or the British Premier. Until at least 51 per cent. of civilized peoples set their faces against the spirit of slaughter, until the ordinary citizen ceases to thrill at the mention of war, the danger of some appalling conflagration will always be confronting statesmen, Presidents and rulers. Such a conflagration, like a forest fire, may start from the smallest spark, and once started, like a forest fire, may defy every effort to hold it in check.

Not from the soldier, the trained fighter who understands what war means, not from the statesman who realizes the gravity of taking an irrevocable step, not from the ambitions of any hereditary war lord, comes the real danger to international peace, but from the attitude of the bystander, the critic, the man in the street.

FREE ROOSTERS.

The question before the United States Senate was whether Michiganders who carry fighting cocks across the Detroit River or the Niagara bridge into Canada for the purpose of making British roosters look like 30 cents shall be permitted to bring back the fowl results of the combat without paying duty on them. The same question is at issue on the Mexican border in Texas, in New Mexico, in Arizona and in California.

Senator Smoot of Utah was the champion of the rights of polygamous roosters who had met Mexican and Canadian fowls in single combat in Chihuahua or Ontario and welcomed them to gory beds to come back to their families and crow their crows under the flag of their native land, with no myrmidom of a custom-house officer to levy tribute upon them at the border.

Senator Heyburn of Idaho, whose disposition to fight the battles of the Civil War over and over again has been the subject of animadversion by southern Senators, opposed the proposition to admit returning game cocks free of duty. Senator Bacon of Georgia proposed to put lame ducks on the free list.

But Senator Smith of Michigan, notwithstanding the fact that one of the leading industries of his Wayne county constituents is the incubation and raising of fighting roosters, resisted successfully the efforts of the Utah Senator to provide for returning victorious American cocks to their native land, and the owners of such birds must, ere they bring them across the border, accept the refrain of Rudyard Kipling's song and—

"Put their hands in their pockets,

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher.

I saw two bruisers in the ring, and watched them biff, and heard them bing. Two humans much like wild beast grown; their heads were largely made of bone; each had a bobcat's vicious face; they represented all that's base. They were not stirred by martial fire, nor were they full of manly ire; they fought to win the golden bone; they slugged for cash, and cash alone. I watched the blow, I heard the thud, and saw the fighters streaked with blood; I heard them gasp and moan and snort, and sighed: "Great whiskers! Is this sport?" A bard must thump his harp in vain; he can't produce a sounding strain about a sordid scrap like that; the theme is bald and pale and flat." Macaulay well might write his lays of fighting men of olden days, who held the bridge against a host, and then became the Roman boast. And Homer had an easy snap; a poet can embalm a scrap when they who fight are after fame, or slug because they love the game. But where's the bard to twang a lyre with any show of zeal or fire for Jow-browed bruisers of the sort that fights for scads and calls it sport?

No Warning at All.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch:] A reckless golf player just hit one of the ladies.

"Why didn't you warn her you were going to shoot?" somebody asked.

"I did," he protested. "I cried Fore two or three times."

"Pore nothing!" the other man exclaimed. "To attract a woman's attention you should have yelled three ninety-eight."

Father: Well, it did seem as if it would be at one time, but she landed this fellow just as we were beginning to give up hope.

Compliments Came Hard.

[Toledo Blade:] Us: Come right in, old man, and see our new baby! There—isn't he great?

He: Oh, yes! Fine! Well, they say homely babies grow up to be handsome—that is, you can be thankful—er, well, how much he looks like his mother, I mean!

More Useful as a Money-Getter.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch:] Mrs. Fine-feather: Are you taking your husband abroad this year?

Mrs. Bonton: No, I decided last year when he insisted upon speaking of the Venetian gondolas as canal boats that the real charm of Europe is lost upon him.

Named His Class.

[Smart Set:] "Wise men hesitate—only fools are certain," he observed in the course of a conversation with his tender spouse.

"I don't know about that," she said testily.

"Well, I am certain of it!" he exclaimed.

And for a long time he was puzzled to understand why she burst out laughing at him.

And Easily Turned.

[Judge:] "Pa, why does love make the world go round?

"Because every lover is a crank, my son."

[Boston Transcript:] Doctor: Well, I hope you profited by my advice.

Patient: Yes, doctor; but not so much as you did.

The Kid: Say, when I comes in here this afternoon with a lady and asks you for a dollar's worth of your best chocolate, just pass me out a penny's worth of them little things in the corner, will you?

Ready with Advice.

[Catholic Standard and Times:] "I beg pardon," said the new arrival, "but it seems to me it's excessively warm here."

"Eh! what?" snorted Satan, "evidently you forget where you are. The place is meant to be warm."

"Quite so, but there's such a thing as overdoing it."

Henry James: Mr. Toastmaster, I can't say it all in a one-minute speech.

Joe Jefferson: Yes, I know I'm a regular old Rip, but that's what the people want.

MOROCCO, THE STORM CENTER

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

Agadir, the little Moroccan town and roadstead which is causing a stir in the diplomatic world, once had far more business intercourse with Europe than now. The Portuguese landed there and built a fort in the sixteenth century, the Dutch did the same in the eighteenth, and up to 1773 the Spaniards claimed the right to land there for supplies. An English company once installed itself at Cape Juby, but the Sultan drove it out. France had a commercial establishment there in 1670.

M. Ladret de Lacharriere, the French explorer who has recently traversed the Sus district of Morocco, says: "Along the whole Moroccan coast there is no port worthy of the name, no natural shelter sufficient for a steamer or sailing ship. The little bay of Agadir alone could be made into a fairly safe anchorage, being entirely sheltered from the north winds and being easy to protect from the west winds. No naval base of any value could be created there, but, after all, that is not what the Germans are seeking, only a coaling depot.

The naval base that Germany covets and will have one day is quite close—the Canaries.

"Agadir is the port of the Sahara for the Atlantic. Through it Adrar and Tafilet receive merchandise and, above all, ammunition and arms. The importance of Agadir will become a reality if the reported mining richness of the Atlas proves to be well founded."

Morocco is a sultanate or empire of northwest Africa, known to its inhabitants only by its Arabic name. Moghreb-el-Aksa, "The Extreme West." It is bounded on the west by the Atlantic Ocean, north by the Mediterranean Sea, northwest by Algeria (a French possession,) and east and south by the Sahara Desert, the boundary in the southwest being formed by the Wady Dras, while elsewhere there is no definite line of demarcation between the French Sahara and Morocco—hence the French resentment of the present German aggression at Agadir. The area of Morocco is about 300,000 square miles.

Morocco has three capitals or imperial residences, at one of which the Sultan (for the time being) and his army reside at uncertain intervals and for indeterminate periods. Those capitals with their populations are:

Capital.	Population.
Fez	140,000
Makinas or Mequinez	56,000
City of Morocco or Marrakesh	50,000

The principal coast towns are Tangier, Laraiche, Rabat and Sallee, Casablanca (the scene of the previous and recent international disturbance,) Mazagan, Saffi and Mogador. The empire is divided into districts named from the occupying tribes; another division is into provinces or districts, fluctuating and very unequal in number, sometimes confined to a single town and sometimes embracing an extensive territory, administered each by a kadi, whose chief duty is to collect the imports (and they are onerous and numerous, public and private.)

Natural Resources.

The extent of the mineral wealth of Morocco is not known (publicly) with any accuracy. Copper, iron and lead are obtained in larger or smaller quantities. The flora includes the esculent oak and the cork oak, cedar and Aleppo pine, with many varieties of oxycedrus and juniper yielding fragrant gums; also the date palm and the dwarf palm; and near the coast the "argan," which yields an excellent oil. Among the wild animals are lions, panthers, ounces, wild boars, gazelles and large antelopes. Locusts are gathered and eaten in large quantities. The ostrich is found on the south frontiers.

The climate is fairly moderate, except in the summer, when the heat on the plains is insufferable.

Agriculture.

Agriculture in Morocco is in the lowest possible condition, the product not being sufficient for the wants of the country, in spite of the naturally fertile valleys. With proper cultivation under an enlightened government Morocco would be one of the most agriculturally productive countries of the world. At present oppression and extortion, public and private, prevent effort. The cereal crops, such as they are, consist of wheat, maize, the latter and beans being the chief food of the people, together with the esculent arum, and even canary seed are much eaten by the poorer classes. Near the towns the vine is cultivated for fresh grapes and raisins. All the south of Europe fruits are cultivated to some extent. The chief wealth of the tribes scattered over Morocco consists of their flocks and herds, very many of the people leading a pastoral life.

Government.

The Sultan (for the time being) is called "Our Lord" and has absolute rule of life and death, without appeal. He makes and unmakes the laws and all the properties of his subjects are at his disposal. He gets all the revenues, about $2,500,000 a year, and renders no account. In other words, all the people are practically the slaves of himself and his creatures. All justice (save the mark) is bought and sold. The government is a blot on civilization and should be wiped off the face of the earth. Only the jealousies among the European powers keeps it alive. The government officials plunder and oppress the people (getting only small salaries or none) tempered by the fact that at any moment they may be called on to disgorge to the Sultan, or, in default and sometimes without default, or be left to rot in the loathsome Moroccan dungeons or beaten or tortured to death. Religious fanaticism also helps to enslave the people, numbering about 6,500,000.

The remedy for this deplorable state of affairs is, in the writer's judgment, the taking over and administration of the country, worth so much and producing so little, by a European international commission, protecting natives and foreigners alike.

Again The Times states that it is ready to meet the proposition of E. Tobias Earl relative to the disgorging of his telephone stock for the benefit of a public library (although he has said that the stock is practically worthless) provided that Earl will make one slight amendment to his offer—provided, namely, that he will add in real money to the telephone stock the hundreds of thousands of dollars that he got in rebates from the railroad companies at the expense of wronged orange growers.

IF LOVE SHOULD DIE.

If Love should die, what power then could start
The pulse of rapture sweeping through the heart?
What minstrel's gentle song or poet's lay
Could lift the soul above its home of clay,
If Love should die?

If Love should die, our hopes of future years
All would dissolve in sorrow's burning tears;
Sweet memory could not wing our spirits back
Where rosy childhood walks its shining track
If Love should die.

If Love should die all beauty would be lost
The dews of summer nights would turn to frost;
In fields where zephyrs fan the sun-kissed rose,
Cold, cruel winds would shriek o'er winter snows,
If Love should die.

But Love would live and o'er the heart hold sway
Though much that life holds dear should pass away;

The attention of the local Federal authorities is gently but firmly called to the fact that, while they are prosecuting people for using the mails to defraud, they are making no move against those who are burdening the mails with love letters.

Edison has perfected many inventions that contribute to the happiness of mankind, but it will be noted that neither he nor any of the scientific high-brows have told us how to get rid of forest fires. Here is a question worthy of the greatest mind in the country.

The Mayor of a small city in Southern California refuses to prosecute a man who knocked him down. We do not know if he is conscious of being a very bad Mayor, afraid of another walloping or is simply turning the other cheek. At least, he is a good politician.

Italy has a new national game that for "pastime" is more exciting than golf for gentlemen of 60 or football for men of 10. It is called the Camorrist trial and it is said to be more interesting than a woman suffrage campaign in California, although, of course, not so deadly.

Zunard is said to be in the throes of moral reform. We had always regarded Omaha as the original inspiration of sundry references to "Spotless Town." We presume, however, that the people up there have reduced sugar so long and so successfully that they feel obliged to refine on everything in sugar beets to manners.

An ordinance has been passed to the effect that peddlers in Los Angeles may cry their wares in an ordinary tone of voice and may ring bells not exceeding four inches in diameter. It will be easy for the street commissioner to measure his bell; but what is the agent is he going to use to tell just when one is using an ordinary tone of voice?

Mrs. Astor trying for two weeks to live in the same house with her husband's affinity and San Francisco jeweler's wife gave it up and got a job and took her domestic problems into the courts. She might have spared herself the pangs of her quixotic experiment. Such a thing is unnatural, unmoral and unclean, and there is no soundness in it and every effort of toleration simply adds fuel to the flames. There is no law of charity demanding the unreasonable in any situation.

A French playwright wounded a critic who did not think well of his works. It is enough for a person with malice in his heart to write books and plays, but that the latter should go about killing people because they do not approve his creations is a thing that should not be allowed. It is said that in the present instance that a local manager has recently offered a production by the wounded playwright who fought the Parisian critic whows that it is an ill wind indeed which does not swell box-office receipts.

IF LOVE SHOULD DIE.

If Love should die, what power then could
The spell of rapture sweeping through the soul
The minstrel's gentle song or poet's lay
Can lift the soul above its home of clay,
If Love should die?

If Love should die, our hopes of future years
Would dissolve in sorrow's burning tears;
Memory could not wing our spirits
The childhood walks its shining
If Love should die.

If Love should die all beauty would be lost
The glory of summer nights would turn to
And where zephyrs fan the sun-kissed
The winds would shriek o'er wintry
If Love should die.

Love should live and o'er the heart hold
That life holds dear should

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT MALARIAL POISONING
Malaria is a disease which gradually destroys the strong, nourishing elements of the blood. When the malarial poison begins to absorb the rich, red corpuscles of the circulation, we see pale, sallow complexions and a general impairment of health. As the blood becomes weaker the appetite fails, digestion is disturbed, chills and slight fever become frequent, and in aggravated cases boils and eruptions break out on the flesh. Malaria is blood poverty, and the only way to cure the trouble is to enrich and purify the circulation. S.S.S. is especially adapted to the cure of malarial troubles because it contains no harmful minerals, and while ridding the system of the malarial germs, S.S.S. builds up the entire constitution by its fine tonic effects. If you are suffering with malaria begin the use of S.S.S. and rid yourself of this weakening disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice free. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores. SCRAPPY PATSY IS SUSPENDED.

O'Rourke Feels Displeasure of President Graham.

"Will not Tolerate Rowdyism," Says Judge.

Hildebrand Sorry for Leader of the Senators.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Patsy O'Rourke, manager and captain of the Sacramento team, was indefinitely suspended today by Judge Thomas F. Graham, president of the Coast League, for his assault on Umpire Hildebrand in Sunday morning's game at Stockton.

Hildebrand called on Judge Graham this morning and personally explained the charges he had made by wire against the scrappy leader of the Senators. The umpire declared that he felt sorry for O'Rourke, as he realized that Patsy has an uncontrolable temper which has caused him a lot of trouble, for he has always felt sorry for it afterward.

In the circumstances, however, Hildebrand said that he was forced to press the charges as O'Rourke used vile and vulgar language which was heard all over the grandstand, and made a couple of attempts to hit him before players interceded.

The umpire was not damaged by the attack as he managed to dodge the blows aimed at his face.

Judge Graham wired Bill Curtin and Umpire Finney of his ruling, which will keep O'Rourke out of the lineup.

The judge expects to give the disgraced captain a hearing during the week, but meanwhile the suspension holds good.

"Under no circumstances will the Pacific Coast League tolerate such rowdyism as O'Rourke indulged in at Stockton," said Judge Graham. "It is harmful to our grand American pastime, and I have taken steps in suspending O'Rourke to stamp out the evil. This is O'Rourke's second offense already this season and he must be made to understand that such conduct will not be countenanced on the Pacific Coast. Aggressive baseball is one thing and rowdyism another. He must realize the difference."

The Senators will undoubtedly miss the services of their scrappy second sacker as O'Rourke has instigated a lot of ginger and "Pep" in their ranks which has put the team in winning form. Nebinger will likely fill in at second and the Sacramento club will have to look for a new leader.

M'LOUGHLIN DEFEATS TOM BUNDY IN WESTERN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAKE FOREST (Ill.) July 31.—Maurice McLoughlin of San Francisco won the western tennis championship in men's singles this afternoon at the Onwentsia Club by defeating Thomas G. Bundy of Los Angeles, holder of the title, in three out of four sets, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

The lack of tournament practice on the part of the Los Angeles player was painfully apparent for although the match was not hard, he tired quickly after the first set, and Bundy was steadier and none of his shots was wild as McLoughlin's. The points, McLoughlin's first service:

McLoughlin, 4 4 6 4 4 4 3 1 2 0—32 4.

McLoughlin's superior lasting abilities were responsible for his victories in the second and third sets, Bundy seeming to tire after the opening round.

After the first set Bundy seemed unable to cope with McLoughlin and the latter, after seeing that he had his opponent beaten, played safe. The opening sets showed some remarkably clever placing by both men, but there were none of the long sessions of volleying.

McLoughlin's speed was apparent in the second set when he repeatedly passed Bundy at the net, but later in the play both men let up in their work. In the first set Bundy seemed the superior and played the better game. McLoughlin played a harder game, but Bundy took quick advantage of his mistakes. McLoughlin was wild in this set and seldom managed to get his drives inside the court. His service was also not up to standard and Bundy's backhand strokes netted him point after point. Score by points:

Second set:
McLoughlin, 4 6 5 4 4 5 4—32 6.
Bundy, 0 8 3 2 0 3 1—17 1.

Bundy made a brief spurt in the third set and let McLoughlin 3-1 for the first four games, but McLoughlin played a safe game and his superior practice told, his judgment being far more accurate than Bundy's. Score:

McLoughlin, 4 2 3 4 5 5 4 9—39 6.
Bundy, 1 4 5 5 0 3 2 0 7—28 3.

McLoughlin let down in the last set and after taking the first three games allowed Bundy to win his own service and taking his own won the set and match, 6-2. Score:

McLoughlin, 4 4 4 1 4 0 4 1 6—28 6.
Bundy, 0 0 1 4 2 4 1 4 1—17 3.

R. D. Little and Gustave Touchard, East, vs. T. C. Bundy and M. McLoughlin, Pacific Coast.

C. M. Bull, Jr., and Harry Martin, West, vs. Conrad B. Doyle and H. E. Doyle, South.

Rising Stars of Southern California Tennis Firmament.

Mrs. Stickrod is to meet Miss Dillon today in the Long Beach tournament. Miss Rowan was put out of it yesterday by a sprained ankle.

Telescopes Are Out.

NEW CHAMPIONS ARE DEVELOPING ON THE HOTEL VIRGINIA COURTS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The twenty-sixth annual tennis tournament, which began at Long Beach yesterday, is an astronomical event. It is a hunt for new stars.

During the last year or so there has been a great revival of tennis throughout Southern California. It is the great game now at nearly all the schools. The result has been to develop a new generation of tennis players to throw down the gauntlet to the old-time stars.

Many of these new starlets are now to appear for the first time in a championship tournament. The anxious eyes of the tennis "fans" think they detect future champions among the green young players now on the Hotel Virginia courts.

The most conspicuous success emerging from the preliminaries yesterday was young Kenneth Newell, a lad of 19, who at times exhibited perfect tennis.

He beat Amos N. Wilder in the junior singles in the morning 6-2, 6-2, and then tackled a well-seasoned northerner of established reputation, W. G. Hunter, in the men's open singles in the afternoon, winning in a splendidly well-contested game, 6-4, 3-6 and 7-5.

There have been a larger number of entries for the junior events this year than has ever before been the case, particularly for the doubles. The boys do not feel so nervous and self-conscious in the doubles, so that many novices will enter for that who would quit shy of the singles.

The juniors have shown specially good form on the opening day, particularly Amos N. Wilder, who would certainly have proved a notable success if he had played against one of his own ranking. As it was he was quite outclassed by the brilliant young Newell.

He has a good free style and hits the ball clean on all the strokes.

Alber of Hollywood is another promising youngster. He disposed of Hunter in two straight sets, and was showing splendid form in all his strokes.

Erle Barker has come through with considerable credit also. He made short work of Woodredge, winning in two sets, 6-2 and 7-5, and then in the afternoon he disposed of Kellogg, who had drawn a bye, with very little trouble, beating him with 6-3, 6-2.

Erle Barker plays good steady tennis and appears to be improving all the time.

But the great match of the day was between Kenneth Newell and W. G. Hunter in the men's open singles.

Newell commenced play with too great an impetus and rather overdid the hard hitting and slashing strokes, but the steadiness and supremely correct form of the northern man soon forced him to abandon this style of play, after which he made much better showing and captured the set for 6-4. In the second set Hunter became very self-confident and played an all round rattling good game, annexing the second set with 6-6. In the last set both men played almost perfect tennis and the excitement was intense. Although a most interesting match between two charming girls, Miss Jessie Greever and Miss Dillon, was taking place on the other court, no one had any eyes for them. Hunter's placing was beautiful to see, and many of his strokes called forth shouts of admiration, but they were not enough to save him from young Newell's speedy play and almost unnatural steadiness.

It was amusing to note how characteristically each player accepted the applause, and how playing a fault affected them. Newell would smile in a deprecating sort of way when he finally failed to return a long drawn out volley and appeal silently to the audience for sympathy. Hunter would look dreadfully serious and shy and gaze intently at the cement court. Newell acknowledged applause with a happy smile and Hunter looked modestly embarrassed.

Both men showed some very clever volleying at the net, and Hunter has made quite a science of clever placing. Newell, however, has also made a science of returning apparently impossible balls, so it was very much diamond cut diamond.

Newell is apt to become excited and lose some control of his strokes, but in the third set he completely overcame this tendency and had himself splendidly in hand.

The game next in interest was that between little Miss Marjorie Tufts and Miss Marion Toedt. There were many to prophesy a victory for Miss Toedt.

Los Angeles High School Boys and Their Catch,

MANDOT BEATS KAUFMAN.

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) July 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bennie Kaufman, the Philadelphia boxer, conceded several pounds in weight, and inches in height and reach to Joe Mandot, the southern 126-pound champion, at the Southern A. C. and lost the decision after eight tame rounds. There were no knockdowns. Kaufman's eye was partly closed in the first round.

Along Kings River.

RAH-RAH BOYS HAVE BIG SPORT IN MOUNTAINS.

THE thirty Los Angeles High and Polytechnic High School boys who are camping on the South Fork of Kings River are having the time of their lives. Dr. Anders Peterson, who is one of the directors of the expedition, returned to this city yesterday and he has wonderful tales to tell about the actions of the boys in the tall and uncut timber.

The names of the boys in the party follow: Fred Baruch, Maurice Benjamin, Dick Coleman, Will Coleman, Edwin Cook, Gerald Craig, Arthur Dickinson, Will Dickinson, Wayne Fisher, George Francis, Mark Howlett, William Hubbell, Robert Johnson, Harold Witherbee, Paul Kinney, Robert Meyler, Seeley Mudd, Orin Newton, Oscar Overell, John B. Prendergast, Harold Reed, Nairn Rivers, Harold Silent, Bevan W. Thomas, Lewis C. Terrance, Olin Wellborn.

Trout fishing is being given considerable attention. Limit catches are as common in the South Fork of the Kings as individual bites in more frequented places and seldom do any of the boys fail to yank in fewer than fifty at one sitting.

The boys left here July 5, accompanied by J. H. Francis, superintendent of Los Angeles city schools; Burt O. Kinney, vice-principal of Los Angeles High School; Dr. N. L. Gardner, department head at Polytechnic High School; Dr. Anders Peterson, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles County Hospital, and Harold Peterson, of the physical training department of city schools, who form the board of directors of the Sierra Camp for Boys, which was organized for the purpose of taking the students on the trip.

Dr. Peterson says the boys are as hard as nails and now may be classified with experienced mountain climbers. When they first reached camp short hikes were taken. Each day the length of the hikes was lengthened until now long climbs are made without anybody being fatigued.

Some times the party is divided into groups and each strikes out in a different direction under the leadership of one of the men. Then the whole bunch may go out together. Just before Dr. Peterson left some of the boys started on a five days' trip above the timber line along the Middle Fork of Kings River.

The boys indulge in little hunting, but hold considerable target practice under the direction of the men. At night about the campfire the directors informally discuss mountaineering and other topics of peculiar interest to boys camping in the mountains.

But the greatest sport of all is the trout fishing. One day a fishing contest was promoted and in six hours ten boys landed 330 fish, some of them twelve inches long.

The return trip is to be begun August 18. The party will travel along the aqueduct and take their time making the journey. Everybody has enjoyed excellent health and none has met with an accident.

LEVAN BADLY INJURED.

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Aviator Howard Levan of Toledo, who fell several hundred feet while flying over the city yesterday, is injured internally, but the extent of his injuries has not been determined.

Five Out of Seven.

TOMMY SEATON EASY PICKING.

Portland Veteran Severely Bumped by Angels.

Young Driscoll Pitches Good Ball for the Locals.

Howard's Triple Puts Game in the Ice-box.

The Angels mussed up the Walter McCredie's disposition some more, yesterday, defeating the Beavers 6 to 3 in one of the most interesting games of the season.

Incidentally the local victory immensely pleased Hap Hogan, who was sitting in the grandstand, and brought that worthy's Tigers a few points closer to the standing of the champions who left last night for the north none too secure in their position.

McCredie was dead set on taking this last game from Los Angeles, not only to make a half-way respectable showing in the series, but to help out in his percentages as he has been hearing the stalking footsteps of the Tigers for some time.

To be sure of securing a victory he put on the firing-line none other than the redoubtable Tommy Seaton, but although that young man went in with a confident smile to pitch against a bush youngster, he developed a decided peeve along in the fifth inning when he got in a bad hole, and by the seventh his disposition had grown into a grouzy grouch, and in the eighth he was knocked out, McCredie sending Harkness to the relief, but the rout had been accomplished.

Opposed to Seaton and Harkness was young Driscoll, a semi-pro who Dillon picked up in the bay region of San Francisco, and the kid more than made good. Not only did he pitch good ball but he chopped a single over Seaton's head at a pinch, scoring a run.

Driscoll was looked upon as an easy mark by the Beavers but he soon won their respect and after Howard had helped out the youngster with a triple with the bases full in the seventh a victory seemed to be a foregone conclusion.

TIGHT-WADS.

Both pitchers were tight for several innings and there was not the semblence of a score. Then Kuhn landed on one for a double to the score board in the third and Seaton came along with the necessary hit for a tally.

Los Angeles tied it in the fifth when Moore beat out a short hit to Seaton and went to second when the pitcher threw the ball to the stands. Moore took too long a lead off second and drew Kuhn's throw and must needs hustle to third. The ball arrived there ahead of him but he slid around Sheehan and Finney called him safe. Then Metzger singled over second and Moore scored.

All seemed lost in the first half of the seventh. Sheehan opened with a solid drive and stole second. Ryan was hit by a pitched ball. Sheehan was forced at third when Rapps bunted to the pitcher. Barry came along with a safe drive and the sacks were occupied. Peckinpaugh's double to left scored two. The side was then retired after sundry proceedings.

That closed the gate for the Beavers.

In the Angels' half of the seventh the fireworks popped. After Moore had flown out Metzger walked. Delmas singled and Dillon walked, filling the bases. Abbott popped to short, and it was up to Driscoll.

That young man got two strikes handed him and then chopped a bounder over Seaton's head, and Metzger scored. Again the bases were full with two outs and the head of the batting list up. Howard was equal to the emergency and lined a stiff poke over Rapp's head which was fair by but a few feet, and the ball rolled to the far corner of right field. The bases were cleared and Howard was perched on third when the horsehide was returned. Manning then struck out.

In the eighth inning Moore drew a base on balls and stole second. Kuhn's throw was away wide and went to center field while Moore continued to third whence he scored on Metzger's third singled. After Delmas had singled, Seaton was yanked out and Harkness retired the side and finished the game. Score:

WILL TOUR TO TAHOE; TIME IS NO OBJECT.

J. W. Earl leaves today for Tahoe with his family in a Chalmers "40" car, which is quite as noteworthy along the "multum in parvo" line as anyone who knows this genius might expect.

Earl will be accompanied by his family, and A. J. Guynn and family of Lakeralm will tour in company with them in a Stoddard-Dayton "thirty." Time is to be no object; the party will go along by the coast route, taking in wafever the open dove and deer season in the first district offers en route to San Francisco, in San Luis Obispo and Santa Cruz and Monterey counties where the law is off today.

Earl carries shotgun, rifle, and a complete fishing outfit. His car has been equipped with carriers of every name and nature, some of which may be of interest to other autoists similarly placed. He has a folding top table which slips into his extra top-cover; the tire cases are made to carry a full complement of equipment; three cots of a folding kind ride on the one running board, and two between body and trunk rack. The trunk is capacious; a tent is carried under the tonneau mat, and a collapsible camp stove underneath the tent. He hangs his shotgus just forward of the front tonneau seats on sling straps so it can be whipped out in an instant without unbuckling, and still cannot be bumped or dented on the roughest going. A rifle is stuck into each end of the robe rail, equally quick of access.

Last year Earl visited King's River Canyon and killed the limit of deer with ease. The largest was a truly magnificent buck dressing out at the phenomenal weight of 265 pounds, fat as any prize pig. A forked-horn was the other.

The party plans to fish in Lake Tahoe some, but that is merely an objective, the entire time to be in going from place to pl fast as the novelty wears off. River will be fished. They go over Emigrant Gap to back by way of Placerville and through the San Joaquin stopping for a few days at Bailey's Alamo ranch, under Mouutain, camping in the wil Page's place in the lush cienega Earl will look for deer on F and Lee Avery, two of his old ing-grounds.

ALBACORE SCATTERED; SCHOOLS FEW AND FAR.

Albacore are scattered widely at present, according to the channel scourers who chased up and down the Coast off-shore three or four miles last Sunday.

The "pigs" seem plentiful enough and occasional scattered ones are picked up when not looked for; but it is rather unusual to find schools "milling" as they used to do; and the Japs are generally given full credit for helping to bring about such a state of affairs.

The Japanese beat the piscatorial world as catchers of fish. They want the albacore for canning; and take fresh bait; keep up a prodigious splashing all the time, and get the pigs when the experts sometimes can only stop, look and listen. Their method is to go into a school and wear it out; what they leave usually will not help anybody much.

Some of the Japanese boys fishing commercially on this Coast are graduates of a fisheries course in the Waseda and other leading Japanese universities where they study scientific methods of catching fish, the whys and wherefores of the thing. They are practical, and it pays large.

Missing in one cylinder may be caused by that cylinder having a leak around the valve or valve cage seats, by the inlet valve opening too much and not closing as quickly as the others or by a valve not seating at all, or by that cylinder being carbonized. These things cause the engine to take a different mixture. If the cylinders are right the same carburetor adjustment will suit all.

Protests have come into the National League office from all corners of the land against the suspension of Sherwood Magee for attacking Umpire Finneran. His absence has greatly weakened the Philadelphia club and many believe that his absence will make too many other suffer, especially the Philadelphia management, who was not in the least to blame, and deplored the act of Magee more than did the president of the National League. Now the case may be re-opened and Magee given a hearing, or rather a trial, in which case it is a safe bet that he will be seen in a uniform again before the season is over. At St. Louis, yesterday, the fans yelled their heads off because he wasn't in the game.

FAST BUICK CAR ENTERED IN PHOENIX ROAD RACE.

THE W. D. Howard Motor Car Company, yesterday entered a Buick car in the Los Angeles-to-Phoenix road race. The entry fee of $100 was placed in the hands of John S. Mitchell. The "30", in which Louis Nikrent broke the San Diego-and-return record Sunday, is the car which will represent the Howard company and Louis will be at the wheel prepared to land his machine in Phoenix first or join Steamboat Bill on the other shore.

The Buick is the fourth car to enter and George Purdy Bullard, president of the Maricopa Automobile Club of Phoenix, who is the whole show in promoting the race, and who is passing the summer here boosting the big event, says that at least ten more entries are in sight. Leon Shettler posted his $100 some time ago and will enter either an Apperson or Reo. A Fiat and a National are the other entries to date.

As the big event is not be to pulled off until November 4, there is plenty of time for the making of entries. Bullard says at least two more probably will be made this week and that the others will gradually come in. Interest in the race is greater than in any pevious sprint to Phoenix and all the dealers and drivers are desirous of making an all-time record over the new route. Bullard is tearing things up along automobile row and when the starting gun is given it is probable that the entries as far as class as well as numbers is concerned will measure up favorably with those of any stock road event that has ever been pulled off.

Not only will a large number of local dealers be represented but it is probable that several eastern factories will send cars and drivers here. Yesterday Bullard received a letter from the Abbott-Detroit Company to the effect that an Abbott-Detroit would be entered later and that Monty Robertson, who won the small car event in the Vanderbilt races, will handle the wheel. Chairman Butler of the Contest Board of the A.A.A. has advised Bullard that there undoubtedly will be a number of eastern entries in the Santa Monica race as well as the Los Angeles-to-Phoenix event as the occurence of the two important races within a few weeks of each other furnishes a strong inducement for eastern manufacturers to send their cars West.

ACROSS THE CHESS BOARD.

BY C. F. PIERCE.

Two additional games reported in the Cologne match show that the score is still tied between the two masters, Tarrasch having won the eighth and Schlechter the ninth of the series. A delay of five days occurred after the eighth, for some reason not explained; but it is stated that play will now proceed at the rate of five days play per week, in sessions of six hours each. The score now stands: Schlechter 2, Tarrasch 2; with five drawn games which do not count on the scores.

Dullness is the chief characteristic of the play exhibited, the Double Ruy Lopez constantly resorted to as an opening, with much repetition of tactics.

The third game was stipulated to be a draw at the twenty-third move, with twenty-six pieces on the board, including the queens, four rooks, and all the pawns intact! The chance of one player winning seven games within the five weeks allotted to the match seems remote.

MUTUAL TOURNAMENT.

A number of local players have started a tournament among themselves, the object being mutual pleasure and improvement in the game. Each competitor will play four games against every other, keeping records of all, and studying to advance his skill in the openings chosen. A valuable trophy will be presented to the player making the highest score. As time is not a material element in the contest, the games will be played at convenient intervals during the next few months.

The first game played was a dashing Scotch-Lopez opened by H. Ehrels against D. G. Holt, resulting in a draw after brilliant sacrifices of two pieces by the first player which should have netted him a victory. The second game, a Three Knights' attack by J. B. Pridham, which resulted in an interesting position, was won by D. G. Holt through an oversight by Pridham at a critical moment.

The competitors include O. Barnett, S. R. Frazier, D. G. Holt, C. F. Pierce, J. B. Pridham, P. R. Ruth, H. Enwels, and J. E. Woodbury.

CORRESPONDENCE TOURNAMENT.

The honor of winning the first game in the second Southern California chess correspondence tournament goes to Rev. E. B. Adams of San Diego, who defeated Erling Rohde of La Jolla with a Greco-Counter defence in twelve days' time, announcing mate in five moves on his fourteenth turn. The game, played in Section I, consisted of book moves up to white's thirteenth, where Mr. Rohde having adopted an unsuccessful variation, made an unavailing effort to relieve his beleagured king. The score follows:

14K—Q2, and Black announced mate in five moves, commencing Q—Ktch.

The second game finished was won by J. E. Woodbury, in Section 4, against Prof. Geo. H. Grinnell, both of Los Angeles.

Taking advantage of an ill-advised capture of a pawn by his opponent, at move 11, Mr. Woodbury pressed his attack through the twentieth, when he was enabled to announce mate in twelve. Under the conditions of the tournament, the game will be a candidate for the special prize offered to the winner of the best game at the opening. The score, with notes and analysis of the mate by the winner, follows, the correctness of the mate being open to the criticism of all competitors as well as the referee:

SHOOTING NOTES.

George Persinger swung back to his double-barrel again, and the Old Reliable Parker pushed him up another notch toward that 90 per cent. goal for which your uncle is striving. Eighty-seven out of his century this time out.

Burton is a well-known Windy City trap-shot, and belongs to several of the Chicago saucer-smashing institutions. He has devised a specially designed full round-comb stock for the trap game; whether by virtue of this or because of natural speed, he "nips 'em in the bud" regularly, and most of his birds "die a'bornin." It is the better way if a man is fast enough to be consistent.

E. A. Fano, once a familiar figure at local and San Diego trap shoots was a welcome visitor. He has been in the oil business at Bakersfield.

Blumenberg was on deck again as usual, and is rapidly picking up his old-time form. Henry can make some of them hustle already.

Fred Willet, the husky attention-attractor and advance agent of the Selby shipped in Saturday and joined the boys for a few rounds. Shooting good, as usual. Always does, except when he's asleep.

Jack Converse had only one bad event in six, and kept on getting better as the shooting wore on, winding up with a "straight," one of three made during the day.

Bob Bungay certainly is the "Consistent Kid."

Charlie Hagerman turned up again. He shot off a bunch of back scores on the trophy events, as did Converse. In the Specials Du Pont, Winchester, Remington and Fox events, Hagerman banged 22, 21, 23, 20, 21; Converse, 23, 21, 21, 21, 19.

Colonel T. Coleman duPont, Delaware powder magnate, loves the fine new stone highway which to run the length of that State a sense, his monument. He paring to devote the greater his time to the surveying and of the road, being determ shall be properly located structed.

ANGELS AND HOOLIGANS TO HOOK UP THIS WEEK.

The Vernon team returned home from the North last night and today the Hogasites and Angels are to open a series at Washington Park. Happy has a warm spot in his heart for the Dillonites because they took a fall out of the Beavers and he says he will show his appreciation of services rendered by the Angels by doing to them what they did to Portland.

However, the Angels are working fine at present and Vernon should have a hard time doing much with Dillon's aggregation. The series promises to be a fierce fight all the way through.

SCORES GOOD; SHOOTERS FEW AT GUN CLUB'S MEET.

JUST what jinx jimmed the trigger knights out of their usual habits Sunday is one of those questions whose answers lie somewhere between too many pleasures and midsummer heat. Only a dozen and a half of the saucer-smashing fraternity shook off that "no gotta da ambish" feeling, and saw fit to patronize the Venice grounds of the Los Angeles Gun Club, but if few in numbers, they certainly were a high-class lot.

Some of the best scores of the season were chalked up, and ordinarily good shooting merely qualified for the "also-ran" division on the scatter-gunners' form sheet.

Considerably less wind was blowing than usual, and the birds made fairer marks, the day was cool and delightful, and all of these things made themselves apparent in the scores.

In all, only 1700 birds were thrown, about half the usual number. Several shot in the special and gun trophy races, which are seasonal features, to be competed for at stated times, but with privilege of "shooting up" back scores, and this privilege was taken advantage of by several. In the specials Connolly entered a 17; Converse a 23, Hagerman a 22, Dr. Thomas a 19, George Persinger a 22, Stanton Bruner a 16, Henry Blumenberg a 22, Harry Hoyt a 13.

On the day's average, "Back Mark Bob" cleaned 'em up again, as usual, with his customary 92 per cent. Fred Willett dropped into second to Bungay with 90 2-3 per cent., and Blumenberg was not far behind with 89 3-5 per cent.

Blumenberg, 21, 22, 24, 23, 23, 21.
S. Bruner, 21, 20, 16, 19, 14.
Burton, 20, 24, 22, 22, 19.
Persinger, 20, 22, 23, 22.
Hagerman, 22, 21, 23, 20, 21, 22.
Bruner, 21, 19, 20, 20, 20.
Black, 14, 18, 16.
Dr. Thomas, 19, 23, 22.
Converse, 21, 21, 21, 19, 23, 25.
Willet, 23, 23, 21, 22, 22, 23.
Record, 21, 22, 14, 18.
Whitcomb, 14, 16, 17.
Fano, 18, 16, 15.
Bungay, 25, 24, 21, 22.

JOINS STRONG-ARM CLASS; SHAVER "BLOWS" BIG PIG.

ROY SHAVER qualified for membership Sunday in the oldest order of the modern angling game when he filed application for admission into the "strong-arm class" of the Southern California Rod and Reel Club by trying to "hang" the biggest of pigs on his three-four-five outfit while prospecting the precinct of Pig City, some four miles off the San Pedro breakwater.

Shaver took A. B. C. Cramer and Dan O'Connor out albacoring in his home-made boat, the Roncador, and the party had unusually good sport, only marred by this sad slip from grace on Shaver's part. After getting his pig down and all but out, leading it up to within six feet of gaff-shot, the burly millwright had a rush of muscle to the biceps, and tried to say the fish nay, with the usual result.

"I've been and done that d—d trick a dozen times, and it is about time I was quitting it. You can't hold 'em a bloody bit on that stuff; and the sooner a fellow gets all his strong-arm notions out of his noodle, the quicker he will begin getting his hands on one of those pigs occasionally with this three-four-five junk," says Shaver.

This particularly husky albacore was estimated to weigh thirty pounds at least, and would have broken the size record. Shaver further avers that he does not often get bumfusticated, but the long-finned tuna got his goat this time.

The trip was noteworthy in several regards. First, Cramer hooked onto a pig which he trimmed in three minutes by the clock, and "copped" the time record by a mile over Johnny Low's five minutes to a fourteen-pounder, as Cramer's fish weighed eighteen pounds. The quick time was only to be explained by the fish swallowing the bait and being mortally wounded by the hook, as he had several hemorrhages coming up, and quit like a spanked spaniel as soon as sent for.

Shaver had on the "big one that got away" an hour and three minutes and twice got him up to the boat. Dan O'Connor had one on for twenty-five minutes, which surfaced all the time and never sounded once, thus establishing an entirely novel precedent for an albacore. The identity of the fish would have been doubted, and the boys would have set it down for a dolphin if they had not repeatedly seen it within a few feet. It was an albacore of fair size. So fast did it run that Shaver had to keep after it with the boat, and it took line at that. Probably Dan would have been on the job yet if his reel had not fallen off; while they were frantically adjusting it again, piggy went through the propeller arch after the festive manner of his kind, and did things to Dan's line.

Shaver is the official docster for the three-four-five class, and time is of the essence of proficiency grading in this branch of the game. Sunday he whipped a nineteen-pounder in eleven minutes and a fourteen-pounder in twelve minutes. Cramer beside his freak catch, landed a seventeen-pounder in twenty-three minutes, and O'Connor got his first one on the light stuff, a ten-pounder, after twenty-seven minutes' fight. O'Connor lost two; the others one each.

The secret of success in this marine pig-sticking diversion which Shaver and his three-four-five friends are striving so hard to popularize, is fresh bait. Every Saturday afternoon Shaver "frisks" the Japs for their remaining bait, rewarding them with the albacore he catches thereon, or bottled goods, to which the yellow peril take with an aptitude not demonstrated in some other lines of gastronomic research —witness the house boy who cooks his own grub in his attic bedroom.

Just what the Jap Shaver touched Saturday afternoon for fourteen pelt thought about it when he found half a dozen albacore in his bait box in his return would be worth knowing; perhaps he thought the smelts had been used about and grown in the process after the fashion of fish.

NEW CHAMPIONS DEVELOPING.

for she had been showing very good form recently and in her game with May Sutton at the San Gabriel Country Club a short time back she was playing excellently.

Marjorie Tufts plays a good consistent game and has laid the foundations for a first-class player. All the principles of her game are correct, she volleys well and comes up to the net in good style. She won the first set 6-4 and was cheered by a very friendly audience. In the second set Miss Toedt improved remarkably and won four love games. Miss Tufts's final winning of this set with 6-4 was therefore a matter for enthusiastic congratulation and she was not disappointed.

Marjorie Tufts was looking very dainty and charming in white and pale blue ribbons; Miss Toedt was favoring dark green as her touch of color.

In the match between Miss Jessie Greer and Miss Anna Dillon, the latter won, with the score of 6-2, 6-4. Miss Dillon is a seasoned player of known ability and there was little doubt of the outcome. But Miss Greer, who is a pretty, graceful little girl played a very good game and has shown that she is capable of much better things with practice. She is lissom and easy and her forehand chop style of service is very boyish. She is, however, weak in her back hand stroke and many of her failures came from this cause.

The match between Miss Fanny Rowan and Miss Euretta Gilbert had to be abandoned on account of Miss Rowan spraining her ankle. This member has proved troublesome before, and has been sprained on two previous occasions. Miss Dillon therefore won by default and will play Miss Elizabeth Storrow today.

Another match of interest was that between young Marshall Ketchum and Morrow. The former had done so well at the Venice tournaments that a great deal was expected of him. He succeeded in maintaining his reputation, beating Morrow by 6-4 and 6-2.

The scores follow:

should judge—appears to have him beaten. At any rate it will be interesting to see these two paired in a match, if only to see the ball driven out of sight.

While playing in a foursome the other day, Callender drove twenty yards past the bunker called the breakers, and to the east of it, over rough ground and uphill a distance approximated at over 300 yards. The hole is 375 yards long and there was left only a few yards approach to the green.

As soon as he becomes used to the hard ground and sand greens he will undoubtedly set a lively pace for the best players of the club, for he knows the game and only needs practice.

EMPEROR'S METEOR WINS YACHT RACE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COWES, July 31.—Emperor William's Meteor took the big class race today, beating the Water Witch, the White Heather and the Germania in the order named.

Special interest attached to this race because it was the first appearance of the English boat Water Witch, especially built by Cecil Whitaker with a view to securing satisfaction for the series of defeats inflicted on the Britisher last year by the American schooner Westward, owned by A. S. Cochrane of New York. The White Heather is British and the Germania is owned by Lieut. Krupp Von Bohlenundhalbiack.

The German yacht Sophie Elizabeth, owned by Leopold O. H. Bierman of Bremen, won the commodore's inter-challenge cup, valued at $1250 and open to fifteen footers. King Alfonso's Hispania was second. The Spanish monarch was on board the yacht during the race.

cause for rejoicing when as Charles Frederic Nirdlinger's adaptation of Echegaray's poetic drama, known in English as "The World and His Wife," is given over to production in stock.

And the cause for rejoicing is even greater when such an all-round capable company as that at the Belasco Theater comes into possession of them. That is exactly what has happened this week.

Nirdlinger's adaptation is wonderfully good. He has kept, in strong and simple prose diction, all the beauty and significance of the play, giving to English and American audiences one of the finest and strongest dramas of last year's output. Its continued success and its long and uninterrupted run in New York prove that we are a much more serious-minded people than we are generally given credit for, and that when a real work in dramaturgic art is offered us we do not always turn away from it in favor of the light and the frivolous.

The simple plot of "The World and His Wife" has already been given at some length in these columns. I need only add that structurally the play is almost perfect, and that its progress is quiet but intense, and that its great climax, at the very end of the last act, is inevitable and volcanic. Indeed, the third act is one of the finest ever seen in a modern play.

All the actors are well placed. Donald Bowles, new to the Belasco, shows his excellent credentials in his forceful work in Don Ernesto, the young idealist who unwittingly brings such havoc into the lives of those dearest to him. His enunciation is perfect (even though he mispronounces Paolo.) Every syllable can be heard, and this eminently desirable thing seems to be gotten without any conscious effort. He has a keen sense for correct and effective dramatic pose. He is a good actor, with a slight tendency (which I hope he will correct, to an oratorical delivery.

Lewis Stone is always the capable man at the helm, but in all his career, I honestly believe, he has done nothing more absolutely convincing than the Don Julian of this modern "Othello." Julian's denunciation of his wife and her supposed lover in the last act, just before he dies from the wound he received in a duel, is perhaps the most tremendously big and complete thing he has ever done. It hardly falls short of being great acting, it seems to me. All through this characterization, indeed, Stone is at his very best—and this, as the world and his wife knows, is not faint praise.

Miss Magrane is a tender and appealing Teodora. When she closes her eyes, in weariness of soul and spirit, and is led away, half fainting, by Ernesto, I marveled at her resemblance to the Francesca of Watts's famous painting. She had caught (unconsciously, no doubt) the very expression of that pale and pathetic profile.

Vivian is a delightful Capt. Beaulieu. Ruggles is himself again in Pepito. Harrison and Miss Sullivan are convincing as Don Severo and Donna Mercedes.

The Orpheum has come back home, after a vacation which has lasted almost ever since it went into its new home.

This week the bill is typical of enjoyable variety. There are all sorts of acts for all sorts of people, not all of them superfine, but not one that is really undergrade.

I believe Al Joison is the proof of the programme. Joison was here a few months ago. Remember, he was the Pittsburg pronouncing phenomenon. Well, Pittsburg still remains in his repertoire, but it has been largely diversified. You couldn't describe Al Joison any more than you could describe the taste of an uncured olive, but his rapidity, force, diversity, spontaneous sense of humor and real ability for telling funny stories still holds him up among the princes of monologuedom.

Then we have "The Photo Shop," a sort of Follies thing, big as a musical comedy, fast as a Cohan show, as devoid of reason as a problem play, having no plot at all, and chuck full of girl—which is all that could be desired. Although it is midsummer, the costumes of these young ladies do not strike the observer as being oppressively warm, another commendable affair. Mamie Fleming, a comedienne of considerable subtlety, and Charles J. Stine, a bull-con artist of class, are responsible for the intelligible part of the affair.

Gene Green, a simple singer of songs, mostly of his own invention, is a model of the rapid patter dialectic. On his last song yesterday Mr. Green leaned over the piano impassionedly, his chin dripping a stream into the bed of wires the while. It's a cinch the piano was ruined.

The Marcel and Boris trio, man and two boys, offer skill and strength in a commendably brief guise.

Lyddell and Butterworth, singers and dancers, open the show, and are really much better than last week.

Homer B. Mason and Marguerite Keeler seem to have "In and Out" going at a better gait, and in consequence it is much more nearly a good sketch.

The Three Vagrants, Italian street musicians, score heavily this week, as they did last.

Rousby's "Scenic Mystery" a flash affair if we take it as the high-priced one the programme implies, is considerable than last week, probably because it is better worked from a dance together late Saturday night. He admitted he did not stop to ask questions, but promptly walked into Smieder.

Both men were arrested and gave $20 bail each for their appearance in the Police Court yesterday. Memsic alone appeared, and the other's bail was declared forfeited.

"I admit there might have been cause for anger," Police Judge Frederickson said, "but you must not let your fists run away with your head. You did something like this before, didn't you?"

"No," Memsic answered.

Then Justice Frederickson recalled an incident when Memsic and Wolgast were said to have come to blows.

"But that was in the ring," the fighter said.

"Yes, I know it was in the ring, but what was the cause?"

"What's the fine, Judge?"

"Fifteen dollars."

COME AGAIN.
JAIL READY FOR HIM.

The police wish that the seat reserved for women and children in Central Park would prove as attractive now to John Golden as it did Sunday night, for they are now armed with a warrant for his arrest, but can't find him.

Golden was found occupying the seat Sunday night by Park Officers Dyson and Miller. He was shown the sign limiting the use of the seat to the frailer sex, but he didn't care.

"Oh, I am not bound by any such crazy law as that," he said.

We didn't make the law," the officers told him, "but it is a strong law just the same. You will have to vacate the seat so these women can sit down."

"I won't," said Golden.

The officers didn't reply. One of them took him by the shoulders, and the other by the ankles and sent him on his way.

When the officers turned in their reports they were instructed to arrest Golden. A complaint was secured in the city prosecutor's office and filed in Police Judge Rose's court, but by that time Golden had flitted away.

MUSIC FAILS.
NO CHARMS FOR POLICE.

Despite its charms, music failed to keep L. Guilermo out of the County Jail yesterday following his examination in Police Court on a charge of burglary.

Guilermo, according to the police, became enamoured of a phonograph early one morning about a week ago and decided he must possess the instrument at all hazards.

He was walking on North Main street when the uncontrollable desire seized him. The nearest one was in the window of a near-by store. Taking a large rock in his hand, the police say he broke the plate-glass window and then leisurely walked across the street to await developments.

No officer put in appearance within the few minutes following the breaking of the window so, believing the coast was clear, Guilermo is said to have returned to the broken window, lifted the music machine through the aperture and walked hurriedly away. He was overtaken by an officer and arrested.

LUMBERMEN TO FIGHT.
TEST DISTRICT ORDINANCE.

As a result of the filing of complaints against several lumber companies and their officials, charging violations of the city ordinance prohibiting the maintaining of lumber yards in certain sections of the city, a test of the ordinance in its application to certain sections of Hollywood and Colegrove will be made. W. F. Montgomery of the Hollywood Lumber Company appeared in Police Court before Judge Rose yesterday and asked immediate arraignment so that he could apply for a writ of habeas corpus and test the ordinance.

J. F. Mullin, a partner of Montgomery, and George F. Guy and J. F. Boyer of the Cahuenga Lumber Company also appeared in court. Pending the test of the ordinance the cases were postponed until September 18.

ANTI-FAMILY CONFESSION.

Defendant in United States District Court Admits He Advertised Certain Preparation.

C. C. Hull admitted in the United States District Court before Judge Wellborn yesterday that he had advertised a certain preparation which was designed for sale to those who did not care to raise families. There were mitigating circumstances and Assistant United States Dist.-Atty. Stewart did not insist on a jail sentence. Hull was compelled to pay a $50 fine.

E. C. Redmond was arraigned on a charge of having promoted a fraudulent land scheme by using the mails. He declared that he was not guilty. He is said to have enlarged upon the merits of property near Lancaster, with the intent to get good money for poor land.

W. L. Cowie was before the court on a charge of having forged the name of Mrs. Charles H. Frazier to a money order. He pleaded not guilty and said that he was authorized to make the signature. His bail was reduced from $1500 to $1000, which his attorney said he could furnish.

SHOWS CITY GROWS.

Enlarged Size of "Sunset" New Telephone Directory Credited as Proof of Greater Los Angeles.

New telephone directories are being delivered by the Pacific (Sunset) company. The issue comprises the regular mid-summer edition and delivery is expected to be completed this week.

Almost 70,000 copies have been printed, one of which will be furnished to every telephone user in Los Angeles city and county. Several thousand copies will also be distributed throughout Southern California, also to northern points, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, and Spokane.

The new book consists of 340 pages, an increase of forty-eight pages as compared with the last book. This is credited as substantial proof of the growth of the city. The weight of the directories now being delivered totals 100,000 pounds, and if all books were placed end on end they would extend from Los Angeles to Ocean Park.

The company has issued a request that subscribers who may accidentally be missed in delivery notify the "Directory Department," Main 6, of the fact.

Harbor Prize in Coming Legal Battle.

Diagram showing the Miner concession, now property of the Outer Harbor Dock and Storage Company, which the city will seek to gain possession of by disputing the old San Pedro franchise, and its strategic position in the outer bay of this city's port.

HARBOR BATTLE.

It is just the kind of an improvement that the harbor officials of the city would like to have as well advanced and this is perhaps the reason why the litigation is deemed advisable. But there are other considerations which enter into litigation. The most important one is compensation. If the city wins it must pay for this work. If it wins it must take the area subject to the validity of franchise grants made by the San Pedro trustees a month before the election that wiped them out of official existence. The point with members of the Council is whether, if the city wins and gets this area, it will not find it already entangled in other franchise rights and contracts with sub-concessionaires so that it will not be free to do as it pleases. Those things have all been considered by the legal advisers and, while they do not make explanations, they say the city's course seems without obstruction if title to the area is established.

It is agreed that the litigation will furnish a basis for negotiations for the acquisition of the area and improvements. But the cost will be a matter that will be thoroughly investigated before any consummation is proposed. Members of the Council say they will be careful not to take over something that will cost too much or that cannot be freely used. If the Outer Harbor dock officials have their way the city will never establish its title.

One feature of the litigation is not optimistic. If the company raises the question of compensation for work to be done and the city declines to commit itself all work must stop, unless the company braves an adverse decision by the courts and continues. To stop work during the process of the law means a delay of perhaps years—a delay that is regarded by all as a big penalty to pay in these days of rapid preparation for world commerce.

VENICE.

VENICE, July 31.—G. G. Watt who has served this city as Clerk for a number of years resigned tonight, and his resignation was immediately accepted by the board, and Charles Thatcher was elected to fill the vacancy.

SOUTHLAND WILL GET IT.

Former Resident of Panama Says This Part of State Will Be Most Benefited by Canal Trade.

Dr. A. S. Cooper, who has spent the last fifteen years in Panama and who is planning to make Los Angeles his home, arrived at the Hotel Hollywood yesterday.

Dr. Cooper was in close touch with the United States officials in the Canal Zone and says that the people of the United States have no idea of the terrific pace with which the work is being completed.

"When it is known that it will take a train of freight cars thirty-five miles long to move away the dirt taken out of the big ditch each day some idea of the work is grasped," he said. "There are 35,000 men employed by the United States authorities and each day 40,000 pounds of dynamite are exploded in the big Culebra Cut. The men and officers are working with the greatest harmony and their one idea seems to complete the great job ahead of time and I believe that the next two years will see ocean steamers passing from Panama to Colon through the Canal.

"The steamship companies on both sides of the isthmus are already at work on the construction of great docks from which ocean-going vessels will sail for points on the Pacific Coast. The general feeling among Panamanians is that the Pacific Coast in general, and California in particular, will be the greatest gainer by the trade that will flow through the canal."

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

It has stood the test of 57 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend Gouraud's Cream" as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." How much a good piano costs depends altogether on where you buy it.

We sell a well known piano with ivory keys, genuine mahogany or oak veneers—fully guaranteed on terms as low as $10.00 down and $6.00 per month, at $225.00.

You can buy the well known Wellington for $275.00, a Ludwig, new styles, for $350.00 and up, etc.

Glance at the margin of this ad and you will see the aristocrats of the piano and player families.

Most of them are leaders with ordinary houses, but you can buy them here at the lowest price quoted in any city by the certain dealer in that city fortunate enough to have the agency.

For 35 years we have been buying and selling pianos and on a basis that has made friends and expanded our sales every year.

If you want the best investigate the Mason & Hamlin piano. It costs more in some styles, but it pays good interest on the investment.

A New Fashion Hint for Men.

Spanish Linen Suit.

accompanying picture shows Warren E. Smith and his Spanish linen suit, which he has designed for hot weather. Mr. Smith comes from New Orleans and has made a study of garbs for torrid climes. He advocates Spanish linen and says it is the best fabric for hot weather. The product comes from Barcelona and can be made in every shade.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: If at any time you are too weary to take the regular physical culture exercises at night, do not dispense with them wholly, but take them while lying in your bed. Stretch each limb to its limit, reach your arms as far as possible over your head, roll your head from side to side—even stretch your toes and fingers, as when indulging in a luxurious yawn. These exercises will rest and relax the muscles of the entire body and very likely bring to you refreshing sleep.

ave a Mecca! Some place to which wish to hasten, at the first possible hour; some place about which dream, while at your work. It matters little where or what this e may be, just so it calls to you stently. Possibly it may be only suburban lot which you are trying beautify with a view to future idence; or maybe a barren acre, at far end of a car line, where you trying to make the desert soil bloom with water to form the blossoming of the rose; or it may be a le farm which you are laboriously ing a little at a time from week week, with dreams of greater things come interwoven with your desired achievement; or perhaps it is y a sand bank of a spot at the ach, around which you are planting atever you believe will best grow the salty air. It may even be your n back yard in town, which you ve planned to make beautiful, with ur own handiwork and which takes the daylight from Saturday at ning hour, to Monday at the leavg of the last possible car for down wn. Or maybe you have a little p somewhere about the place of r residence, where you indulge r whim for making furniture or forging pretty or useful articles in tal. If you are a business woman, ur mecca may be one of a dozen teresting crafts. Whatever it is, let be something which immediately d definitely claims the mind's tention, and precludes the ought of the usual afe, for as long a time as you can from business or daily occupan, and which will make you wish at the "play time" of the Mecca ce, could be far longer. Unless u have some such Mecca of place ccupation, it is likely that all r holiday will be wasted in wonring what you shall do for a diver, or in making futile attempts to ay your body.

ew Wallets.

Something new on the market is the hilippine embroidery which is sent er from the United States possesons, to the New York market in the ece, and is there made up to order r a certain Los Angeles firm. The solid embroidery done by the hilippine natives is extremely true finish and line, and the stilette ork is very accurate. Many women ho feel like patronizing home indus-ies, whenever it is possible, have ade it a point to investigate these mbroideries and are buying them in reference to those made in French nvents. As an embellishment of andome lingerie blouses this emroidery is especially appropriate. I ee some exquisite examples in the roadway house which makes a pecialty of this line and was informed that it was next to impossible o produce the waists fast enough to ll the orders.

Miniature Motordrome.

In one of the big Broadway estabishments which makes a specialty of automobile supplies, there is on exhibition a miniature motordrome. Not only is the structure itself shown, but there are tiny autos making their speedy way 'round and 'round, until it fairly makes your head swim to watch them. Electricity is undoubtedly the motive power of these little cars, and they go like lightning." This motordromette is the center of an exhibit of supplies for cars, which makes a fine showing in the window.

Men's Gloves.

In a furnishing and clothing store for men, I saw an assortment of silk gloves in all wanted shades and colors and the price was less than half, and, in some instances, one-third the usual one. I suppose few men go "bargain hunting" as do women, but when they find a real bargain, they are, I think, more pleased than are the bargain-hunting sex. Of course, men may go and spend the money thus saved to buy a better cigar than usual, instead of putting the quarter or half-dollar into the savings bank; but as long as the money saved makes them happy, I suppose it answers the same purpose as with us

Shirts a Third Off.

No, this is not a bathing item. I mean a third off the price. This is not on next winter's styles, either, nor on last fall's styles, as is so often the case; but it is on the styles for this very summer. Men's fancy shirts in percales, madras and all the best and most popular summer fabrics are referred to in this special sale.

Fine Handkerchiefs for Less.

The daintiest handkerchiefs for men were seen at one of the mens' furnishing establishments on Spring street. They were in a fine quality of linen and at the corners were medallions in delicate shades of blue, green, pink and lavender, and in each medallion, with its embroidered wreath, was an initial. These pretty handkerchiefs, so popular to use in the breast pocket of the summer suit, were on sale at a special price.

Summer Sweetness.

One of the local houses which makes a specialty of fine toilet preparations has just completed an extract which is particularly refreshing and delightful for summer use. Somehow there is nothing so delightful as a delicate odor, when the weather is warm. It satisfies more than the sense of smell, giving a genuine stimulus to the nerves as well. Anything of this kind which is sensible yet undefined—if I may so express it—is most charming. A hint of flowers somewhere concealed, and yet always not to the senses what kin of flower exhale the delicious frarrance.

A Novel Hat Decoration.

A girl was in a hat shop with paint brushes, decorated under the brim of her broad shade hat with painted flowers in a most charming way. There were loose petaled roses in a soft shade of pink, and green leaves curled slightly at the edges, as though they had been blown in the summer wind, and, there were some big fine bunches of white feathery flowers as a filling-in between the roses and leaves. Altogether the effect was cool, airy and pretty and quite novel, I thought. It was becoming, too—the pink of the roses reflecting delicately upon the white, girlish cheek.

Summer Curtains.

A lady who always has a different idea showed me the curtains which she has made for her little cottage home in the mountains. She bought ordinary cream colored cheesecloth and then instead of stenciling, she placed them in water and while the cloth was still wet, wrung them out with the hands, giving them a long wide twist, which makes a heavier crinkle than can be found in the already crinkled crepe which you buy. The effect was most decorative and artistic.

Fall's Foreshadowing.

As a hint of what may be expected in the way of fall millinery, a most striking hat recently seen among advance importations was one having the brim of a Gainsborough and the tall peak of the Alpine. The brim was faced with several thicknesses of tulle and the tall crown was of black velvet, while a single straight ostrich plume was posed upright at one side of the back.

White or champagne is the latest Parisian craze in millinery and it is predicted that they will remain in favor until far into the fall and possibly throughout the winter season.

Very pleasing is the mid-season penchant for all-white—all-white hats, parasols, bags and frocks. But always colored sashes.

Wide lace collars worn on coats and dresses are bordered with soutache worked in a pattern which gives weight to the edges.

All or nearly all of the late summer gowns are showing the high waist line, and the skirts, if not really tunic, are tunic in effect.

Quite wonderful are new colored silk handkerchiefs from Paris—lavender, blue, even purple—to match summer costumes.

Most polo coats for young women are white—but suddenly has arisen a demand for the blue, especially for steamer wear.

In skirts the popularity of the panel back and front still holds. The newest skirts have pleats inset at the sides to give the desired fullness.

CLUB PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR.

The Highland Park Ebell Club has been busy planning its work for next year. Mrs. S. Y. Van Meter will have charge of the books and conversation section, assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Kirby. The music section will be in charge of Mrs. Trimball, and Mrs. John Adams will look after the department of art and travel. Mrs. Adams is the wife of Prof. Adams of the department of physics at Occidental College and she has enjoyed several trips abroad so she is eminently fitted to take charge of this section. She will be assisted by Mrs. Butterfield.

PUNISHMENT; NO CRIME.

Partner in Deal Accuses Man of Theft and Beats Him—Arrest Follows and Everybody Exonerated.

Upon a showing that no crime had been committed, Justice Young yesterday dismissed the charge of grand larceny preferred against Victor Hemus by D. A. Ross, who charged him with attempting to steal an automobile.

The testimony showed that Hemus and E. B. Durkee, a deputy constable from Vernon, agreed to split a commission for selling the machine. Hemus took it to Watts for a demonstration, he says, but had a blow-out and came back to Vernon for a new tire. He was accused by Durkee of larceny and beaten severely, after which he was put into jail all night.

Justice Cassidy fined Durkee $50 for battery at Watts, and then Ross swore out the larceny complaint. Hemus weighs 112 pounds, while Durkee tips the beam at more than 200. Hemus's face was swollen almost beyond recognition after the beating.

A. W. Ballard, president of the Phoenix Automobile Club, arrived at the Hollywood yesterday and joined his wife and daughter, who have been guests at the hotel for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brophy and Frank Brophy of Bisbee, who have been at Lake Tahoe the past month, registered at the Hollywood yesterday. They made the trip from Lake Tahoe in their automobile.

THE FEMININE SARTORIAL DEBACLE.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

"Mon Dieu! Sacre Coeur! Parbleu! Oddsfish" as Charles II would have said. What on earth is the matter with the women?

A year ago Paris inaugurated the "little girl" fashions and decreed that the skirt should be short, the hats simple, etc., but even Paris would be appalled at the ridiculous extremes that her edict has brought forth. The only place where Paris fashions are not slavishly followed is Paris. You don't catch a French woman making herself ridiculous unless she is paid to do so, as in the case of the mannequins who parade at the Grand Prix and in the Bois in order to set the fashions for the rest of the world.

Your home-grown Parisienne looks the fashions over critically and adapts them to her own particular charms, whereas her pathetic English and American sisters vainly try to adapt their own particular charms to the fashions, with terrifying results.

Yesterday I met a highly respectable dame, member of a fashionable woman's club, mother of three blameless babes, wife of a substantial man of affairs, a social leader and a virtuous churchgoer. She was attired in a hopelessly inadequate skirt which barely reached below her knees, a bodice that exposed a vast expanse of bony neck and chest (lots of chest;) sleeves that left off as soon as they began, and a baby poke bonnet, which coyly revealed some "pitty ickle" ringlets.

Oh, Paris has decreed it.
What are we going to do?
Ma's let up her skirt and let down her hair
A flapper of forty-two.

It is a perfectly ghastly state of affairs. It isn't even decent. The whole raison d'etre of the present fashions appears to be to disclose as much as possible. No longer does my sex believe in the charm of mystery and the draped Venus is hopelessly demode. All the worst features of the Madame Recamier fashions have been revived—and alas, without Madame Recamier's seductive charm to excuse them.

If the age of chivalry has passed can one wonder? Oh, can't you picture a splendid scene in a modern melodrama in which the dying hero conjures up visions of his sweet, gentle, dignified mother—a mother in an ultra-short hobble skirt, and pitifully exposing those spiky relics of all those endearing young charms that once were but certainly are not now. They are a great problem for their children—these modern mothers.

It is so few women that are beautiful all over; so very, very few. But in the dear dead past women realized this and dressed accordingly. Those with a plump, well-rounded neck allowed a hint of the fact to be apparent; those with soft, white, well-molded arms likewise adopted the half-revealing sleeve; those with dainty feet patronized a shortish skirt. And so also were they resignedly conscious of their deficiencies. She of the large flat foot, the skinny neck, or the spiky elbow took advantage of the kindly draperies with which the merchants' skill had lavishly provided her.

But not so today. Either woman is so overwhelmingly self-satisfied that she thinks all of her will bear showing, or else she is suffering from an advanced stage of myopia, which is aggravated to positive blindness when confronted with her mirror.

Like Katisha, she says, although her face may not be beautiful she has an exquisite shoulder blade, and she insists upon backing her opinion with painfully acute evidence. She will certainly be taking to sandals presently in order that she may show her corns. They are probably just as beautiful.

The modern girl, of course, is having the time of her life. She has youth—and almost all youth can bear exposure. Even if it is not beautiful it is all right if it is young. But it is these poor, ridiculous, attitude little girls that are so pitiful. These skittish young mothers of fifty, these frivolous little aunts of forty-eight, these grotesque travesties of womanhood in the year before last's vaudeville costumes.

And what is going to be the end of it all?

Oh, my sisters, while there is yet time, withdraw your private possessions from the ribald view, swathe your persons in soft draperies, return to the fichu and, if necessary the crinoline. But at all costs preserve the charm of mystery and snatch back the poor remnant of womanly dignity before it finally escapes your weakening grip. The world may forget this dreadful aberration, your children may live to honor you yet!

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

After all, the average man is a woeful coward when it comes to womankind. You wouldn't think it—now would you—that the Chief of Police of this great and wicked city of the Angels hadn't the courage to appear before a woman's club only when he was escorted there by the Mayor, who lent moral support to his shaking nerves?

It is nevertheless a fact. Chief Sebastian admitted it yesterday when he stood before the Women's City Club and the Mayor, in turn, confessed that he himself wouldn't have had the courage to come, but he was arrested and brought there by the Chief of Police. In other words—each one brought the other.

Another class of men who are supposed to have considerable courage—and heaven knows they need it—is the newspaper men. The club had invited the managing editors of all the city dailies to also be their guests—but only three showed up and two of them were substitutes, drawn from the editorial staff. One of the three absolutely refused to make a speech while the other two confessed that they were scared to death.

One editor sent word that he had to go to San Diego and had, therefore, sent a substitute in the person of one of the editorial writers, and when this representative arose to make the speech that his chief should have made, he had sweet revenge by remarking that the fearless policy of his paper was, and had always been, "Tell the truth, though the heavens fall," and he, therefore, felt impelled to say that his chief had not gone to San Diego, or if he had, he certainly had no business there. [Duke.]

The mere announcement of all this array of talent served to bring the club members out in full force. Notwithstanding the heat, every seat was occupied, and heads were craned, and speculation was rife as to the identity of the row of handsome men at the head of the center table.

"Which is the Chief of Police?" whispered a tall woman from Highland Park. "Not that little, young fellow on the president' right? Oh, no, you must be mistaken. It's that big, fat six-footer at the end of the row. He's sort of protecting the newspaper men you see."

Mercy, you don't mean to say that he has muscle enough to head our police department, I hope."

Finally the buzz of conversation was silenced by the fall of the gavel and the president, after explaining that even the most timid and wildest men are invariably hypnotized or tained by the highly etherialized feminine atmosphere which pervades the Women's City Club, proceeded to introduce them in turn. Mayor Alexander led off with a few remarks and then passed it up to Chief Sebastian who had reduced to manuscript form what he had to say, and truth compels me to remark that the pages shook some as he arose and faced the great audience of women, and I'm willing to wager that he'd rather, just at that minute, have been face to face with the worst gang of desperadoes in Los Angeles. It would have been harder on his muscle but infinitely easier on his nerves.

Chief Sebastian was shrewd enough to put himself in high favor early in his address by declaring himself for suffrage. While this club claims to be non-partisan, it is unquestionably strong for suffrage, and although no debate on the subject is permitted, it is noticeable that whenever a chance reference favoring suffrage is made, it invariably invokes a round of prolonged applause. However, it's not always safe to jump at conclusions or infer that past experience sets the precedence for the future. A notable illustration of this was furnished yesterday. After Chief Sebastian's address, the president, Mrs. Lobingier, remarked that whereas the club is strictly non-partisan, and that none of the speakers are ever coached or advised before hand as to their politics, it was a little singular that thus far nearly every speaker who referred to the matter had favored suffrage.

Now after this, it did seem almost cruel that the next two speakers, representing the press, both declared themselves anti-suffragists. All of which goes to prove that it isn't safe to judge the future by the past.

But these of the daily papers were represented—The Times, the Herald and the Examiner. John S. McGroarty, represented The Times and in his frank and fearless way set forth the power of the press, calling attention to the fact that the agency which blotted out the redlight district high Chief of Police Sebastian had referred to, was The Times, and [illegible] applause affirmed his statement. He touched upon t struggle now on concerning and stated to the women the o loned ideas that The Times concerning women and their the world; that it is the f every woman, from highest t that it believes in the chi womanhood that exempts h the rougher and coarser wor field of politics. He referred large part that women have h the paper itself, and made reference to the work of the and revered woman, the la Eliza A. Otis, whose pen co for so many years to The Ti ringing words he expressed and loyalty for "the biggest newspapers in the world."

Otheman Stevenes spoke Examiner and pleased the a mightily when he said that per was unquestionably on th And then—he begged permi declare that his own personal were quite the contrary as he favor suffrage—and the women sorry.

Mr. Webb of the Herald exceedingly and spoke brie Sam Clovers of the Graphic e the symposium and the ge knights of the pen, the guest club were released.

Mrs. Lobingier announced first vice-president, Mrs. O. will act as president during the programmes will be less strenuous. Mrs. Clark is turning from Alaska and Mrs. Lobingier will take her vacation August.

Grain Movement in Chicago Continues Unusually Heavy and Conservatism Becomes the Keynote of the New York Stock Market. Trend of Prices Is Upward.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—Conservatism seems to be the keynote of the stock market at present. Securities held firm on exceedingly light trade, the trend during the greater part of the session being distinctly upward. The movement was most pronounced in the specialties, such issues as Bethlehem Steel common and preferred being most conspicuous with gains of 1 7-8 and 1 5-8, respectively. The speculative leaders gained fractionally for the most part, although advances of a point or more were recorded by Canadian Pacific, Illinois Central, Rock Island preferred, Chicago and Northwestern and Great Northern. United States Steel was consistently strong, despite the resumption tomorrow of hearings by the congressional committee. Developments included the publication of the Standard Oil circular to its stockholders announcing the intention of the company to comply with the mandate of the United States Supreme Court which ordered the dissolution of that corporation. Standard Oil shares sold at 655 on the curb today, compared with 650 last Saturday. The protective committee organized to conserve the interests of the tobacco company bonds and preferred shareholders issued plans of agreement asking for power to formulate plans of reorganization. Advices from the Middle West and other important railroad centers are to the effect that trade revival is looked for in them all. The grain movement continues unusually heavy, receipts at Chicago last week being almost 2,000,000 bushels over the same week last year. The bond market was irregular. Business showing marked heaviness total sales par value $4,650,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

New York Curb Stocks

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 111 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—The curb market was dull, with no particular change in prices until late in the day, when prices became a little irregular, inspiration losing 1¼. Two thousand Braden sold at 4. The silver stocks were better, Hollinger sold up to 2¾. The market closed quiet.

The only news of importance in the Boston market was the granting of an injunction at Lansing, Mich., to the minority stockholders of Osceola, preventing the merger with Calumet and Hecla. Copper stocks were fractionally higher, but there was very little trading. Copper exports are large this month and the producers' statement should show a further decrease.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The market made new levels at the opening today, due to a sharp decline in the English market. Following this, the undertone was much better. The July option went out at 14.50 on a spurt of short covering at the last moment, after having sold at 12.96. August advanced from 11.65 to 11.95 in strength and on buying by brokers said to represent one of the last season's bulls, who is said to own the majority of the local stock of spot cotton. Another broker identified with the Texas bull bought largely of new crops, taking about 40,000 bales out of the ring. Spot merchants also bought liberally of new crops, and it was said that spinners' orders were again in the market around this level and on the scale down. Crop reports, while on the whole favorable, are not so good, and complaints of damage are coming in from too much rain in the eastern belt, insect damage and prospects for excessive temperatures before the end of the week, in the southwest. Under the circumstances it would seem only the better part of judgment to cover short and go over the government report next Wednesday with a clean sheet.

"Another disappointing Liverpool which, with a continuance of favorable weather, forced our market to range lower during the day but rallied a few points from the low, closing steady. There is some complaint of too much rain and rank growth in some sections which should be watched closely, as any change for the worse would be followed by a sharp reaction after such a severe decline and an over extended short interest. However we would not buy, but would take advantage of strong spots to make sales, believing crop will be large enough to meet all requirements and cause a lower range of values."

Battle Stories of The Civil War.

The War Day by Day Fifty Years Ago

August 1, 1861—A Dramatic Debate on the War Occurred on the Floor of the United States Senate Between an Advocate of the South and a Defender of the Union—A Plea for Peace and Its Answer.

John C. Breckinridge.

IFTY YEARS ago to day there occurred on the floor of the United States Senate a debate een two Senators, one from the h, the other from the far north- , that made probably the most natic event of the Thirty-seventh on of Congress.

e participants were Senators C. Breckinridge of Kentucky Edward D. Baker of Oregon. tor Breckinridge, who, as vice- ident under President Buchanan, represented the extreme southern y, though now professing in all ority to be a Union man, shared prevailing southern attitude on sovereignty and sympathized r with the Congress at Rich- d than that at Washington.

ay after day in the special ses- he had spoken and voted against war measures which the northern were rushing through Congress; times he found four or five Sena- with him, at other times he d alone.

ow on August 1, after more than months of war, when the na- recovering from Bull Run, was ng itself for a three-year's con- Senator Breckinridge made a ples for peace, a last denuncia- of the war. The Constitution hrown; he could see ahead only desolation, disintegration of the ant of the Union.

him replied Senator Baker, a friend of President Lincoln, a an of the Black Hawk and the ican wars, formerly Congressman Illinois, now Senator from Ore- and colonel of a regiment of nteers soon to end his career by in battle at Balls Bluff, leaving present opponent a general in Confederate army.

oint for point he met Senator kinridge's arguments. He ed the black prophecies, de- ced the prophet and declared for him the one word was war d according to the rules of war.

ress Denounced.

e debate occurred in the discus- of the bill "for the suppression surrection and rebellion," which legal authority to martial law at the same time it guarded exercise of arbitrary powers by ary commanders.

e bill had been debated off and or a fortnight, and now once came up for discussion. There a motion to postpone it, in which tor Breckinridge heartily joined, aring that he considered it, "as practically to abolish the State rnment and every vestige we remaining of political and per- liberty."

om this single bill he turned his k on the whole course of the blican party, that of Congress more than of the President, as to constitutional liberty.

desire the country to know the ," he said, "that it is openly ed upon this floor that constitu- al limitations are no longer to egarded, but that you are acting as if there were two nations up- this continent, one arrayed against ther, as to whom the constitu- is naught and the laws of war apply.

et the people, already beginning ause and reflect, get this idea ly lodged in their minds and the e words which we now hear ev- day about crushing, subjugating, on and traitors will not be so ed the next time the representa- s of the people and the States mble beneath the dome of the itol."

Mr. President," he declared, "we on the wrong track; we have from the beginning. The peo- begin to see it. Here we have hurling gallant fellows to death what? It has been to carry principles that three-fourths of abhor. Nothing but ruin, utter- will follow the prosecution of conquest.

s not the gentlemen now per- ntiated tht they have mis- people for a faction? Are ectly satisfied that it is subjugate, to conquer—aye, to exterminate—nearly 10,000,000 of people? Let us pause, and let the Congress of the United States respond to the rising feeling all over this land in favor of peace.

"Let the war go on, and soon in addition to the moans of widows and orphans all over the land, you will hear the cry of distress from those who want food and the comforts of life. The people will be unable to pay the grinding taxes which a fantastical spirit will attempt to impose on them.

"Nay, more, you will see further separation. The Pacific Coast is now doubtless devoted to the Union. Let this war go on till they find the burdens of taxation greater than those of a separate existence, till they see the beautiful features of the old confederacy beaten out of shape and comeliness, and they will turn aside in disgust and become a separate nation.

"Fight twelve months longer and the already opening differences you see between New England and the great northwest will develop themselves. You have two confederacies now. Fight twelve months, and you will have three; twelve months longer and you will have four."

Senator Baker Replies.

While the Kentuckian was speaking, his fellow Senators had listened to him intently, yet scowls or sneers on many faces showed how far they were from agreement or sympathy.

During the speech Senator Baker had entered the chamber, his first appearance there in many days, clad in the full uniform of a colonel of the United States Army. Laying his sword on his desk he sat down, but the views expressed by Senator Breckinridge evidently made him restive. His face was aglow with excitement, and as the other Senator concluded, he sprang to the floor.

First arguing the need of the debated measure to enable the President to carry on the war he went on to attack the position and arguments of Senator Breckinridge.

"The Senator from Kentucky," he said, "stands here in opposition to what he sees is the overwhelming sentiment of the Senate, and utters reproof, malediction and prediction combined.

"I would ask him, what would you have us do now—a Confederate army within twenty miles of us, advancing, or threatening to advance, to overwhelm your government, to shake the pillars of the Union and bring it around your head, if you stay there, in ruins?

"Are we to stop and talk about an uprising sentiment in the North against the war? Are we to predict evil, and retire from what we predict? Is not the manly part to go on as we have begun—to raise money, levy armies, organize them and prepare to advance?

"Can we do anything more? To talk to us about stopping is idle; we will never stop. Will the Senator yield to rebellion? Will he shrink from armed insurrection? Will his State justify it? Will its better opinion allow it? Shall we send a flag of truce? Or would he conduct the war so feebly that the whole world would smile at us in derision?

"What would we have? These speeches of his, sown broadcast over the land—what clear, distinct meaning have they? Are they not intended for disorganization in our very midst? Are they not intended to dull our weapons, to destroy our zeal, to animate our enemies? Are they not words of brilliant, polished treason even in the very Capitol?"

Extraordinary Effect.

As the Oregon Senator paused, the gallery broke out in applause. The words delivered in a superb voice by the man in the soldier's uniform, a fighter on the field as on the Senate floor, produced an extraordinary effect upon all who heard them.

"What would have been thought if in another Capitol, in another republic, a Senator as grave as the Senator from Kentucky, but with the Roman purple flowing over his shoulders, had risen in his place, surrounded by all the illustrations of Roman glory, and declared that advancing Hannibal was just, and that Carthage ought to be dealt with in terms of peace?

"What would have been thought if after the battle of Cannae a Senator there had risen in his place and denounced every levy of the Roman people, every expenditure of its treasury and every appeal to the old recollections and the old glories?"

The Oregon Senator seized the point. "A Senator tells me," he continued, "that he would have been hurled from the Tarpeian rock. It is a grand commentary upon the American Constitution that we permit these words to be uttered.

"I ask the Senator to recollect, too, what, save to send aid and comfort to the enemy, do these predictions of his amount to. Every word thus uttered falls as a note of inspiration upon Confederate ears. Every sound thus uttered is a mighty word of kindling and triumph to a foe that determines to advance.

"For me, I have no such word as Senator to utter. For me, amid temporary defeat, disaster, disgrace, it seems that my duty calls me to utter another word, and that word is bold, sudden, forward, determined war, according to the laws of war, by armies, by military commanders clothed with full power, advancing with all the past glories of the republic urging them on to conquest."

North Must Fight On.

"Sir," said he in conclusion, "it is not a question of men or money. All the money, all the men, are, in our judgment, well bestowed in such a cause. When we give them we know their value. Knowing their value well, we give them with the more pride and the more joy.

"But how could we retreat? How could we make peace? Upon what terms? Where is the boundary line? What shall become of our public liberties? What of past glories? What of future hopes?

"Shall we sink into the insignificance of the grave—a degraded, defeated, emasculated people, frightened by the result of one battle, and scared by the visions raised by the imagination of the Senator from Kentucky upon the floor?

"No, sir! a thousand times no, sir! We will rally the people—the loyal people of the whole country. They will pour forth their treasure, their money, their men, without stint, without measure.

"Shall one battle determine the fate of the empire, or a dozen—the loss of 1000 men or of 500,000, or $100,000,000 or $500,000,000? In a year's peace—in ten years at most, of peaceful progress—we can restore them all.

"There will be some graves reeking with blood, watered by the tears of affection. There will be some privation; there will be some loss of luxury; there will be somewhat more need for labor to secure the necessaries of life. When that is said, all is said.

"If we have the country, the whole country, the Union, the Constitution—free government—with these there will return all the blessings of well-ordered civilization; the path of the country will be a career of greatness and glory, such as, in the olden time, our fathers saw in the dim visions of years yet to come, and such as would have been ours now, today, if it had not been for the treason for which the Senator too often speaks to apologize."

The orator took his seat after this impassioned and lofty appeal amid suppressed but intense excitement, little dreaming that he would soon give himself as a sacrifice for the cause he so eloquently defended.

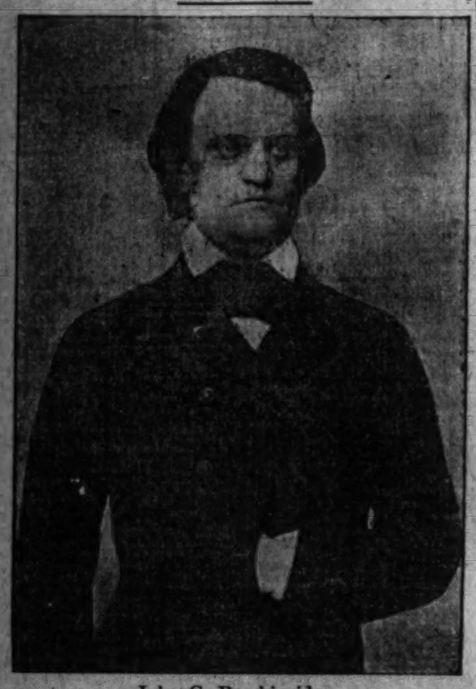
The War Day by Day Fifty Years Ago

ugust 1, 1861—A Dramatic Debate on the War Occurred on the Floor of the United States Senate Between an Advocate of the South and a Defender of the Union—A Plea for Peace and Its Answer.



John C. Breckinridge.

right, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

IFTY YEARS ago to day there occurred on the floor of the United States Senate a debate een two Senators, one from the h, the other from the far north- , that made probably the most natic event of the Thirty-seventh on of Congress.

e participants were Senators C. Breckinridge of Kentucky Edward D. Baker of Oregon. tor Breckinridge, who, as vice- ident under President Buchanan, represented the extreme southern y, though now professing in all ority to be a Union man, shared prevailing southern attitude on sovereignty and sympathized r with the Congress at Rich- d than that at Washington.

ay after day in the special ses- he had spoken and voted against war measures which the northern were rushing through Congress; times he found four or five Sena- with him, at other times he d alone.

w on August 1, after more than months of war, when the na- recovering from Bull Run, was ng itself for a three-year's con- Senator Breckinridge made a pleas for peace, a last denuncia- of the war. The Constitution thrown, he could see ahead only desolation, disintegration of the ant of the Union.

him replied Senator Baker, a friend of President Lincoln, a an of the Black Hawk and the ican wars, formerly Congressman Illinois, now Senator from Ore- and colonel of a regiment of nteers soon to end his career by in battle at Balls Bluff, leaving present opponent a general in Confederate army.

int for point he met Senator kinridge's arguments. He ed the black prophecies, de- ced the prophet and declared for him the one word was war d according to the rules of war.

ress Denounced.

e debate occurred in the discus- of the bill "for the suppression surrection and rebellion," which legal authority to martial law at the same time it guarded exercise of arbitrary powers by ary commanders.

e bill had been debated off and or a fortnight, and now once came up for discussion. There a motion to postpone it, in which tor Breckinridge heartily joined. ring that he considered it, "a practically to abolish the State rnment and every vestige we remaining of political and per- liberty."

om this single bill he turned his on the whole course of the blican party, that of Congress more than of the President, as to constitutional liberty.

desire the country to know the " he said, "that it is openly ed upon this floor that constitu- al limitations are no longer to garded, but that you are acting as if there were two nations up- his continent, one arrayed against other, as to whom the constitu- is naught and the laws of war apply.

et the people, already beginning ause and reflect, get this idea ly lodged in their minds and the se words which we now hear ev- day about crushing, subjugating, on and traitors will not be so ed the next time the represent- s of the people and the States mble beneath the dome of the tol."

e Senator then launched forth itter denunciation of the war y.

Mr. President," he declared, "we on the wrong track; we have from the beginning. The peo- begin to see it. Here we have hurling gallant fellows to death what? It has been to carry principles that three-fourths of abhor. Nothing but ruin, utter will follow the prosecution of conquest.

not the gentlemen now per- ntiated tht they have mis- people for a faction? Are perfectly satisfied that it is subjugate, to conquer—aye, to exterminate—nearly 10,000,000 of people? Let us pause, and let the Congress of the United States respond to the rising feeling all over this land in favor of peace.

"Let the war go on, and soon in addition to the moans of widows and orphans all over the land, you will hear the cry of distress from those who want food and the comforts of life. The people will be unable to pay the grinding taxes which a fantastical spirit will attempt to impose on them.

"Nay, more, you will see further separation. The Pacific Coast is now doubtless devoted to the Union. Let this war go on till they find the burdens of taxation greater than those of a separate existence, till they see the beautiful features of the old confederacy beaten out of shape and comeliness, and they will turn aside in disgust and become a separate nation.

"Fight twelve months longer and the already opening differences you see between New England and the great northwest will develop themselves. You have two confederacies now. Fight twelve months, and you will have three; twelve months longer and you will have four."

Senator Baker Replies.

While the Kentuckian was speaking, his fellow Senators had listened to him intently, yet scowls or sneers on many faces showed how far they were from agreement or sympathy.

During the speech Senator Baker had entered the chamber, his first appearance there in many days, clad in the full uniform of a colonel of the United States Army. Laying his sword on his desk he sat down, but the views expressed by Senator Breckinridge evidently made him restive. His face was aglow with excitement, and as the other Senator concluded, he sprang to the floor.

First arguing the need of the debated measure to enable the President to carry on the war he went on to attack the position and arguments of Senator Breckinridge.

"The Senator from Kentucky," he said, "stands here in opposition to what he sees is the overwhelming sentiment of the Senate, and utters reproof, malediction and prediction combined.

"I would ask him, what would you have us do now—a Confederate army within twenty miles of us, advancing, or threatening to advance, to overwhelm your government, to shake the pillars of the Union and bring it around your head, if you stay there, in ruins?

"Are we to stop and talk about an uprising sentiment in the North against the war? Are we to predict evil, and retire from what we predict? Is not the manly part to go on as we have begun—to raise money, levy armies, organize them and prepare to advance?

"Can we do anything more? To talk to us about stopping is idle; we will never stop. Will the Senator yield to rebellion? Will he shrink from armed insurrection? Will his State justify it? Will its better opinion allow it? Shall we send a flag of truce? Or would he conduct the war so feebly that the whole world would smile at us in derision?

"What would we have? These speeches of his, sown broadcast over the land—what clear, distinct meaning have they? Are they not intended for disorganization in our very midst? Are they not intended to dull our weapons, to destroy our zeal, to animate our enemies? Are they not words of brilliant, polished treason even in the very Capitol?"

Extraordinary Effect.

As the Oregon Senator paused, the gallery broke out in applause. The words delivered in a superb voice by the man in the soldier's uniform, a fighter on the field as on the Senate floor, produced an extraordinary effect upon all who heard them.

"What would have been thought if in another Capitol, in another republic, a Senator as grave as the Senator from Kentucky, but with the Roman purple flowing over his shoulders, had risen in his place, surrounded by all the illustrations of Roman glory, and declared that advancing Hannibal was just, and that Carthage ought to be dealt with in terms of peace?

"What would have been thought if after the battle of Cannae a Senator there had risen in his place and denounced every levy of the Roman people, every expenditure of its treasury and every appeal to the old recollections and the old glories?"

Here old William Pitt Fessenden, the Senator from Maine, muttered grimly, "He would have been hurled from the Tarpeian rock," the punishment given traitors to the old Roman republic.

The Oregon Senator seized the point. "A Senator tells me," he continued, "that he would have been hurled from the Tarpeian rock. It is a grand commentary upon the American Constitution that we permit these words to be uttered.

"I ask the Senator to recollect, too, what, save to send aid and comfort to the enemy, do these predictions of his amount to. Every word thus uttered falls as a note of inspiration upon Confederate ears. Every sound thus uttered is a mighty word of kindling and triumph to a foe that determines to advance.

"For me, I have no such word as Senator to utter. For me, amid temporary defeat, disaster, disgrace, it seems that my duty calls me to utter another word, and that word is bold, sudden, forward, determined war, according to the laws of war, by armies, by military commanders clothed with full power, advancing with all the past glories of the republic urging them on to conquest."

North Must Fight On.

"Sir," said he in conclusion, "it is not a question of men or money. All the money, all the men, are, in our judgment, well bestowed in such a cause. When we give them we know their value. Knowing their value well, we give them with the more pride and the more joy.

"But how could we retreat? How could we make peace? Upon what terms? Where is the boundary line? What shall become of our public liberties? What of past glories? What of future hopes?

"Shall we sink into the insignificance of the grave—a degraded, defeated, emasculated people, frightened by the result of one battle, and scared by the visions raised by the imagination of the Senator from Kentucky upon the floor?

"No, sir! a thousand times no, sir! We will rally the people—the loyal people of the whole country. They will pour forth their treasure, their money, their men, without stint, without measure.

"Shall one battle determine the fate of the empire, or a dozen—the loss of 1000 men or of 500,000, or $100,000,000 or $500,000,000? In a year's peace—in ten years at most, of peaceful progress—we can restore them all.

"There will be some graves reeking with blood, watered by the tears of affection. There will be some privation; there will be some loss of luxury; there will be somewhat more need for labor to secure the necessaries of life. When that is said, all is said.

"If we have the country, the whole country, the Union, the Constitution—free government—with these there will return all the blessings of well-ordered civilization; the path of the country will be a career of greatness and glory, such as, in the olden time, our fathers saw in the dim visions of years yet to come, and such as would have been ours now, today, if it had not been for the treason for which the Senator too often speaks to apologize."

The orator took his seat after this impassioned and lofty appeal amid suppressed but intense excitement, little dreaming that he would soon give himself as a sacrifice for the cause he so eloquently defended.
